AMERICANS DRIVE SPANISH TROOPS BACK AND WILL TAKE SANTIAGO DE CUBA TODAY

Five-Hour Battle, in Which the Spanish Outer Works Are Taken, and at Night the Americans Lie on Their Arms on City's Edge—400 Americans Killed and Wounded.

MAJOR-GENERAL SHAFTER,
Who Commands the American Army Now Before Santiago.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Saturday, 2:00 a. m., July 2.—The war department has received the following dispatch from General Shafter, dated Siboney:

"Had a very heavy engagement today, which lasted from 8 a. m. until sundown. We have carried the outer works and are now in possession of them.

"There is now about three-quarters of a mile of open between my lines and theirs. By morning the troops will be entrenched and considerable augmentation of forces will be there.

"General Lawton's division and General Bates's brigade have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney which was accomplished at 4 p. m.

"Will be in line and in front of Santiago during night.

"I regret to say that our casualties will be about 400. Of these not many killed. SHAFTER."

MAJOR-GENERAL LAWTON,
Who Led the Fifth Corps in Yesterday's Fierce Battle.

WASHINGTON WAITING FOR THE NEWS OF SANTIAGO'S BATTLE

The Telegrams from Shafter of a Battle in Progress Awaken Much Interest.

SPECULATIONS AS TO THE PLAN OF THE CAMPAIGN

Faith That Shafter Will Be Equal To All Emergencies, and Anticipate Every Movement That General Linares May Make—The News from Dewey.

Washington, July 1.—Just two months after the battle of Manila and on the 1st day of the month, like that glorious engagement, began the first set battle of the war in this hemisphere. What the result will be is not known when the departments closed.

Never before since the declaration of war has there been such a feeling of intense interest and anxiety manifested. The officials here are confident that they have done everything possible to strengthen Shafter's hands for the great conflict he is waging, and they have an unlimited confidence in his discretion, his bravery and his energy. The attack today, several days before the public mind expected the battle, is a tribute to his energy as well as to his judgment, according to the present lights, for he undoubtedly found it necessary to crush the foe in detail, following Napoleon's favorite maxim, instead of allowing them to consolidate and outnumber him.

"He Is Fighting, Not Writing."

As the day wore along without bringing any news the anxiety increased and the question was in every one's mouth, "Why did he not report?"

Adjutant General Corbin's response was brief, but pointed:

"He is fighting, not writing," and this was accepted as a likely and sound explanation. Just before 4 o'clock came a brief dispatch from Playa del Este, the cable station near Santiago. But it was from an engineer officer to General Miles and made no reference to the progress of the battle, merely referring to certain necessary materials and live stock. On the whole, this very absence of official news was regarded as rather a favorable indication, the reasoning being that this morning's engagement was but a heavy skirmish and that our army was feeling the enemy to discover and strike at its weak spot. It was nearly 6 o'clock when the signal office received the welcome news that the enemy was retreating.

Gen. Miles' View of the Situation.

General Miles was of the opinion that the action of today was in the nature of a heavy skirmish all along the American front, particularly on the right, and that its main purpose was to develop the strength of the enemy and if possible learn the vulnerable points along the Spanish front. This, however, was based only on the lack of definite information, and General Miles felt that any hour might bring word of a general engagement. Brigadier General Stone was inclined to believe that after maintaining their stand today the Spaniards would retire during the night, leaving the city evacuated.

The military authorities here are fully considering the chances of such a retreat.

WHERE THE BATTLE OF JULY 1 WAS FOUGHT.
The Relative Positions of Americans and Spaniards, Together With the Approaching Columns of Gen. Pando.

THE DAY'S BATTLE WAS A GREAT AMERICAN VICTORY

Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay, July 2.—12:15 a. m.—The fighting continued until dark. Our forces carried the enemy's outer works, and occupy them tonight. The battle will be resumed at daybreak.

General Lawton was ordered to seize the enemy's position, opening up the way to intercept re-enforcements which are believed to be nearing the city, marching from Manzanillo. General Lawton is supported by Major General Wheeler's cavalry.

General Kent was on the left to move on Morro.

There are over 4,000 Cuban soldiers operating with the American army at the front, and the Spanish force defending Santiago de Cuba is estimated at from 12,000 to 20,000 men. In addition General Pando, the Spanish military commander in the field, is marching from Manzanillo, 127 miles west, with 8,000 men.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, July 2.—3 a. m.—The suspense which followed the receipt of General Shafter's dispatch early yesterday morning, announcing that a battle had been begun near Santiago, was relieved at 12:30 o'clock this morning, when a preliminary report of the day's operations was received by General Corbin from General Shafter.

As had been expected by the officials of the war department, the fight lasted until sundown. During the day probably it was not possible for Shafter to stop in the midst of the performance of his onerous duties to send dispatches to the war department. He was seriously occupied, and the work accomplished, as indicated concisely in his dispatch, clearly shows that not much grass grew under his feet during the day.

The president and war department officials are immensely pleased at the information conveyed in Shafter's message. While they learned with sincere regret that many American troops had fallen in the fight, the ground gained in the day's conflict is regarded as a great victory.

The battle establishes pretty conclusively that the Spaniards are no match for the enthusiastic and aggressive United States troops. They were driven from their strong intrenchments in front of Santiago, back into the city, and the Americans are now occupying the intrenchments and awaiting only the dawn to resume the greater battle, which will result, it is confidently believed by the war officials, in the fall of Santiago before Sunday night, and perhaps, before nightfall today.

Adjutant General Corbin put the situation strongly and picturesquely this morning while speaking briefly of the aggressiveness and tenacity of General Shafter:

"The bull dog," said he, "is lying right there, with his teeth in their neck, only waiting the coming of daylight to

THE GREAT FIGHTING BEGINS IN FRONT OF SANTIAGO DE CUBA

The Battle Stopped on Account of Darkness, with the Americans Resting on Arms.

THE SPANISH FORCES ARE NOW DRIVEN INTO THE CITY

The Desperate Encounter, in which the Spaniards Retreat, and Are Now Within the Walls of Santiago—Americans Will Resume with Daylight.

Washington, July 1.—The following copyrighted dispatch to the Associated Press, dated "General Lawton's Headquarters, Rio Guamo, Thursday, June 30, 3 p. m., by the Associated Press Dispatch Boat Wanda to Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 1, 6 a. m., filed Kingston, Jaamica, July 1, 9:30 a. m.," gives the plan of the battle of July 1st, as it was planned to be fought on the day before.

Reports, so far as received ,show that the plans were followed out, hence the report is of interest.

"Daylight tomorrow (Friday), will see a movement of the Fifth division, under General Lawton, to a new base north and east of Santiago. All this morning General Garcia's Cubans have been moving from their hill camp on the east, and have been passing headquarters almost at a jog trot.

"Assuming that 4,000 men will be deployed on the northeast, the American advance is a net which is now drawing closer around the doomed city. General Lawton's men will move at daybreak.

The Ground To Be Fought Over.

"Three miles east of their present position there rises a narrow ridge in the Santiago valley. Southward from here the troops can look down on Caney, the picturesque and once thriving Spanish town, almost at their feet. Three miles west, crowning a low ridge that crosses the Santiago valley, is seen the Spanish barracks and a large building over which floats the Red Cross Society's flag. This is the Reina Mercedes hospital, where, according to all pacifico accounts, are now located Lieutenant Hobson and his men.

"The valley, three miles wide, would be a garden spot in time of peace. It is filled with a rank tropical growth, covering abandoned plantations. The only sign of a habitation between Santiago and Cavite is Dugurn house, once a hospitable country hotel, now used by the Spanish as a barricade, but like Cavite, abandoned except for a corporal's guard of Spaniards.

"Opposite, on the northern side of the valley, is a broad plateau, accessible by a good road. This is the key to Santiago. Artillery here could capture the city and force the Spaniards to evacuate, or storm the heights to capture the battery. The latter course the Americans consider extremely unlikely.

"General Lawton and his command from the ridge will first take Caney. A

HAVE NO EXCUSE FOR THEIR CLAIM

That Silver Was Given a Black Eye in Pennsylvania.

EAGERNESS OF THE GOLD MEN

To Misstate Matters Political If It Benefits Them.

SILVER MEN CONTROLLED CONVENTION

But They Decided to Run the Campaign on Strictly State Issues, and This Is Why the Financial Question Was Not Named in Platform.

Washington, July 1.—(Special.)—There has been much talk in Washington over the apparent contradictions of the democratic convention in Pennsylvania, and some of the newspapers up this way which cling to the hope of shoving the silver question into the background are endeavoring to figure a defeat for the Chicago platform and Bryan in the failure of that convention to give specific indorsement to the Chicago platform by name.

"A black eye for Bryan and silver," these people call it; not that they believe it at all, but because they are grasping for straws in their eagerness to make it appear that silver is losing ground. They will have to look farther than Pennsylvania to get any comfort.

The conditions there, as revealed by the convention that has just nominated Jenks for governor, are highly interesting, but they can't be said to be at all comforting to this element, which seems to persist in proclaiming its democracy without granting hat essentially democratic principle of al[illegible]ing the democratic majority to make its atform. When the democrats of Pennsylvania met in 1896 to select a delegation to the democratic national convention there was scarcely a silver man among them. But little attention had been paid to the question and the result was that the gold element was absolutely dominant.

Silver Men Controlled.

The convention of Pennsylvania democrats that has just adjourned was absolutely dominated by the silver men of the state. There was no mistaking the sentiment of the delegates to that convention. Every mention of the name of William J. Bryan brought out the same enthusiasm that it would in a Georgia convention and the Chicago platform was cheered and its principles indorsed on all sides. Indeed I am told by those who were there and who have just got back to Washington that the sentiment was absolutely all one way. The convention did not mention the platform in its resolutions except by indirection, but that was not because of any lack of belief in those principles. In view of the wide split in the ranks of the republicans of the Keystone state, and that this split makes the possibility of a democratic victory if the campaign is fought on state lines, the leaders of the party decided to frame a platform restricting the issues to state matters.

The resolutions reported by the committee were on this line. When they came before the convention there was an effort made by a few men to put in a silver plank, but it was noticeable that the men who supported this effort were for the most part those who were recognized as the gold element in the convention. This put the silver men in the position where, in order to carry out their programme and make a platform restricting to state issues, they were compelled to vote against the insertion of a silver plank. This they did. The reason for doing this must be apparent to anybody familiar at all with the conditions in Pennsylvania. The nomination of William A. Stone by Quay's convention has widened the breach between the two factions in the republican party almost beyond the healing. In the opinion of the shrewdest politicians this nomination may, and probably will, prove the straw to break the back of the little old man, Matt Quay, whose supremacy in the politics of Pennsylvania has been marvelous. The revolt this year is bigger than it has ever been heretofore, for Stone is the cheapest kind of a political henchman and the better element in the republican party makes no secret in its determination to bolt.

In view of this state of affairs the democratic leaders decided that the wise thing for them to do was to make a platform, basing the issue of the campaign on Quayism and nominating a good man who was a strong supporter of the party in 1896 for the first place on the ticket. There were differences as between two men, both good, there was practically no difference as to the platform. The effort to put in a silver plank seems to have grown out of the fight over the nominations and to have been made with the idea of embarrassing the dominant silver element.

Presided Over by Silver Men.

The convention was dominated by Colonel Guffey, the new member of the national committee who was selected in the place of Harrity, because he was a silver man, and probably the most prominent in the state. Guffey is recognized as the Bryan leader of Pennsylvania. He was the power that nominated Jenks, and was in absolute control of the convention. It was under his leadership that the platform was made and it was he and his friends who voted down the proposition to insert a silver resolution, because they felt that to emphasize national issues in a state campaign, with conditions as they are in the state, would injure the party's chances. They felt that should they, by any possibility, elect the governor this year they would be in infinitely better shape to do something practical in 1900 toward carrying the state than they would be on the outside.

It will be noted that the platform adopted contains a distinct declaration of fidelity to the "convictions and declarations of the party on national issues." If that doesn't mean fidelity to the principles of the Chicago platform, what does it mean? Here are the opening words of the Pennsylvania platform:

"The democracy of Pennsylvania, in state convention assembled, renewing their former pledges of fidelity and devotion to the sacred rights of the people and state, and true to the convictions and declarations of the party upon national questions, realize that the issues in the coming state campaign relate peculiarly and transcendentally to the redemption of the state from republican misrule."

MANZANILLO BOMBARDED.

Havana, July 1.—At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon three American warships bombarded Manzanillo. The Spanish gunboats Cuba Espanola and Guardian and the pontoon Maria answered the fire, lying at anchor off the port, while the gunboats Delgardo Parejo, Estrella and Guantanamo went to meet the American ships and to silence their fire. The combat lasted forty-five minutes. Over forty shells fell in Manzanillo. The Spanish loss was two sailors wounded and eight "bruised." Among the latter were the commander of the gunboat Delgardo Parejo and the physician of the pontoon Maria. The American ships retired toward the northwest by the Manzanillo keys, towing one ship, whose engines were damaged.

THE FLEET JOINED IN ATTACK ON SANTIAGO.

Washington, July 1.—A dispatch was read in the cabinet meeting from Colonel Allen, in charge of the signal station at Playa del Este. He said that the fight was growing furious in all directions. The Spaniards were shelling the Americans as they advanced and Admiral Sampson's fleet was hotly engaged.

No News from American Transports.

Hong Kong, July 1.—The Japanese cruiser Matsushima arrived here today from Manila, which she left on the afternoon of Monday, June 27th. She reports that the American transports had not then arrived. The situation was unchanged, the Spaniards continuing to erect defenses and the insurgents occupying positions within about 2,000 yards of the city. Food was growing scarcer. The Matsushima reports also that when she left Manila harbor there were five German and four British warships there.

finish the work he has so magnificently begun. The engagement yesterday was very heavy for a preliminary fight, but it scores a decided victory for us. I regret to know that Shafter has sustained so heavy a loss, but we may hope that there are not, as he says, many killed. It is, however, probably certain to be true that the loss of an army in an engagement like of yesterday, where the battle line extended over several miles, will be much heavier than is indicated by the first dispatch. It is manifestly impossible in cases where the battle has raged all day and until dark to ascertain with definiteness the loss sustained."

During the early night there was much speculation concerning the reasons for the delay in receiving news from the battle. Captain Nesmith, who is acting as chief signal officer during the temporary absence of General Greely, feared that cable communication with Cuba might have been interrupted and none of the other officials would offer a suggestion as to the reason for the delay.

Early in the evening Secretary Alger went to the white house and remained with the president until the dispatch from General Shafter had been received.

During the evening many prominent officials and members of congress were at the white house, but only a few of them remained for longer than a few minutes. They called merely to ascertain whether any news had been received from Cuba.

THE ASSAULT ON SANTIAGO LED BY GENERAL LAWTON

Playa del Este, Province of Santiago de Cuba, July 1, 11:20 a. m.—(Copyright, 1898, by the Associated Press.)—A general assault on the city of Santiago de Cuba by the land and sea forces of the United States began at 7 o'clock this morning.

General Lawton advanced and took possession of Cabona, a suburban of Santiago. Morro castle and the forts at the entrance of the harbor were bombarded by our fleet. The Vesuvius used her dynamite guns with good effect.

The Spanish fleet in the harbor fired on the American troops, who were very close to the city.

Hard fighting all along the American line was in progress at 11 o'clock.

Nine wounded Cubans have been brought in.

THE GREAT DANGER BESETTING THE AMERICANS.

OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA, June 30, 2 p. m., by the Associated Press Dispatch Boat Wanda, Filed at Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 1, 8 a. m.—A two..days' visit to the Cuban lines and outposts by a correspondent of the Associated Press has developed a situation which, if not broken by a vigorous and successful attack upon Santiago, may cause much more serious work than has been anticipated with the Spanish forces that have retired from the vicinity of Acerraderos, on the west, and Baiquiri, on the east, to join General Linares.

The forces in Santiago and within the fortified defenses of the city now number 11,000—7,000 regulars and 4,000 volunteers. Concerning the latter, the Cubans allege that they will not fight with any heart, but will lay down their arms. According to Spanish soldiers captured yesterday and held in the camp of General Perez, near Guantanamo, half of the force of men on the Spanish warships had been landed, with all the rapid-fire guns. This would make a total force in the city of 12,000 men, in addition to the protection of the earthworks and forts and the assistance of the ships in the harbor.

To meet this force, or at least to invade its stronghold, the American commanders now have 17,500 men and 4,000 Cubans, the latter to prevent, if possible, flank movements at the expense of the Americans. Now here is the dangerous and most significant feature of the situation: Marching from Manzanillo, 120 miles west of Santiago, and having been on the road for six days, quite well advanced now in his progress, is General Pando with seven battalions aggregating 8,400 men. To oppose him is General Jesus Rabi, with a force of 2,200 Cubans, lying in wait seventeen miles from Santiago, and on two roads.

Now, of course, it would be perfectly possible for General Pando to take his column far to the north and make a junction with the Spanish troops supposed to be on the way from Holguin, and numbering, it is said, 9,000 men. This advance from the north is being held in check by about 1,500 Cubans under General Castillo, who claims to hold the passes.

General Castillo admitted in camp yesterday, as he smoked his cigar and supped his coffee, that his method was to do Indian fighting in the mountain passes. When he was asked what his force would do if flanked, he gravely said he had not thought of that, but he supposed he would have to retire. The object of the Spanish advancing from Manzanillo may be to elude Rabi and by effecting a junction with the Spanish from the north to form an army of 17,500 men.

As a flank on the west end of the American army, facing the city, General Rabi's forces, combined with those of General Castillo, would only give a combatting force of 3,700 Cubans, and the Cubans do not hesitate to run before overwhelming numbers.

Nor is that all of the affair. Leaving the Guantanamo camp of marines and plunging into the woods to the west, the Associated Press correspondent found a force of 800 Cubans, under command of Colonel Perez. This force had variously been estimated at from 1,800 to 2,500 Cubans, but there were certainly not more than 800, as Colonel Perez admitted in the course of conversation, although he had distinctly claimed to have about 2,000. This force of 800 is supposed to be keeping at bay 3,400 Spanish troops who are in the town of Guantanamo. The marines are near this camp, but to the east of it, so that they could do nothing to prevent the Spaniards from moving to the west on the flank of the American army.

In other words, there are to the northeast and west of the army of invasion flanking forces of Spaniards comprising over 20,000 troops, held at bay by less than 5,000 Cubans, whose fighting qualities are as yet rather enigmatical.

of the Spanish army from Santiago, and are endeavoring so to shape events that General Shafter's force will not only take Santiago, but will capture the 12,000 Spaniards before they get away northward to effect a juncture with General Pando. Full information as to the possible lines of retreat has been placed at the disposal of the war department. One of the most interesting statements is that of General Manager Cox, of the Spanish-American Mining Company, at Baiquiri, who is thoroughly acquainted with all the country surrounding Santiago. He shows that the two possible lines of retreat are: First, by the road to El Cobre, or, second, by following the line of the Sabanillo and Marto railroad. The first line will be easy for about the first ten miles, or as far as El Cobre, but after that the country is mountainous and barren, and would not afford subsistence, and the pass to reach the central plateau of the island would be difficult. The more likely line of retreat will be along the line of the above mentioned railroad, crossing the Sierra Mestra at El Cristo, a pass 600 feet above the sea, ten miles north of Santiago, which is the lowest pass through the Sierra Mestra for many miles. The country back of this is a rolling plateau of rich agricultural lands. At Manacas, on the railroad, two miles north of the pass, is an iron bridge, consisting of a series of thirty-foot spans on iron trestle. This point is about two miles beyond the Cristo summit, and just beyond this bridge the railroad divides into two branches.

Where Pando Might Be Stopped.

The destruction of this bridge would be the most feasible method of preventing the approach of General Pando's Spanish troops to relieve Santiago. It is probable that if the Spaniards retreat by this road they will make a stand on the plateau at El Cristo and hold the pass of El Cristo. The only other pass through the mountains near this point is at Escandel summit, about six miles in a straight line east of El Cristo pass. Escandel summit is 1,120 feet above the sea, and is reached from Santiago via Caney. The road from Santiago to Caney is fairly good, being wide enough for vehicles. Between Caney and Escandel the road, which is no more than a trail, ascends the mountains, and is very winding and broken. Beyond Escandel, across the summit, the country is heavily timbered and broken, and the roads are not good. It is an ideal country for ambushing. This is probably the only pass through which the Spanish position could be turned should the Spanish troops occupy the Cristo plateau and pass.

The railroad has been fortified by a line of blockhouses protecting the bridges and certain zones of cultivations inclosed between these forts have been planted during all the time of the war and would afford a supply for the army for a certain time. In the meanwhile sweet potatoes could be planted, which in three months would ripen. These zones of cultivation exist along the road as far as San Luis, at which point there is considerable country in cultivation. On the other branch (the Sabinallo branch) the zones of cultivation extend as far as Santiago.

The News from Dewey.

While not prolix in his utterances Admiral Dewey loses no opportunity to keep the navy department informed of the state of affairs at Manila. A dispatch came from him today dated Cavite, June 27th, reporting that conditions remain practically unchanged but not recording the arrival of his re-enforcements. He had some other matters of interest to communicate, but they were not of a character that could be properly made public at this stage. For one thing it can be stated that Admiral Dewey has been particular to avoid committing his government to any particular line of action respecting the future of the Philippines or to do anything that would embarrass General Merritt in framing a policy to meet the needs of the case when he arrives. He has made no official pledges to the insurgent leader, although he has not hesitated to openly praise his good politics and his accomplishments.

So far as the navy department knows the Cadiz fleet is still at Port Said unable to coal, but it is taking no chances on their course and is steadily pressing the arrangements for the dispatch to the Mediterranean of the eastern squadron under Commodore Watson. An evidence of this purpose was made visible today in the packing and forwarding [illegible] boxes of charts of all the waters likely to be traversed by Watson's squadron [illegible]rectly to the ships off Santiago.

slight skirmish is expected, but nothing serious, the captured pacificos alleging that the Spanish main force which was here four days ago, has now been withdrawn into Santiago, in pursuance of a general plan of concentration. Spies report General Linares's continuous retreat from Baiquiri to Santiago. This plan is said to be much against his own wishes, but to be forced upon him by his superior officer, General Toral, commanding at Santiago. It is evident the Spanish stand is to be made inside the strong intrenchments about the city. With well-armed men, eager for a final clash, this stand might well be desperate. The temper of the Spaniards is hard to ascertain. Owing to the Cuban biased estimate of Spanish ability, they predict a merely nominal resistance, but the Americans believe otherwise. Reports that the Spanish are eating horses and the civilians are gathering mangoes in a suburban wood, where some twenty-five have been captured by the American patrol, come in. The Spaniards have, therefore, the spur of hunger. Whether it has broken their fighting spirit, a few days will tell.

The Limit of the Movement.

"The capture of Caney and the possession by the Americans of the plateau is now thought to be the limit of tomorrow's movement. General Lawton's command carries provisions sufficient to last until July 4th. With the present supply train service continuing without any accident, he will easily have food enough to last to July 12th. By that time, according to one well-informed officer, and perhaps sooner, Santiago will be taken.

"This move of the Fifth division will completely turn the Spanish eastern flank. General Kent's command will be able to move up parallel to its present position, acting as a wall against the horde of Spaniards from three strong lines south and west. Should a serious effort be made to prevent General Lawton's gaining the desired plateau, and the Spanish interior force thereby be weakened, General Kent and General Wheeler may be thrown forward and a general engagement precipitated.

"A large detail has been at work all day improving a military road to Caney with a view of the artillery and the supplies for the other force cutting through the woods parallel to old Santiago road. It is also possible that this opening may bring the siege guns inland from the railway that are now working up the coast in the hands of our troops.

The Troops in Excellent Condition.

"The condition of the American troops is excellent. Despite the hard rains and the hot sun, only eighteen men out of General Lawton's 5,593 were reported ill on today's sick call. The other commands are equally well off. The men are full of snap and ginger for the big fight. In preparation for the final assault upon Santiago sixty tried men in each brigade, non-commissioned officers and privates, have been promoted to be wire clippers and they will precede the first firing line about 200 or 300 yards for the purpose of cutting the barbed wire fences of obstruction on the way to the city. Their mission is a most hazardous one, as they will be exposed to the fire of our own men, as well as that of the enemy. The pacificos who have been brought into the American camp during the last few days are in a pitiable condition. Men, women and children are absolutely starving and they welcome American shelter.

"General Shafter has established his headquarters with General Lawton and today hoisted the corps flag. Today the signal corps used observation balloons, obtaining a perfect view of the Spanish entrenchments, the city and harbor."

According to General Shafter's report, the attack on Santiago was begun by the Second division of the Fifth army corps, commanded by Brigadier General H. W. Lawton. This division consists of three brigades, made up as follows:

First brigade, commanded by General J. J. Van Horn, Eighth United States infantry; Twenty-second United States infantry and the Second Massachusetts infantry.

Second brigade, commanding officer unknown, but supposed to be Colonel Bates, First United States infantry, Fourth United States infantry and Twenty-fifth United States infantry.

Third brigade, commanded by Brigadier General Adna R. Chaffee, Seventh United States infantry; Twelfth United States infantry and Seventeenth United States infantry.

It thus appears that the entire division which opened the hostilities of the day is composed of regular troops, seasoned and experienced in battle, with the exception of the Second Massachusetts volunteer infantry, which is regarded as one of the best volunteer organizations of the army.

GERMANY WOULD BE JUSTIFIED

Her Right of Conquest Would Be Equal to That of the United States.

London, July 2.—The Morning Post says editorially this morning:

"We fail to see why the possibility of Germany desiring to obtain a port or an island in the Philippines should excite indignation in the United States. We also fail to see how the United States can prevent Germany from having her own way in the matter. The Americans have no force to spare to fight Germany and they hardly expect another power to undertake that difficult task for them.

"If Germany chooses to make a claim her opportunity is well chosen. The question of right hardly comes in. If America obtains the bulk of the Philippines by conquest she can scarcely pretend to a better moral basis for their tenure than a German claim founded on the power to make it good for a small portion of the group."

Consulting with the Plant People.

Washington, July 1.—The president and Secretary Alger had nearly an hour's conference this afternoon with Vice Pressidents Irwin and Brown, of the Plant System, for the purpose of expediting as far as possible the movements of the troops in the south. There has been some complaint of delays in transportation and confusion in deliveries on the Plant system, and these complaints were gone over with the railroad men. They said there had been exaggeration respecting delays at Tampa and elsewhere, and denied reports of confusion in the railroad arrangements. They said that there were ample facilities for handling any force of troops that might be sent to points on the Plant system, and gave assurances of expeditious work and ample facilities for any service which the system might be called upon by the government.

A Big Grab of Islands.

London, July 2.—According to a dispatch to The Times, from Sydney, N. S. W., the British cruiser Mohawk has annexed eighteen islands of the Santa Cruz and Duff groups in the Pacific.

NO PEACE IN SIGHT.

Spanish Bishop Wants To Inaugurate a Holy War.

Madrid, July 1, 11 a. m.—Premier Sagasta, in an interview today in regard to the peace rumors, said:

"They are absurd. I am astonished that any attention is paid to them. There will not be and cannot be any discussion in regard to this matter. I affirm this absolutely. The government cannot treat for peace now. That action depends upon developments and the government will not act until the proper time.

"While the bishop of Barcelona has declared in favor of peace, the bishop of Segovia has issued a pastoral letter in favor of a holy war. The chamber of agriculture of Barcelona has again petitioned the government in favor of peace and the central committee of the socialist party has issued a circular pointing out the folly of continuing the war, in view of the disposition of the means of the combatants and setting forth that the working people desire peace."

War Feeling Revives.

Madrid, July 1.—9 p. m.—Two cabinet councils have been held today. A revival of the war feeling is noticeable. The clerical organs publish violent articles against the advocates of peace, and the priests are preaching a war to the bitter end. The conservatives also decry against the idea of peace at the present moment.

Hoyt, of Washington; Grayson M. P. Murphy, of Philadelphia; Charles F. Smith, son of Major Allen Smith, of the First cavalry; Louis Turtle, alternate, Washington.

"Scorchers" Unfit for the Army.

Chicago, July 1.—Dr. S. C. Staunton, who has charge of the examination of recruits for the United States regular army in this city, has caused a sensation among medical men by declaring that an habitual fast rider of bicycles, or a "scorcher," is unfit physically to serve as a soldier in the army.

SIGSBEE'S SHIP FIGHTS SPANIARD

The St. Paul Returns from an Exciting Cruise.

ENGAGED A SPANISH BOAT

The Battle Took Place Off St. Juar de Porto Rico.

THE TERROR COMES OUT GAMELY

Sigsbee Plays with the Little Monster Until He Gets It Within Range and Then Delivers Shells.

New York, July 1.—The St. Paul arrived in port tonight and anchored off Tompkinsville, S. I. She left Mole St. Nicholas early last Tuesday and has come here for coal, ammunition and stores, also to have some slight repairs made to her starboard engine.

Captain Sigsbee and the officers are absolutely inaccessible to press representatives who went off to the ship when she had anchored, even permission to board the vessel being refused. Considerable information was obtained, nevertheless, from a copy of the St. Paul's war budget, the oracle of the ship, which was obtained. The St. Paul's great exploit on her last trip was the disabling of the Spanish torpedo boat Terror off the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, and being regarded so by the crew, the account of it occupies the first place on the first page. When the cruiser Isabel II came out of the harbor of San Juan at about noon of June 22d covering the Terror, which was with her, from sight, the Spaniards thought it was the St. Louis, which had been there a short time before and known to have a small armament and not the St. Paul, which was going to be met.

They Were Looking for a Prize.

In the expectation of seeing a fine prize brought into port, the Spaniards gathered in great crowds along the harbor wall. The engagement lasted a little over half an hour, during which the St. Paul fired about 190 shots, three of them hitting the Terror, smashing one of her engines, killing the chief engineer and another man, taking off the legs of a third and wounding five others. So badly was the Terror injured that small vessels were lashed to her sides to prevent her from sinking, while a tug boat towed her in.

The budget says:

"We came off the port on the 22d. The weather was fair, the trade wind blowing fresh from the eastward and raising somewhat of a sea. At about 12:40 o'clock the third-class cruiser Isabel II came out and steaming under the Morro until she was abreast of the batteries, commenced edging out toward us, firing at such a long range that her shots were ineffective. As her purpose evidently was to put us within fire of the batteries, we took but little notice of her, lying still and occasionally sending out larger shells at her to try the range. Soon afterwards she dropped to the westward, and the torpedo boat destroyer Terror, or it may have been her sister ship, the Furor, was sighted steaming along shore under the batteries.

Then the Shooting Began.

"Captain Sigsbee watched her for a while and worked along with her, in order to separate her from the cruiser and keep her in the rough of the sea if she came for us. She then headed for us, firing straight as far as direction went, but her shots fell short. When within range of our guns the signal 'commence firing' was made, and for several minutes we let fly our starboard battery at her from 5,500 to 6,000 yards, the shells striking all around her. This stopped her and she turned her broadside to us, and her fire soon ceased. She then headed in shore, to the southward and westward, going slow, and it was evident to all on board that she was crippled, drifting well leeward of the main harbor entrance. Off the Morro she flashed some signal to the shore and afterwards a tug came out and towed her into the harbor.

"All this time the cruiser was firing at us, and some of her shots fell pretty close. The cruiser followed the Terror back toward the port, and soon afterwards was joined by a gunboat and the two steamed under the batteries to the eastward. But when the St. Paul, making an inshore turn, seemed to be going for them they returned to the harbor and we saw no more of them."

The health of the crew on the St. Paul, which numbers 460 men, exclusive of officers, is excellent, not a case of serious illness being reported.

The St. Paul has two Spanish marine mines on board, which were caught in the Marblehead's propeller in Guantanamo bay.

NO NEWSPAPERS IN CHICAGO TODAY

Publishers Strike Against Their Stereotyping Force.

STOP THEIR NEWSPAPERS

Chicagoans Will Not Hear of the War News This Morning.

STEREOTYPERS ASKED AN ADVANCE

The Reply Was That Every Newspaper in the City Would at Once Suspend Publication for Several Days Until They Can Get New Forces.

Chicago, July 1.—The following bulletin was posted at every Chicago newspaper office this evening at 10 o'clock:

"At 8 o'clock this (Friday) evening the Stereotypers' Union notified the newspaper publishers of Chicago that unless their demands for an increase of wages from $3.25 to $4 per day, a reduction of the working day from eight to seven hours, with payment at the rate of 75 cents per hour for all over time, and other concessions were at once accorded them, they would refuse to return to work.

"In consequence of this action The ——, in common with all other Chicago papers, will not appear Saturday."

This action of the newspapers was in pursuance of an understanding recently entered into, including, among other provisions, this agreement:

"In event of a strike in any of the departments of one or more of the Chicago daily newspaper offices, the mechanical resources of all our offices shall be pooled to the extent and with the purpose that no newspaper shall be published unless and until all the newspapers can be promptly published on the same day."

The stereotypers have been averaging from $19.50 to $22 per week of six days on evening papers and from $24 to $27 on morning papers.

It is anticipated that the influx of stereotypers from all parts of the country will be so great that the suspense of publication will continue only a few days.

SEVERE STORM IN MARIETTA.

Telephone Poles Blown Down and Trees Uprooted.

Marietta, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—A small cyclone struck Marietta about 2 o'clock today. The sun was broiling hot and there was seemingly no air stirring; a small cloud that no one expected to get any rain from came up from the southeast and was not noticed until a few drops of rain fell. Suddenly a furious roaring was heard and the storm came down upon the town without warning. Trees and telegraph poles were blown down promiscuously. One large tree was blown across the residence of City Clerk R. E. Lawhon, but no serious damage was done. Several of the main streets have been blockaded all the afternoon as there were so many trees, wires and poles down that the street authorities have been unable with the extra force hired to move the obstructions. It was one of the worst storms that has visited Marietta in many years, but no damage resulted except to the telephone company and to a few fences and barns.

OFFICER RUNS DOWN A GANG

And Lodges the Miscreants in LaFayette, Ala., Jail.

Opelika, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—For some time the northern section of this county has been infected with a gang of gamblers, murderers and incendiaries, and all efforts to capture or identify them have failed. It was known that a murderer from Cedartown, Ga., and one from Anniston, Ala., were in gang. Two hundred and fifty dollars reward had been offered for several of the gang, but no one could locate them. They have maintained a reign of terror for some time, the last crimes charged to them being the burning of the home and barn of Hon. W. C. Thomas, president of the East Alabama Fair Association. For some time ex-Deputy Sheriff J. M. Johnson has been on their trail and yesterday ran the gang to earth and captured them all. They are now lodged in jail in Lafayette and some of them boast of their crimes. Johnson will receive the rewards.

STATE EXPERIMENTAL STATION.

Professor Quaintance Elected as Horticulturist Yesterday.

Griffin, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the board of trustees today, Professor A. L. Quaintance, of Lake City, Fla., was elected horticulturist of the state experimental station, to take the place made vacant by the appointment of Professor Starnes to the chair of horticulture in the State university.

Funeral of Dr. G. W. Farrar.

Dawson, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—The remains of Dr. G. W. Farrar were interred today in the city cemetery with Masonic honors. Dr. Farrar was eighty-six years of age and was one of Dawson's oldest and most prominent physicians and well-to-do citizens. He was a soldier in the war of 1812. He was the father-in-law of Mayor W. B. Cheatham, and the stores of the city were closed this afternoon during funeral services through respect to the deceased.

Torpedo Boats at Southport.

Southport, N. C., July 1.—(Special.)Torpedo-boats Gwin, Lieutenant Williams, and Talbot, Lieutenant Schumaker, arrived here tonight for water. They are from Newport, R. I., to Key West and will sail for Charleston in the morning.

WAR FOR WATER.

That Is the Situation in Opelika at the Present Time.

Opelika, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—There will very likely be a clash between the city authorities and the waterworks company soon. The water now being furnished is almost too bad to drink, and is considered dangerous to health by many here even when filtered. Any branch with water in it is a welcome thing to the waterworks company, and they are pumping much mud and sediment on account of the drought.

It is also believed here that the visitation of typhoid fever we are now having is caused by the impurity of the water, and some very grave questions have been before the council recently regarding it. The company is owned by Philadelphia parties, who also built the LaGrange and Dawson, Ga., plants. Dawson declared their contract null and void last year, while last week LaGrange pulled out of her contract. It carries its own meaning, for it is not the first time that monopolies have held the people in their grasp. A storm is brewing, though, that may result in righting many wrongs not mentioned.

Small Cyclone Near Eufaula.

Eufaula, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—A small cyclone, accompanied by heavy rain, swept over this city late this afternoon lasting for nearly an hour. Trees were broken and twisted. The smokestack of the Chewaller mills was blown down. A large glass show window in the Ross building was demolished. The floor in the river wagon bridge was blown up. Shutters and roofs of residences were torn and fences were damaged. The injury to crops cannot be ascertained, but it is not thought will be very serious.

Eight Companies of Negroes.

Montgomery, Ala., July 1.—The adjutant general of the state says he has accepted eight companies of negro soldiers which will make the two battalions due from Alabama under the second call for volunteers. They will be placed with a negro battalion already mustered in and now at Mobile, making a full regiment. The officers are all white.

Death of Mrs. Hattie Hobart.

Decatur, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—Mrs. Hattie Hobart died today after an illness of one year. Mrs. Hobart was the wife of Conductor Tom Hobart, one of the oldest men in the service of the Louisville and Nashville, and her death under peculiarly sad circumstances, is universally mourned, as she was a most admirable woman known for her far-reaching works of charity. The funeral will occur Sunday.

Kyle Will Serve Anyway.

Decatur, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—First Lieutenant Neely M. Pride, Company E, First Alabama, on recruiting duty here, says that Major Kyle has never resigned his commission as captain of Company E, and he has no idea that Kyle would retire from the service on account of the war department refusing to accept him as major of the Third battalion, but would drop back to the rank of captain.

Boy Injured by Torpedo.

PROCLAIMED A REPUBLIC.

Aguinaldo Plans It Under Protection of United States and Great Britain.

London, July 1.—A representaive of General Aguinaldo, the leader of the Philippine insurgents, who served with him during the last insurrection and who is now in London, is quoted in an interview as saying that before Auginaldo left Hong Kong he promised Rear Admiral Dewey (then commodore) not to enter Manila until the arrival of the American troops.

Aguinaldo's representative says he has just received a dispatch from Cavite saying a republic has been proclaimed there by General Aguinaldo, under the protection of the United States, and approved by Great Britain and Japan.

Continuing, the representative of the Philippine leader asserts that he has been in Berlin, where he saw the under secretary for the foreign office, who declared that all Germany wanted was that the existing import tariff would not be altered by a republic being established in the Philippine islands, or at least that preference be not given to any other nation.

DEWEY IS DISAPPOINTED.

The Non-Arrival of the Transports Gives Him Uneasiness.

London, July 1.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Manila, dated June 28th, via Hong Kong, says that the non-arrival of the American troops has grievously disappointed Admiral Dewey, but the Americans still count on celebrating the 4th of July in Manila. It is reported Admiral Von Diedrichs sent two vessels away on learning that America regarded his attitude as unfriendly. A wholly improved feeling now exists. The American officers express confidence in their ability to dispose of any ships Spain can now send, but in view of the alleged strength of Admiral Camara's squadron the wish is expressed that the Americans had at least one battleship.

DECLINED BY DIEDRICHS.

He Refused the Offer of the Spaniards.

Berlin, July 1.—The following dispatch has been received from Hong Kong: "According to trustworthy intelligence from Manila, the Spanish governor general had a few days ago, at his own request, a meeting with Admiral Diedrichs, the commander of the German naval forces in the far east, in order to propose, in behalf of the Spanish government, that Manila should be handed into the provisional charge of a neutral commander. The proposal was rejected by Admiral Diedrichs in view of the American blockade."

THE METHODIST CHURCH CLAIM.

Committee Resumes Investigation of How It Was Carried Through.

Washington, July 1.—The sub-committee on claims continued today its investigation of the circumstances attending the passage of the Southern Methodist Publishing claim. Representative Gaines, of Tennessee, was examined. He reviewed letters which he had received and conversations had with Barbee and others interested in the claim, which he declared justified him in believing that no contract existed for the payment of any appreciable part of the recovery to any agent. Tomorrow other representatives and some senators will be examined along the lines followed in the case of Mr. Gaines, the purpose being to ascertain whether or not deception was practiced by those directly interested.

On the Way to Shafter.

Tampa, Fla., July 1.—Early last Tuesday morning the transport Louisiana sailed from the Port Tampa docks bound for Santiago with re-enforcement for General Shafter. She lifted her cables from the pier during the dark hours of the dawn and with a parting blast of her whistle started on her journey for the enemy's land. Her departure was marked for the quiet manner in which she almost stole away from the docks. It resembled the old-time Cuban filibustering expedition and the hour selected for sailing was in keeping with the Cuban custom. The Louisiana carried 150 recruits under command of Captain W. H. W. James for General Shafter's army, the Thirty-second ambulance corps, consisting of nineteen privates, one officer, twelve recruits, eight horses, two bell horses, forty ambulance mules, 130 pack mules, ten ambulances and twenty-eight packers.

PETTUS PETULANT; HOLDS HIS OWN

The Aged Alabamian Is Still Full of the Fire of Youth.

DON CAFFERY TWITS HIM

But the Old Man Stands Straight Up for Fire.

HE FORCES CAFFERY TO GIVE IN

Hawaiian Debate Enlivened by a Passage Between the Senators from Louisiana and Alabama—the Latter on Top.

By Jos: Ohl.

Washington, July 1.—The heat of the day was apparent in the Hawaiian debate in the senate, when Mr. Pettus said he had no respect for legislative filibustering, and just as little respect for a majority that would attempt to prevent full and free debate.

In opening his argument bearing directly upon Hawaiian annexation, he said it was not a party question, and could not be made so by one man or a few men. "Even if it were a party question," said he, "we were all Americans, and I hope, patriots, before we joined any party."

SENATOR PETTUS, of Alabama,
Whose Presbyterianism Stood in the Way of Sufficiently Strong Speech.

Mr. Pettus then entered upon a legal and constitutional argument in support of the resolutions taken. In the course of a sharp issue with Mr. Bacon, of Georgia, who had antagonized the resolutions on constitutional grounds, he maintained that no lawyer, no court could construe correctly a provision of the constitution without considering all of its parts.

Took Issue with Caffery.

Mr. Pettus took issue with Mr. Caffery, who had argued that the acquisition of Louisiana territory, by act of congress, was unconstitutional. He related the anecdote of the 'possum hunter who sawed off the limb of a tree on which a 'possum had taken refuge, thus letting the 'possum fall to the ground, but himself falling with it.

He applied the anecdote to Mr. Caffery, who, he said, had "sawed himself off," for if there was force in Mr. Caffery's argument, Louisiana was not legally in the union, and he had come to the senate bringing with him the contention that he had no right to a seat.

"It will be strange news to the people of Louisiana," he said, "that their senator is denying his right to represent them here."

Mr. Pettus ridiculed Mr. Caffery's argument that the question ought to be submitted to the people of Hawaii. He said such an argument had a moral, but no constitutional bearing, and while it might be a fit presentation to children in the nursery, it would have no force with senators. It was too adolescent.

Mr. Caffery replied tartly that as between the adolescent expressions of sympathy and the senilities of age, he would prefer the former.

Mr. Pettus, stung by Mr. Caffery's retort, said: "The senator from Louisiana has made use of a custom of the senate for a grossly improper purpose. He rose to ask me a question, and under the fraud of asking me the question, he sought to denounce me personally. Senators ought not to do such small things. No interruption is proper except for the purpose of a question or of obtaining information. And the man who does interrupt another for the purpose of offering an insult—well, Mr. President, I was brought up a Presbyterian, and cannot properly characterize such conduct."

A Sharp Report.

Mr. Caffery—Will the senator permit me to interrupt him?"

"No, I will not," declared Mr. Pettus. "I will not again be interrupted. I am an old man, Mr. President, but this was the first time I was ever insulted in the United States senate by such language, and I don't intend to tolerate it."

Mr. Caffery absolutely disclaimed that he had intended his remark as an insult. It was, he said, merely a set-off to Mr. Pettus's statement regarding adolescence.

Mr. Pettus had begun a discussion of the present war when he was interrupted by his colleague, Mr. Morgan, who read an Associated Press dispatch from Playa del Este announcing that the battle of Santiago had begun and fighting was proceeding along the entire line.

"There, Mr. President," said Mr. Pettus, "the fight is going on along the entire line, and it behooves every man to support the government, to support the army and the navy of the United States in all her actions. We ought to support the president of the United States. How many died in the fight today nobody can say. But I pray God that those brave men of ours, if die they must, may die with shouts of victory in their ears."

Mr. Pettus said one of the objections urged against Hawaiian annexation was that the acquisition of that territory would compel the United States to construct and maintain at enormous expense a powerful navy and perhaps maintain a large standing army.

"It may lead the United States to build a great navy," said he.

"I hope to God it will. I will welcome the day when our navy will be so powerful that no nation on earth will ever dare to offer us an insult."

Mr. Mallory Speaks.

In beginning a legal argument against Hawaiian annexation, Mr. Mallory, of Florida, said the question involved a new departure in governmental policy, an increase in our army and navy and the establishment of a system of government in a colony of the United States which never heretofore had existed. He maintained that the resolutions presented were fundamentally wrong and ought not to be adopted. In the course of his remarks Mr. Mallory quoted a decision of the supreme court handed down by Chief Justice Marshall to show that territory could be acquired either by conquest or by treaty, but neither mode of acquiring territory was indicated by the supreme court.

The Name Demanded.

A sequel to the Bailey-Grosvenor incident of Wednesday in the house furnished an incident of more noise and sensational interest today. Mr. Bailey demanded the name of the democratic congressman who was said to have written the article. Mr. Grosvenor refused to give it. Mr. Bailey had the democratic members stand up to disavow the authorship of the article, which those present did. Previously Mr. Grosvenor said he thought the time had come when the author of the article should come forth and acknowledge it. The house adjourned until Tuesday.

DEFERRED UNTIL NEXT TERM.

Supplement War Revenue Bill Will Not Now Be Acted Upon.

Washington, July 1.—The sub-committee of the senate committee on finance, having in charge the supplement war bill, today decided to postpone action upon it until next session.

This decision was reached at a meeting of the sub-committee held today. Some of the members advocated immediate action upon the bill, but a majority held that it would be wiser to postpone the report long enough to furnish an opportunity to make a test of the law as it now stands. In the meantime the committee will continue its investigations during the recess and it is believed will be able to cover the ground more completely than would be possible at this time.

The bill dealing with the period of liquor storage, extending the "outage" time for leakage, was also postponed.

Denounce Alliance with Foreigners.

Trenton, N. J., July 1.—The national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians finished its work at 7 o'clock tonight and adjourned sine die. The election of officers resulted as follows: John P. Keating, of Chicago, national president; James O'Sullivan, of Philadelphia, national secretary; P. T. Moran, of Washington, D. C., national treasurer, and P. J. O'Connor, Savannah, Ga.; Edward J. Slattery, Massachusetts; N. J. Burns, Indiana; Patrick A. O'Neil, Pennsylvania, national directors. Boston was selected for holding the next national convention in May, 1900. In the resolutions adopted the proposed Anglo-American alliance was condemned, as well as any alliance with any European powers.

The Civil Service Rules.

Washington, July 1.—Commissioners Harlow and Brewer, of the civil service commission, yesterday had a long conference at the white house with the president, Attorney General Griggs and Secretary Bliss in regard to a number of proposed changes in the civil service rules. It is understood that the heads of a number of the executive departments had recommended the extension of the rules so as to include certain specified places in the service, and that other places be exempted. No definite decision was reached on all of the questions involved, but it is expected that a conclusion will have been arrived at within a few days, when the president will issue an order covering the cases under discussion.

Use Only Marked Postage Stamps.

Washington, July 1.—In answer to numerous inquiries on the subject, the commissioner of internal revenue today stated that postage stamps could not be used in place of revenue stamps except such as had been imprinted by the government with the letters "I. R." If the ordinary postage stamps not so imprinted were used for internal revenue purposes, the documents or articles to which they were applied would be regarded as unstamped and treated accordingly. Attention is also called to the fact that imprinted stamps cannot be used in payment of postage.

Held Up by Masked Men.

El Paso, Tex., July 1.—The Texas and Pacific westbound passenger train was held up by three masked men tonight at 10 o'clock five miles west of Stanton and 300 miles east of El Paso. The Pacific Express Company's safe was blown open with dynamite. No one was hurt and it is not known what the robbers secured. The bloodhounds from Pecos and two posses from Midland, Tex., are now after the robbers.

An Extra Session of Congress.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 1.—Henry C. Payne has just returned from Washington, where he attended a conference of the monetary conference committee. In an interview today Mr. Payne gave it as his opinion that an extra session of congress would be called for next March for the purpose of financial legislation, providing there was a republican majority in both houses.

Ordered to Leave Egyptian Waters.

New York, July 1.—A special to The Tribune, dated Port Said, Egypt, June 30th, 11 p. m., says: The Ignacio de Loyola arrived here this evening with 2,100 tons of coal. Acting upon instructions from Cairo, the governor of Port Said has forbidden any further trans-shipment of coal in Egyptian waters, and a communication from the Egyptian government has been handed to the Spanish consul general here desiring him to request Admiral Camara to withdraw his fleet from Port Said as soon as possible.

Fell Between the Cars.

Decatur, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—While running across the top of a freight train in the lower yards of the Louisville and Nashville railroad today, Louis Mautter fell between a cattle and a flat car and was instantly killed, the wheels passing directly over his head and left shoulder. Mautter's death must have been instantaneous, as he had just left hte switch foreman about five minutes previous to his body being found. Mautter was a young German and had only been on the road about a month. He had just gone back to work after recovering from nearly losing a foot. He was thirty years of age, with a wife and two small children. This makes the third man killed in the yards this summer.

Dr. Barbee Will Attend.

Decatur, Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—With the convening of the annual Methodist conference of the Decatur district tomorrow which will last three days, it is announced that Rev. Dr. Barbee, one of the agents of the Methodist book concern, will be present during the session. It is expected that Dr. Barbee will be called on by the conference for an explanation of his part in the Stahlman and book concern appropriation scandal. Dr. Barbee was the first pastor of the First Methodist church here, fifty years ago, and this is his first visit to the city since then.

The response will be made by one or more of the officers of Colonel Ray's regiment. The flag presentation will be one of the main features of the great July celebration to be held at Camp Price and the Central City park, under the auspices of the library. Several of the captains and other commissioned men of Colonel Ray's regiment are talented gentlemen and eloquent speakers, and the responses to Governor Atkinson's address will be highly entertaining. Colonel Ray's regiment of 1,000 men will have been uniformed and well drilled by July 4th, and they will present an imposing appearance. The indications are there will be a great crowd in attendance from all the country cantiguous to Macon. The railroads will give reduced rates.

A series of entertainments will be given for the benefit of the people. In addition to the military feature, there will be brass band concerts, walking matches, baseball, bicycle races and kindred amusements.

Wesleyan's Field Agent.

James O. Branch, chairman, J. D. Hammond, W. F. Cook, A. M. Wynn and C. W. White were appointed by the board of trustees of Wesleyan a committee for the purpose of advertising the preacher and members of the Methodist church, south, within the north and south Georgia and Florida conferences on the powers and duties of the agent, Rev. Mumford, elected by the board. The committee has just issued an address in accordance with the above instructions.

ADMIRAL CAMARA'S FLEET.

It Divides Into Two Squadrons, Going East and West.

Cairo, July 1.—It is believed that part Admiral Camara's squadron intends to proceed westward and the rest eastward. The local colliers, it appears, intended trying to go to the Red sea to transship their coal to the Spaniards there, but they were not permitted to do so because it would be a breach of neutrality. Admiral Camara can only coal from one of his own colliers in the Red sea.

Yearlings Sold at Sheepshead Bay.

BANKERS GUARANTEE FUND LIFE ASSOCIATION OF ATLANTA, GA.

Four Years Old. Born in the South.

A healthy youngster, strong and vigroous, fulfilling every promise and making warm friends among the best people wherever known.

Its first policy was issued four years ago. It has been a success from the very beginning. Notwithstanding the sharp and oftentimes unfair competition of our competitors of the north, with their many millions of dollars back of them, and the hard times following low price of cotton and war with Spain, this Association has made substantial gains, both in new business and assets. The receipts of the beneficiaries of deceased policy holders show prompt payment in full and before due.

This Association is not run in the interest of any clique or combination—it is a policy holders' company. It is planned right and, with continued careful, conservative management, it will continue to seatter blessings during the coming century.

Removing All the Democrats.

Raleigh, N. C., July 1.—(Special.)—There was a genuine sensation here today among the clerks and deputy revenue collectors in Collector Duncan's office when it became known that upon his application all the clerks save two has been designated deputy collectors, so that he could remove them at pleasure and thus evade the civil service. He has removed all the field deputies and issued commissions to the old clerks until July 15th, so as to give them time to make business arrangements. All the men thus summarily ousted are democrats and all who are being put in are republicans. Duncan asserts that the same thing has been done, only more slowly, in other districts.

Young Phil Sheridan.

From The Chicago Chronicle.

On the first day of July young Philip H. Sheridan, the namesake of his illustrious father, General Phil Sheridan, will enter West Point as a cadet. His entrance has been fixed for that day as a celebration of the golden anniversary of his father's entrance to the nation's training school, for it will have been just fifty years on that day since the father stepped from the ferry boat at West Point and began his school life at the academy.

It has been one of Mrs. Sheridan's greatest ambitions that her oldest son and namesake of her dead husband should enter West Point on the fiftieth anniversary of the day her husband made his entrance there. It is said the mother tried to have her son appointed to West Point during the closing days of President Cleveland's term of office, but failed. Not long ago President McKinley heard of the mother's desire and her failure to have it fulfilled by his predecessor. The president was not only a great admirer of the deceased general, but his warm personal friend and when he learned of Mrs. Sheridan's wish he sent for her and asked if there was anything he could do for her or for her two sons.

"I have only one favor to ask, and if you can grant it I shall be most happy," replied Mrs. Sheridan. "I would like very much to have my oldest son enter West Point on the golden anniversary of the day my husband entered. But I am afraid it is now too late to have my ambition gratified."

President McKinley replied that he would arrange the appointment if it were possible. It has been done, the appointment has already been made out and on the first day of next month the young man will begin his cadet life at West Point.

REVENUE LAW UNDER EXPLANATION

The "Original Issue" Phase Is Treated Of in Detail.

CIRCULAR FROM COMMISSIONER

No Taxes on Matter Prior to the First of July.

BUT REISSUES ARE SUBJECT TO TAX

The Interpretation of the Law Opens Up Some Wide Possibilities—Interest All Over the Country.

Washington, July 1.—On the question of the construction of that part of schedule A of the act of June 14, 1898, imposing a tax "on each original issue," whether on organization or reorganization of certificates of stock, it is held by the commissioner of internal revenue in a circular issued today that the meaning of the words "original issue" as therein used is limited and controlled by the words "whether on organization or reorganization," and that therefore the only certificates of stock on which the tax of 5 cents "on each hundred dollars of face value of fraction thereof" is imposed by this act are those certificates issued on or after July 1, 1898, on the organization or reorganization of a company.

It is held further that in the case of a corporation having, for instance, an authorized capital stock of $1,000,000, of which it has issued only $500,000 prior to July 1, 1898, and on or after that date finds it necessary to make one or more additional issues under the authority possessed by it, each additional issue thus made is an "original issue" within the terms and meaning of the statute under consideration, and the certificates of such issue are subject to the stamp tax.

Where any original certificate issued is presented by the holder to the company or corporation for the issuance of another certificate or certificates in lieu thereof, the certificate or certificates thereupon issued to take the place of the original certificate could not, under the language and limitation of the statue above recited, require any stamp as long as there is no sale or agreement to sell or memorandum of sale or transfer of any of those certificates issued in lieu of the original.

In case of sale, where the evidence of transfer is shown only by the books of the company, a tax of 2 cents is required to be paid on each $100 of face value or fraction thereof and the stamp representing this is required to be placed upon such books.

Where the change of ownership is by transfer certificates, that is to say, the executed authority to transfer is contained on the back of the stock certificate which is to be transferred, the stamp must be placed on the transfer certificate; that is to say, upon the surrendered certificate containing the transfer.

In cases of agreements to sell or where the transfer is by delivery of the certificate assigned in blank, there must be executed a memorandum thereof to which the stamp is required to be affixed.

Under the ruling herein stated, in a case (that may be supposed) of a man who is the owner of a certificate for 100 shares of stock and wishes to sell ten of them to another person, the result being that one certificate would be issued for the ten shares sold and also one additional certificate for the ninety shares still remaining with him, the certificate for ninety shares issued (with the certificate for ten shares sold) in lieu thereof, does not require any stamp, and the certificate for the ten shares does not require a stamp representing the tax of 5 cents on each $100 of face value or fraction thereof, as it is not an original issue. The only stamp required with reference to those certificates is a stamp on the transfer of the ten shares sold, representing payment of the tax of 2 cents on each $100 of face value or fraction thereof.

In another case (stated for illustration), where a man holds several certificates for shares of stock aggregating 100 shares, and for his convenience calls upon the company to issue to him in lieu thereof one certificate for 100 shares, there being no sale or agreement to sell or memorandum of sale or delivery or transfer of this new certificate, the statute does not require the affixing of any stamp thereto.

Assistant Secretary Howell has issued a circular of instructions to all collectors of customs fixing the rate of stamp tax to be required on all customs papers under the new revenue act. All customs bonds will require a 50-cent stamp, all entries for consumption or for warehouse 25 cents to $1, according to value of invoice. All other entries except for transit to Canada, entries for immediate exportation by sea and entries under the immediate transportation act 50 cents each.

The Law in Force.

New York, July 1.—The war tax law, in its entirety, is in force today. The schedules relating to beer and tobacco became operative June 14th; the other schedules took effect at midnight.

There is a great scarcity of stamps. The government, with all its equipment, has been able to furnish only a fraction of the supply needed. As a result several large manufacturers of proprietary medicines will be forced to reduce their output for days, or perhaps weeks, until the supply of stamps is adequate.

Collector Treat began the sale of documentary and proprietary stamps on Tuesday. There was a demand for over 40,000,000 stamps of all classes at his office at the outset, but applications were cut all along the line.

The banks were most favored, because stamps will be sold at all banks, and the public will thus have easier access to them. Yet the demands of bankers were trimmed from 25 to 50 per cent. An applicant for 30,000 stamps, for instance, received 10,000 or 5,000, according to the value. The number to be given was left to the discretion of the collector.

The Western Union Telegraph Company received 200,000 one-cent stamps, the Postal Telegraph Company 100,000, the Anglo-American 25,000 and the Trans-Atlantic company 25,000.

The demand for stamps has been largely increased by orders from out-of-town business men and bankers who are unable to get supplies from the revenue officers of their [illegible] districts and ordered through their representatives in this city.

Two-cent postage stamps with the letters I. R. on them, are sold in place of stamps designed for different classes. The dollar stamps were the highest denomination sold.

The telegraph companies have not yet received the stamps necessary to properly conduct their business. Until they get them one cent extra will be charged for such message, and the money turned over to the collectors.

The telegraph and express companies will make customers pay the tax of one cent each on telegrams and bills of lading by compelling them to buy the stamp and cancel it. The Postal Telegraph Company posted a notice to this effect. These companies will carry supplies for several days, but later on the public will be expected to furnish its own stamps.

"What shall I do to send a message after midnight tonight?" a reporter asked at the main office of the Postal company.

"Buy a one-cent stamp at our office," was the reply. "Stick it on the telegraph blank, cancel it by writing your initials and the date. We will sell stamps for several days, and afterwards you will furnish your own stamps, precisely as you furnish your own stamps for letters."

At the American Express Company's office the same information was given as to bills of lading.

Merchants Will Fight Corporations.

The Merchants' Association has decided to fight the express companies on this issue, and will probably appeal to the courts if common carriers refuse to give a receipt with the stamp tax duty paid when a package is offered for shipment. A committee of the association visited each express company to announce that merchants would not pay the tax. The express companies replied that they had been advised by counsel that they were not obliged to pay it.

The railroad companies have practically agreed to pay a part of this and the Merchants' Association proposes to bring the express companies in line. A statement was issued by the express companies reciting that the tax would amount in the case of five principal companies to 3 per cent upon their entire capital. They decided that the burden was too great and two propositions were considered, one to increase their rate, the other to place the tax directly upon the shipper.

Under their contracts with the railroad companies the express people are obliged to pay a certain percentage varying from 40 to 50 per cent of their gross receipts as compensation for express facilities upon the various roads. The adoption of the first of these measures would, therefore, have necessitated an increase in the rates of the express companies to a sum nearly double the amount of the tax. It was, therefore, decided that the most feasible proposition was the adoption of the rule that only the exact amount of tax shall be collected. The shipper will be required to pay this tax, plus the express companies' rates.

Underbids the Law.

The Herald says: "Some of the leading events of the day (Thursday) were: The announcement of the New York Telephone Company that it would reduce the price of toll messages from 15 to 10 cents within the limits of Manhattan and the Bronx, except messages from one of these districts to the other, the company thereby avoiding the necessity of paying any war tax on such messages.

"The announcement of the express companies that they will compel the public to pay the 1-cent tax on all packages, and the threat of the merchants' association to carry the matter into the courts.

"The opinion of Commissioner Scott that the tax on stock transfers is not so extensive as was originally supposed.

"The apparent discovery of Wall street that under certain circumstances bonds are exempt from taxation.

"The ruling that brokers engaging in different branches of trade, such as stocks, grain, cotton and real estate, must take out a seperate license for each branch.

"The decision that in the case of future sales on the floor of an exchange the tax is payable on the contract at the time of sale, not of delivery."

DEPEW SPEAKS AGAIN.

He Is Heartily in Favor of a Strong Colonial Policy.

New York, July 1.—The rooms of the republican club were crowded last night with visitors and members to welcome the president of the club, Chauncey M. Depew, after his trip abroad. There were 300 guests.

Mr. Depew told of the recognition he received abroad and how well the club was known there.

After referring to the anxiety over there regarding the war, he said:

"The Englishman understands us very well, but the Frenchman does not know any more about us than does the Chinaman. The victory of Dewey and the heroism of Hobson have done more to still the tide of criticism against us than could possibly be done by any diplomat I know."

He said England held back Germany, Russia, Italy and Austria from interference, and strongly advocated an Anglo-American alliance.

"There is a colonial possession desire," he said. "It is in the blood, and no power can stop it. Though we have entered upon it in haste, we will uphold it with the strong arm of the military and navy. A people of the same intellect and blood are in hearty accord with us in this crisis, for the civilization and humanity of the world."

MME. RHEA OFF THE STAGE.

Attacked by a Malady Which Forbids Further Public Appearance.

New York, June 1.—The Journal and Advertiser prints the following:

"The stage has lost Mme. Rhea forever. The famous tragedienne says so herself in a letter which has just been received in this city. Mme. Rhea sailed for Paris about six weeks ago and the ocean voyage developed a malady of which she had been a victim for years. Three weeks ago she was removed from the apartments of a friend in the Grand hotel, Paris, to the chateau at Montmorency, France. Eminent physicians were summoned to her bedside and they declared that her complaint was incurable.

" 'My doctors impose the utmost quietness and rest,' says Mme. Rhea in her letter, 'and absolutely forbid my even thinking of playing next season. In fact, I can say that I will never act again.'

"Rhea was to have starred in conjunction with Louis James and Frederick Warde for three years, beginning next September. The star triumvirate will, nevertheless, be a reality, as Managers Wagenhals and Kemper late last night engaged Kathryn Kidder, of 'Sans Gene' fame to fill the gap."

HOT AT CHICKAMAUGA.

Troops To Be Moved to the Front as Soon as Possible.

Chickamauga, Ga., July 1.—The intense heat at the park today made drill work rather exhausting, but the regiments were active in all parts of the park. In the First corps the principal drill was that of striking and pitching tents, loading wagons and practicing all that is necessary when an orders comes to leave camp.

Cononel Lee, chief quartermaster, says that every arrangement to send the First corps to the front is about completed and an order to go could be complied with at once. Colonel Lee provided the First division of the First corps with transportation today. He will issue transportation to the Second division tomorrow and Sunday, and on Monday and Tuesday will treat the Third division in like manner. All plans for the movement have been definitely settled. Two brigades will go out each day after the order to move has been received. At this rate the entire corps can be out of the camp and on the way to the front within five days.

The Pullman Dividends.

Chicago, July 1.—The board of directors of the Pullman Palace Car Company today adopted resolutions for a quarterly dividend of $2 per share, payable on and after August 15th, and also a special dividend of $20 per share. The regular dividend to be hereafter declared on the capital stock should, in the opinion of the directors, be at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. They also recommend that the surplus assets of the company to the extent of $18,000,000 existing at the end of the current fiscal year should be distributed to the stockholders of the company, and that for such purpose the capital stock should be increased to the sum of $54,000,000, and that the increase of stock should be issued to shareholders in the ratio of one share for each two held by them.

Boy Crushed to Death.

Thomasville, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—Hugh Davenport, aged fifteen years, a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Davenport, was caught beneath a falling lumber shed at Dekle's sawmill, near this city, today and instantly killed. Several other boys were under the shed with young Davenport at the time, but all escaped injury.

Lightning struck a barn belonging to James S. Smith in this city this afternoon, burning the barn up and killing a horse which was inside.

FORTUNE SWEPT AWAY.

Young Wheat Gambler of Chicago Is in Hard Luck.

Chicago, July 1.—Levi Z. Leiter has completed negotiations with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company for a loan of $3,000,000 for ten years at 4 per cent. The security consists of a number of the most valuable pieces of business property in the city.

In completing the details of the loan, Mr. Leiter informed the agents of the Northwestern that he would probably require further advances of about $3,500,000 or $4,000,000. The money obtained by Mr. Leiter will go toward the liquidation of the debt incurred by his son, Joseph Leiter, in wheat speculation. The share of Joseph Leiter in the immense estate of his father will be nearly if not entirely consumed by his speculation.

Mr. Leiter's notice that he would probably require between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 in loans on his property, is taken to indicate the extent of Joseph Leiter's losses he is compelled to bear, being the excess of the sum of losses in the deal above Joseph Leiter's private fortune, which was variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000, before he began his career on the Chicago board of trade over a year ago.

Patriotic Offer of Ships.

Washington, July 1.—The government is highly gratified at an offer received from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, tendering the war department the fleet of fine freight steamers owned by that company plying between Newport News and Europe, at the actual cost of the vessels, with provision for restoring them to them at the close of the war.

The Laws Are Signed.

Washington, July 1.—The Indian and the sundry civil appropriation bills became laws shortly after 5 o'clock today, when the president affixed his signature.

Watermelon Festival in Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., July 1.—The event of the day at the exposition was the watermelon festival, given by the state of Texas at 5 o'clock. An immense pile of luscious melons of most extraordinary size, which that state had on exhibition in the agricultural building, were given to the visitors by the Texas commissioners.

No Third Call Yet.

Washington, July 1.—It can be stated positively that the president does not contemplate issuing a third call for volunteers within the next two weeks at least, as present plans in all probability will preclude its issuance within a fortnight, if then.

DISCUSSED AT THE ROUND TABLE

Interesting Feature of the Teachers' Association Meeting.

LEADING EDUCATORS TALK

About What Should Constitute College Entrance Requirements.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE REMARKS

Miss Mamie Pitts Spoke of Literature in the Schools—Professor Earnest on Physiology and Hygiene.

Indian Spring, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—The high school teachers' round table was a very interesting feature of the association. The discussion was warm and vigorous. The participants were Professors Hooper and Snelling, of the university; Peed, of Emory; John Gibson, J. M. Pound, Dr. C. A. Nunnally, W. M. Slaton and others.

The subject discussed was what should constitute college entrance requirements at the university, Emory and Mercer.

The contest resulted in clearing the situation in a great degree.

Last evening college entrance requirements for the female college was discussed by Dr. Hammond, and Presidents Cox, Smith, Nunnally and Van Hoose.

Dr. Hammond's address will be given later in the press.

President C. C. Cox said in part:

"The question of uniform requirements in female colleges is more complicated than in male colleges. While three male colleges in the state are readily recognized, there are numerous female colleges of all grades, conditions and surroundings. The education of woman is more complex; equal standards and advantages should be provided for her but not necessarily identical studies, recognizing the principle of equivalence in election. Woman is not 'the lesser man, but diverse;' we speak of man's sphere and woman's sphere, but they are really hemispheres. Woman is in some respects the physical superior of man, because she supports a burden of skirts that would cause a Grecian athlete to swoon, and encases her waist in a coat of mail that would hamper a medieval knight. To equip woman for home, the family, society, she should make special study of literature, history and Bible according to the modern critical and philosophic methods, and she should have opportunities for music, painting and elocution. Then let her attend the great universities.

"Uniform requirements imply first entrance examinations. They may be of the samegrade as in the male colleges. The exit requirements are more important. The northern ideal is to make entrance to college difficult and graduation easy, while the southern ideal is the reverse. We should frame a standard curriculum for colleges. The time limit of a four-year course is not sufficient: there should be specified the studies, grade of text books, and how far they are to be completed. Ultimately, uniform requirements involve a presiding educational board to pass upon the faculty, equipment, curriculum and examinations. A state law should be enacted to protect college degrees.

"In justice to the female colleges, be it said that they are prepared to advance their pupils further than the present courses, that they anticipate the demand for higher standards, and are leading the public sentiment. Many patrons who clamor for higher courses as a theory, choose the short-cut courses.

"As to the advantages of uniformity, there will be little disagreement in opinion. It will be a long step toward system in education. It will differentiate preparatory school, college, university, and confine each to its proper work. It will benefit the colleges in encouraging them to raise standards, in protecting conscientious institutions, in dignifying degrees and commanding public esteem. In sympathetic cooperation, wisdom will be gained for the solution of our common problems. The good accomplished by the New England Association of Colleges was pointed out, especially in stimulating literature studies, and the publication of well-edited English classics. Uniformity will benefit the pupils, as it furnishes graded courses of study, prevents wastage in repeating lower studies, spans the chasm between high school and college, and saves time in passing the student on to the university, professional work and specialism. Uniformity will benefit the public patronage, in that it guides to the selection of a reputable college, teaches the necessity of time, patience and money for real college work, and enlists their appreciative co-operation."

At the conclusion of his address, Professor Cox offered a resolution that a committee be appointed to frame a standard college curriculum.

Professor A. W. Van Hoose, associate president of the Georgia Female seminary, at Gainesville, followed Professor Cox in the discussion. In a few words he strongly advocated the adoption by the female colleges of the state of a uniform system of entrance requirements and pointed out the great difficulties which are now in the way of the best results in the colleges of the state. He admitted that none of the colleges are doing the highest work, because, first, no college in the state has sufficient endowment for such work; second, because the secondary schools are attempting to do the work of the college and giving to young women the idea that they have college training when, as a matter of fact, they have studied the classics and sciences in only a superficial manner. If the colleges will unite in a uniform system of entrance requirements the ideal female college will be established whenever it is needed.

President R. W. Smith was very humorous, as he is always. Among other things he thought:

"Last of all came Satan," Judge Longstreet said. "Give a boy a gun, a dog and a horse and then get a rope to hang him." He has so many distracting influences that he does not generally make the same progress in his books and makes the false impression that girls can excel in learning. I first taught a select school of bad boys, yet found some good ones among them. I next taught a school of girls, and found some devils among them. Next I taught for seven consecutive years boys and girls of equal grades in the same rooms and in the same classes, and thought that their minds were equal. It was after thirty-five years of experience in the schoolroom that I learned the difference. Wise men—not fools—learn in the school of experience, fools learn nowhere. Girls learn the languages and pure mathematics as well as boys. They do not learn physics and applied sciences as mechanics as well as boys. They have the ethical and aesthetic, but not the philosophic or inventive imagination. They do not succeed as inventors. They would not, as a class, make mechanics, nor would it suit their minds or bodies to be perched on church steeples. They are society makers. It is not the higher training of the intellect that prepares them for home-builders and society formers. The mind is divided into the sensibilities, intellect and will. Conscience and love of society are placed among the sensibilities. These should be rightly cultivated, because they give character and trend to conduct and social life. Conscience is the capacity to feel rightness and has in itself an innate impulse to its performance. It is cultivated by yielding to its impulses and then learning from revealed truth what is right.

"Woman's religious nature is stronger than man's, and should be cultivated to fit her for the home. It must be admitted that the curriculum of female colleges is not as high, in some studies, as they are in male colleges. But instead of being inferior, it is, in some respects, superior. Music and art are as important as mathematics, and the higher theoretical music is as hard as calculus and just as important to proper mental training. Male colleges should teach music. It is the divine art—it belongs to God's kingdom. The sinner has no right to the fiddle. Every man should prepare himself for the place and employment that he intends to realize in future Song for the saints—growling and gritting of teeth for the sinner; woman's education then is in line of her future of bliss and praise.

"But just a word as to higher education. The foundation is its most important, if not its all important part, so far as the teacher is concerned. The best teachers become useless to their pupils. They can walk and think for themselves after the foundation is well laid. There is no higher mathematics than arithmetic. It teaches the relations of members, and the higher mathematics, so called, are but different ways or methods or objects to which these relations are applied. Let the colleges all be thorough and embrace all that is most important in their course, and other matters of minor interest will fall in line and the procession will march on to the conquest of ignorance.

Professor T. J. Woofter read an able paper on "State Course of Study."

Miss Mamie Pitts, of Atlanta, commanded the attention and admiration of the house on the subject of "Literature in the Schools."

President Lyman Hall read an able paper on "Manual Training in a State Course of Study."

Professor Earnest was interesting on "Physiology and Hygiene." He thought:

"1. Physiology is one of the most practical studies, as it more than any other contributes directly to self-preservation, and again to increasing the efficiency of the physical and mental activities.

"2. It is of vital importance to those having in charge the training of the young, there being directly dependent upon them teachers and parents alike, the procuring and maintenance of proper sanitary conditions around home and school.

"3. If properly taught, the study may be made widely cultural, contributing to the development of the higher mental faculties and a profounder reverence not only for the body on account of its many beautiful adaptations of means to ends, but also for the skilled designer and loving Father who in us gave His image.

"4. What can be more interesting, more practical, more profitable, more delightful, more easily illustrated, more near at hand, and, therefore, more in accord with the best educational thought of the times than the study of self?"

The convention will finish its business today, elect officers for the ensuing year and adjourn tonight. Our stay here has been socially and intellectually profitable.

CONSOLIDATED LEASES LINE

Will Operate Cars to Lakewood Over the Old Route.

WILL COMMENCE ON JULY 4TH

Atlanta Railway Company Has Operated the Line for Three Years. The Route To Be Taken.

After July 3d the Atlanta Consolidated Street Railway Company will operate the line running from Ormond street to Lakewood. On Sunday the lease which the Atlanta Railway Company has held for three years will expire, and the Consolidated has obtained the grant to run cars to the pleasure resort.

The Consolidated will connect with the branch line on Wyman avenue from Pryor street. This will make a very direct line to Lakewood, and the service is promised as good as that over the other railway.

Ties and rails have been already laid along Wyman avenue by the Consolidated, and it is thought they will commence work there this morning. The Atlanta Railway Company would have taken the lease for another year, but owing to the terms made by the Consolidated to the owners, the contract was awarded to the latter concern.

ROBBED A LITTLE GIRL

Negroes Strike a Child and Take Her Money.

MR. DAN M'NEAL'S DAUGHTER

Police Investigate, but Fail to Catch the Highway Robbers—A Chase on Bicycle.

Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock two negroes knocked a little girl down and boldly robbed her of money which she carried in her hand. The highway robbery occurred near the Neel school, in Edgewood, and the little girl who was assaulted and robbed was a daughter of Mr. Daniel McNeal, a highly respected citizen.

The child, who is not more than six years of age, had been given some money to take to a nearby neighbor and she held it so as that it was exposed to view.

Two negro men met the child, and seeing the money, decided to get it. With a cruelty that was equal to their rapacity, they struck the little girl, knocking her down, and then snatched the money and ran away.

The affair was reported at the police barracks and Officers Lanford, Seals and Cornett made an investigation, but could find no clew which would help them to arrest the negroes.

About half an hour after the robbery was committed Call Officer Chosewood was told that two negroes answering the description of the robbers had been seen on Edgewood avenue. He hastened to the place on his bicycle and saw several blocks ahead the two men who were suspected. There was a chase. The negroes saw the officer and ran. They turned a corner and then dashed across an old field, where they were lost sight of.

THE SECOND GEORGIA TO MOVE.

Expects to Go to Join General Shafter Without Delay.

Georgians will soon be mixed up in the trouble around Santiago. It was learned yesterday that the Second Georgia regiment will probably leave Tampa in two days to join General Shafter's army.

This news comes from Tampa, and while not official, it is regarded as authentic. It is borne out by the fact that the recruiting officers for the Third battalion of the regiment will leave at once for Tampa to join the regiment.

Lieutenant Summers, who has been here in charge of the recruiting station for Major Kendrick's battalion, will leave today, or at latest tomorrow, for Tampa. He goes before completing his work here, which shows that the regiment is ready to move. With Lieutenant Summers are four men who are detailed from the four companies of the Third battalion. These men go with him. They are Sergeant Walter Forbes, of Captain Nash's company; Talbot Smith, of Captain Willcoxon's company; Hugh Gordon, of Captain Barker's company, and Will White, of Captain Howard's company.

These men sent down twenty five recruits for the Third battalion of the Second Georgia yesterday. The men will be divided among the four companies of that battalion.

During the time the recruiting officers have been here they have secured not more than thirty-five men and they needed to get 128.

Colonel Brown's regiment is with the Fourth army corps, which has been ordered away. Major Hunter Liggett, until recently captain of company D, Fifth regiment infantry, has assumed his new position as assistant adjutant general of this corps.

PEACH GROWERS ARE SATISFIED

Ninety-Five Per Cent of All the Shippers Sustain the Central.

THEY WANT THE ARMOUR CARS

Vice President Egan Will Accept Any Refrigerator Asked For.

HIS PATRONS ARE NOT COMPLAINING

Railroad Commission Was Wrought Up Until It Heard Both Sides and Read Letters from Growers.

THE agitation by President John Cunningham over the Central railroad's arrangements for moving the fruit crop has petered out, it is said. The Central shows letters from the growers of 95 per cent of the crop expressing complete satisfaction with the arrangements made and more than that, he offers to handle any kind of cars the dissenting fruit growers want.

Mr. Cunningham was supported in his controversy by Messrs. John M. Stubbs, Marshall Hatcher and John H. Mott.

Neither Mr. Cunningham nor Mr. Stubbs ships over the Central, or if so only a few cars of peaches, it is said. It is stated that the objectors to the Central's arrangement do not ship, all told, 100 cars of fruit and it is even said that ten cars will cover all the peaches shipped over the Central by growers who joined in the complaint.

The state railroad commissioners were stirred up very much about one week ago by receiving a letter from Mr. Cunningham, who charged that the Central was treating the peach growers outrageously and was pursuing a policy which would absolutely destroy the peach industry in Georgia. Colonel Trammell, chairman of the commission, was very much disturbed by the letter. Mr. Cunningham wrote that the Central had refused to admit any refrigerator cars on its system except the Armour line's, and this, it was asserted, prevented competition and forced the growers to pay from $10 to $20 a car more than they otherwise would have to pay. Then it was charged that the Central would not permit the growers to route their cars unless they paid 50 per cent excess rates.

"The truth of the matter is," said Mr. Cunningham, "that unless the railroad commission of Georgia takes a hand and forces the railroad to recede from its unheard-of position the fruit industry in Georgia is doomed."

Called for Quick Action.

This naturally wrought up the commissioners and they declared that it was bad treatment if it was true. Mr. Cunningham stated that the Central had defeated competition in railroad service by forcing the shippers to accept the road's routing. "If the present arbitrary and unjust railroad war against us is carried into effect I believe the effect will be disastrous in the extreme, and that fully one-half of the fruit orchards of Georgia will be cut down by next winter," said Mr. Cunningham in his communication. He went on to say that he knew the commission had no jurisdiction over interstate shipments, but if the board had any power to act he wanted it exercised right away. On this point he said: "If the railroad commission of Georgia, through want of legal authority, is practically useless in defending the citizens of this state from the rapacity of the railroads then we ask you to make the attempt to help us, knowing that if you fail the people of Georgia will know that your body is not to blame, and that you failed simply because the legislature has not conferred the authority upon you. Nothing you could do would demonstrate more strongly the power or the support of the commission, than for you to take up our fight and use every means within your power, either retaliatory or otherwise, to compel the railroads to recede from their arbitrary position."

President Cunningham went on to say that every class of citizens, no matter what their business, felt deeply interested in this contest and assured the fruit growers of their full sympathy.

Undivided Support Promised.

"No matter what steps you may take you will find that you will have the undivided support of the fruit growers and the people at large and as before stated, nothing that could be done will come nearer in showing the power of your commission being so limited than for you to even make a hopeless fight in our behalf, hence we ask and insist that you take such retaliatory steps as you may think proper in order to prevent the railroads in carrying out their present programme."

The commissioners were aroused. They decided to act at once so that the fruit growers would not be long subjected to the tyrannical dictation of the railroad company. Mr. J. M. Egan, vice president of the Central, was notified immediately of the complaint and he was directed to come to Atlanta on July 1st, or otherwise explain his conduct toward the peach growers. Mr. Cunningham informed the commission that he had to go to Chicago to attend to his duties as national president of the American Fruit Growers' Association. He said that Mr. John M. Stubbs would act in his absence. Mr. Stubbs was informed of what was going on and he was asked to wire if he would be in Atlanta on July 1st. That notice was sent out last Tuesday.

Complainants Did Not Appear.

Yesterday the complaint against the Central was taken up. Mr. Stubbs did not appear and nothing was heard from him or Mr. Cunningham. Nor was any one present representing the railroad, but Mr. Egan sent a statement on behalf of the company and accompanying this statement were letters from all the large growers on the line of his road and from most of the smaller growers, expressing perfect satisfaction with the company's plan for shipping the peaches in the Armour refrigerator cars. In the meantime Mr. Egan had stated to the commission that if he were furnished with the names of shippers who wanted some other kind of a refrigerator car he would see that they got it placed just where they ordered it. The only condition he named was that if the car was not used, the orchard owner should pay mileage on it, which is about three-quarters of a cent a mile. He said he did not want to haul cars into the fruit country and have them refused by the man who had ordered them. If the car was loaded with fruit there would be no higher freight on it than for an Armour car.

Best Arrangements Ever Made.

The proposition struck the members of the commission as perfectly fair, they said. Here were letters from the shippers of 1,900 cars of peaches who had stated over their own signatures that they were perfectly satisfied with the Central's contract to furnish them with Armour refrigerator cars. Some of these growers declared that they believed the arrangements for handling this season's crop were the best that had ever been made. None of these shippers complained of the rates or of the Armour cars and the Central promised that if any one was dissatisfied with the Armour cars and preferred another kind, it would be furnished.

The members of the board thereupon talked the matter over among themselves and came to the conclusion that the railroad was not oppressing the peach growers after all. When 95 per cent of them said they were satisfied, the commissioners thought that the arrangements made by the Central for moving the crop must be in the interest of the orchard owners, else they would not write that way.

Hearing nothing more from President Cunningham, the commission addressed him a letter yesterday reciting the facts as set out in Mr. Egan's reply. The letters from the large growers were also sent to Mr. Cunningham, and he was informed that nothing had been heard from Mr. Stubbs.

No Control of Through Traffic.

His attention was also called to a decision rendered last month by the supreme court of Georgia, which said:

"There is no law which confers upon the railroad commission of this state the power to compel a railroad company to make a contract for the shipment of goods beyond the terminus of its own line or to issue a through bill of lading binding such to do so; nor is the fact that a railroad company actually contracts for the shipment and delivery of goods beyond its own terminus to a designated point and issues bills of lading accordingly, when the same are routed over a particular one of its connecting lines, to be treated as unjustly discriminating against other connecting lines because the company first mentioned refuses to issue through bills of lading for the shipment over the latter of goods consigned to the same point of destination."

"This decision," says the commission, "places the matter beyond the control or jurisdiction of this commission, and decides in so many words that this board has not the authority under the law to compel the railroads to become responsible for shipments beyond the termini of their own rails, and leaves us, as far as the law is concerned, absolutely powerless to act in the premises. But, notwithstanding this fact, upon reading the complaints set forth in your letter, the commission was so strongly impressed with the justness of and merits of your case that, with the hope of being able to influence the authorities of the Central of Georgia Railway Company to make concessions which would be to the interest of the shippers, the board called Vice President Egan before it with this view, when he made the proposition above given; and he has since made defense to your charges and complaints by written statements, previously alluded to.

"In view of the fact that Vice President Egan's proposition grants substantially the relief sought in your complaint, and that his showing at least establishes the fact that a great many of the leading fruit men and shippers are not only satisfied with, but highly approve of the arrangement which he has made for the handling of the peach crop, and as the proposition is open for your acceptance, and as Colonel Stubbs has failed to appear before the board, and in view of the further fact as shown by the decision of the supreme court that this commission has no authority to act in the premises for the relief sought, the commission has decided to take no further steps at this time in the matter."

This action of the board and the Central's proposition to dissatisfied growers with the letters from the principal orchard owners no doubt dispose of the agitation.

What the Growers Say.

Among the growers who approved the Armour cars or the Fruit Growers' express, are Messrs. Hale, Rumph, James, Husted and others who are the largest peach growers in the world.

J. H. Hale, of Fort Valley, wrote:

"I think we will have no trouble in getting service in the same satisfactory manner as in the past. Business people who want to do the fair thing generally have no trouble in getting together. Your people have fixed up our track and extended the sidings in a very satisfactory manner and we are in shape to go ahead with the crop in good order."

J. A. Stafford, of Barnesville, wrote:

"The arrangement made by the Central of Georgia with the Fruit Growers' Express Company for handling the peach crop during the season of 1898 is satisfactory to me and I intend using their cars."

Among others heard from were:

E. J. Willingham, Samuel H. Rumph, Rumph & Moore, Marshallville; J. W. Gray, J. B. James, the Dayton Fruit Company, Standard Fruit Company, Moss Lake Fruit Company, Fort Valley Land and Ochard Company, all of Fort Valley; J. B. Husted, the largest grower in Spalding county; H. P. Ogletree, Griffin; J. E. Paullin, Fort Gaines; Webb & Kay, Cuthbert; Rawls, McDonald & Hood, Cuthbert; R. L. Melton, W. H. Mercer, F. A. Ruggles, Dawson; J. W. Roberts, Buena Vista; W. S. Neal Loan and Banking Co. Surplus.

A typographical error yesterday in the table showing the capital and surplus of the different banks in Atlanta caused the statement to be made that the Neal Loan and Banking Company had a combined capital and surplus of $187,000 when it should have been $287,000. The surplus alone of the Neal Loan and Banking Company is $187,600, which is next to the largest surplus held by any bank in Atlanta.

CITY WILL DRESS IN MANY COLORS

Fourth of July Will Bring a Gala Day to Atlanta.

THERE ARE FLAGS GALORE

Nearly Every Building Will Be Beautifully Decorated.

MERCHANTS ARE PUTTING UP FLAGS

Business Blocks Will Be Wrapped in Bunting and the National Emblem.

THE decoration movement has struck the city in earnest and the national colors are going up on every hand. Never before has so much interest been displayed in a like movement, and the Fourth of July will find Atlanta ablaze with bright bunting from center to circumference.

The decorators are having a hard time keeping up with orders, while a number of the business men and merchants, who were unable to secure their services, have gone to work and put up their own decorations, and many pleasing designs have been the result.

The plan suggested by Mr. Harry L. Schlesinger that the occupants of the different office buildings in the city put out flags from their windows has met with popular favor and a large number of professional men and others have signified their intentions of making as fine a display as possible.

People in the residence parts of town have taken a decided interest in the movement and are decorating their homes in a manner that is patriotic and commendable.

As the Fourth of July this year falls on Monday, most of the decorating will probably be done today and Sunday will find nearly all of the decorations in place.

Mr. Schlesinger is as enthusiastic as ever and is still working hard for the success of the scheme, and had this to say when seen yesterday:

"I wish to thank The Constitution and the other papers in the city for assistance rendered in the matter of decorating for the Fourth of July, and to say that I now leave the matter with the business men and the papers, believing that the success of the movement is now assured."

The governor's mansion was elaborately decorated yesterday and presents a very handsome appearance. A large shield bearing the coat of arms of Georgia is suspended over the entrance and flags and bunting are arranged in an unusually tasteful manner about the front of the building.

The following are those who have already decorated:

Atlanta Gas Light Company, Eiseman Bros., the Kimball, Harry L. Schlesinger, George Muse Clothing Company, The Constitution, M. R. Emmons & Co., Hirsch Bros., M. Rich & Bros., Cable Piano Company, Spear & Co., the Globe, Gershon Bros. & Rosenfeld, Eiseman & Weil, Alexander Kreisle, American Steam Laundry, Drs. Carnes & Carnes, chamber of commerce, Lace House, C. P. Johnson, governor's mansion, Atlanta Loan and Investment Company, G. E. Johnson, R. S. Crutcher, Estey Organ Company, King Hardware Company, the Office, R. M. Rose & Co., Tappan & Co., Harry Silverman, the Leyden.

BUNTING ON STATE CAPITOL

Governor Atkinson Starts the Decorators to Work on the Statehouse. Many Flags Displayed.

The decorators began yesterday to put out bunting on the capitol. During the afternoon the north front of the statehouse was as resplendent in national colors as the governor's cravat.

The executive mansion has also been decorated for the Fourth, but some of the handsomest flags will not be put out until Monday, except for a short time today. A flag will float from the top of the mansion today and the interior of the house is handsomely decorated. Governor Atkinson is setting an example. He followed the suggestion in his proclamation.

The governor remarked yesterday that the decorating ought to start today and not leave it all till Monday.

AT THE GRAND.

The matinee performance of the "Arabian Nights" at the Grand today by the stock company promises to be a record-breaker in the history of this place of amusement. "Arabian Nights" is one of the funniest comedies seen upon a local stage. It tells a story that serves for laughing purposes only, and there is never a dull moment on the stage. Miss Gretchen Lyons's songs and dances, in her fetching original costumes, arouse enthusiasm and contribute in no small degree to the pleasure of the entertainment. "Arabian Nights" is a good wholesome, infectious comedy, and one feels all the better for having spent an afternoon or evening so pleasantly and in the society of such funny folks as the play introduces. Tonight the last performance of the "Arabian Nights" will be given. On Monday will come the big scenic naval display, "The Ensign," and the management confidently expects to exceed anything ever done here in the scenic and costume line. The advance sales of seats for the "Ensign" is now progressing.

TO RAISE FLAG ON FOURTH

Employees of Atlanta Machine Works Erect a Pole Seventy Feet High Constructed of Iron.

The employees of the Atlanta Machine works have erected a unique flagstaff and will have a flag raising, with appropriate ceremonies on the 4th of July.

The staff is constructed entirely of iron and measures seventy feet from the copper ball on top to the ground. The lower half is four inches in diameter and the upper half three and a half inches.

SHE SET THE STRAW AFIRE.

Blaze in a Back Yard Which Brought Out the Firemen.

There was a fire alarm from box 15 last night about 9 o'clock. A negro woman had piled up a lot of old straw in her back yard and set it on fire just to get rid of it.

The straw made quite a conflagration and Patrolman Hewell, one of the watchful bicycle officers, sent in an alarm.

Call Officer Chosewood went to the fire and he and Officer Hewell made an investigation which will lead to the arrest of the woman, as it is against the law to build fires in a yard after dark.

Governor Johnston Speaks.

Decatur, Ala., June 1.—(Special.)—While stopping over here tonight on his way to Tuscumbia, where he opens the campaign tomorrow, Governor Johnston spoke to a large crowd in front of the Hotel Bismarck, making an impromptu speech which seemed to meet the approval of his audience.

BOARD WANTS POLICE MATRON

Board of Commissioners Held a Called Meeting Yesterday.

NOT A DISSENTING VOTE CAST

City Council Is Officially Asked To Create the Office.

WILL MISS HOLLOWAY BE RETAINED?

Effort Is Now Being Made To Employ an "Able-Bodied" Woman To Handle Drunken Women. This May Bring on More Talk.

THE BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS held a called, and what pretended to be a secret meeting yesterday, and a resolution was adopted asking the council and aldermanic board to create the office of police matron so the police board could be officially authorized to elect such a person to look after the white female prisoners.

The full board was present, and there was not a dissenting vote.

The resolution was introduced by Chairman Patterson and Captain English voted for it; Mr. Branan voted for it; Mr. George E. Johnson voted for it; Mayor Collier voted for it, and Mr. W. O. Jones voted for it.

Yesterday morning the chief of police sent out notices asking all the commissioners to meet in the office of Captain English in the Fourth National bank. At 6 o'clock yesterday evening they met and the question of a police matron was taken up. In fact, that was all the members of the board had been called together to do.

There was very little discussion. The commissioners seemed to think that the reinstatement of the matron was a foregone conclusion. Mr. Branan did make a motion to ask the city council to create the office of police janitress, but the motion was not considered.

A police matron was wanted and not even a compromise in the shape of a janitress was to be thought of.

It Is All Very Interesting.

This action of the police commissioners is of decided interest when the history of the police matron is considered. Over a year ago the board appointed a matron, and Miss Sue Holloway was selected to fill the position. A few months ago she was voted a salary of $25 a month by the city council. Less than a month ago Police Commissioner Jones introduced a resolution declaring the office of police matron abolished. The only person voting against the resolution was Commissioner Johnson. Messrs. Patterson and Kendrick and Mayor Collier were absent. The chief of police had expressed himself as not favoring a matron at the barracks.

Then the women of Atlanta rose up in arms and a public meeting was held to condemn the action of the police board. The city council passed a resolution creating the office of matron, but the aldermanic board decided that it was best to refer the matter back to the police board. And there the whole thing rested until the police board held the called meeting yesterday afternoon.

Night before last Miss Holloway packed up her effects and yesterday morning she took her departure.

What Will Now Be Done.

When the city council meets an ordinance will be adopted creating the office of police matron and it will be concurred in by the aldermanic board. At the next meeting of the police commissioners a matron will be elected, but it might not be Miss Holloway.

Members of the board who voted to abolish the office of matron have been heard to say that if a matron was chosen she should be an able-bodied woman. Miss Holloway, they say, is a good woman and one whose character is as pure and as noble as can be found, but they contend that a matron at the police barracks ought to look after all the white female prisoners and that it takes a person who is strong and able to handle a woman who is drunk.

But all this may have been answered when Commissioner Branan's resolution asking for a janitress was not considered favorably.

The fact that the police board has rescinded its former action will be welcome news to the ladies and others who took a very decided interest in the matter.

What further action the police board will take, after the council has passed the proposed ordinance, will be closely watched.

THE POLICE MATRON DEPARTS

She Leaves the Barracks to Return No More—Her Little Room Is Now Deserted.

A dray drove up to the barracks, and on it were placed a little old-fashioned trunk, a small writing desk and a few bundles. She told those about the station sergeant's office goodby.

"I have endeavored to do my duty to the city of Atlanta and to God," she said, "and I believe I have accomplished much good. I certainly feel recompensed when I think of the young girls I sent back to their old mothers and fathers, and who were either saved or redeemed from a life of shame. But there were those who could not see the matter in the right light, and I am sorry for them."

Miss Holloway went to the Sheltering Arms, where she will remain a few days.

Her little room in the white female department of the city prison, which was fitted up especially for her, with a matting, a dresser and a single white iron bedstead, had a deserted and rather forlorn appearance after she was gone. An old gray cat, the matron's pet, mewed around the apartment disconsolately.

JUNE BROKE ALL WEATHER RECORDS

The Month Was Hotter Than for Twenty Years Before.

RECORDS ARE BADLY SMASHED

LITTLE RAIN FELL DURING THE MONTH

The Crops Are Badly in Need of Rain and It Is Feared They Will Be Very Short.

JUNE was a record breaker on weather. Not that Atlantians were favored with any more weather, but the temperature was greater than during any June for twenty years, and the precipitation of rain during the month was less than during any June for the same number of years

No day during the month was a record breaker, but the mean temperature shows that June was by far the hottest month known in this city. The absence of rain is really alarming. The crop bulletin, issued every week by the weather bureau, announces that crops of all kinds in all sections of the state are suffering because of the lack of rain, and unless heavy precipitations come during July it is more than probable that the crops, especially cereals and fruits, will be far below the average in both quantity and size.

The following is a record of each day of the month of June, as kept at the weather bureau:

Date	TEMP.			Precipitation in inches and hundredths	Character of Day
	Max.	Min.	Mean
1	88	68	78	.00	Partly cloudy.
2	91	72	82	.00	Partly cloudy.
3	94	71	82	.00	Partly cloudy.
4	94	71	82	.00	Partly cloudy.
5	88	70	79	.00	Partly cloudy.
6	86	69	78	.00	Clear.
7	88	67	78	.00	Clear.
8	91	68	80	.00	Clear.
9	95	72	84	.00	Clear.
10	95	74	84	.00	Clear.
11	91	72	82	.00	Partly cloudy.
12	84	68	76	.34	Cloudy.
13	82	67	74	.05	Cloudy.
14	84	67	76	.11	Partly cloudy.
15	85	68	76	.00	Partly cloudy.
16	88	70	79	.00	Partly cloudy.
17	86	70	78	.08	Partly cloudy.
18	87	70	78	.18	aPrtly cloudy.
19	86	68	77	T	Partly cloudy.
20	90	65	78	.10	Partly cloudy.
21	87	67	77	.02	Clear.
22	87	66	76	.00	Cloudy.
23	90	68	79	.00	Clear.
24	91	71	81	.00	Clear.
25	90	73	82	.00	Partly cloudy.
26	88	73	80	.01	Clear.
27	89	71	80	.00	Partly cloudy.
28	89	69	79	.00	Partly cloudy.
29	90	70	80	.00	Clear.
30	95	68	81	.00	Clear.

From the above record it will be seen that the mean maximum temperature for the month is 89 degrees, while the mean minimum is 69.4 degrees. This makes the mean temperature for June 79.2 degrees, which is much greater than it has been for any month during the past twenty years. Before that time no record was kept of the weather. In June, 1890, the mean temperature for the month was 78.8 degrees, which was the record until June, 1898, smashed it.

1880	76	1890	78.8
1881	78	1891	78
1882	76	1892	76
1883	76	1893	74
1884	71	1894	76
1885	76	1895	77
1886	72	1896	75
1887	76	1897	78 6
1888	75	1898	79.2

The mean temperature of June for twenty years is 76 degrees, which shows that June, 1898, was 3.2 degrees over the average. The average excess of daily mean temperature during the month was 3 degrees and the accumulated excess of daily mean temperature since January 1, 1898, is 262 degrees. In other words, the year 1898 is 262 degrees ahead of the accumulated temperature of any previous year. The average daily excess since January 1, 1898, is 1.4 degrees.

In rain June was far below the average in precipitation. Only .89 of an inch of rain fell during the month. In 1890 1.12 inches of rain fell during the month of June, and this was the lowest on record until the statistics for June, 1898, were completed. The average precipitation of rain during June for twenty years is 4.12 inches, which makes the total deficiency in precipitation during June, 1898, 3.23 inches.

The accumulated deficiency in precipitation of rain since January 1, 1898, is 12.05 inches, which means that this station is behind more than one foot of water. The matter is considered serious and the farmers are fearful for the crops. Mr. J. B. Marbury, the weather observer, stated yesterday that he saw no prospect for rain and it is not known how long the drought will last.

The following is a comparative statement showing the total precipitation, in inches, of rain during the month of June for the past twenty years:

1879	3.20	1889	5.03
1880	3.57	1890	1.12
1881	2.46	1891	4.71
1882	3.22	1892	4.65
1883	2.31	1893	4.65
1884	10.73	1894	1.29
1885	4.83	1895	4 87
1886	8.68	1896	6.66
1887	2.82	1897	2.07
1888	4.71	1898	.89

ATLANTA, GA., July 2, 1898.

A Word to City Tax Payers.

The day will soon come when circumstances will compel the people of Atlanta to take some necessary steps in the direction of real economy—in the direction of real progress. These steps may be postponed for awhile, though there is no reason why they should be, but the longer they are postponed the more necessary they become.

In all parts of the country there are movements in behalf of municipal reform. A more definite acquaintance with the details of municipal government in the old world has evidently convinced the people that there is something wrong in the government of American cities. The citizens of Glasgow, in Scotland, pay hardly any taxes at all; the city derives its revenues from the public utilities which, in most American cities, feed and fatten on the people.

A movement of reform and retrenchment must be begun in Atlanta sooner or later. We are on the eve of a municipal election; a mayor and council are soon to be chosen. Therefore, why not begin the discussion of these important matters now? Why not make inquiries of those who are ambitious to serve the city, and discover how they stand on matters that vitally affect the taxpayers of the municipality.

A comparison will show that while Atlanta is ahead of some of her sister cities in some important particulars, she is behind them in many matters equally, if not more, important. The town is ahead of some of them in the matter of spending money.

A comparison will show that, in proportion to population, the taxpayers of Atlanta are spending more money for public utilities than almost any city in the United States. Why should this be so? Simply because the voters and taxpayers have permitted it to be so. We seem to be a very patient and long-suffering people. We elect municipal governments year after year without so much as asking those who apply for office what they propose to do when they are elected. Councilmen who are elected "dry so," as the saying is, just because they happen to be hustlers, or because the people vote them in as a matter of habit, are not likely to feel under very strong obligations to the taxpayers. It is the rarest thing in the world for a candidate for either branch of our municipal legislature to set forth the policy he intends to pursue, and when he does, it is a mere perfunctory statement to the effect that he "will look carefully after the interests of the people."

The result of all this is that the city seems dedicated to a policy of municipal extravagance that has probably no parallel in any city in the country with the same, or approximately the same, population.

Why should the people rise up and abuse council for this sort of extravagance? Silence is said to give consent, and are not the taxpayers silent about it? Have they ever protested against it? The majority of them seem to look on the city government as a huge machine which was invented to oppress them and from which there is no escape. Let us put the responsibility where it belongs. The taxpayers are responsible, and it is idle to talk about reform so long as the taxpayers rest quietly.

The taxpayers of Atlanta will wake up after awhile, and then there will be a tremendous rattling among the dry bones. But how long first? How long before the people of Atlanta will realize that their municipal government is precisely what they make it, and that it touches their vital interests more closely than any other division of the government under which they live?

In spite of the fact that taxation has been reduced from 11-2 to 11-4 per cent, every branch of public service in Atlanta costs the taxpayers more than the same branches of service cost the taxpayers of other cities with approximately the same or a slightly larger population. Why is not the present a good time for the people to take a livelier interest in municipal affairs, and discover for themselves what is to be the policy of the new city legislature which they are shortly to elect? Why is not the present a good time to demand from candidates for mayor and council a declaration of their intentions with respect to those municipal reforms which are so necessary?

The whole matter is in the hands of the people. There will be reform when they demand it, and not before.

Editor Stovall Protests.

Another of Mr. Cleveland's most devoted admirers has lifted a hand to rebuke him. This time it is Editor Stovall, of The Savannah Press, who protests against the ex-president's ponderous platitudes about the demoralization of war. The rebuke is keenly and effectively delivered, for not only is the Cleveland attitude always a full and fair target, but Editor Stovall is armed with a sharp pen.

The rebuke, however, will not prevent a repetition of the comical display. It will go on as long as Mr. Cleveland is able to raise his voice in a public place. Take from him the inestimable privilege of seizing upon the thoughts and ideas that have been used millions of times before and developing them into strings of dreary platitudes, and you deprive him of his chief stock in trade.

Mr. Cleveland says war is demoralizing and disorganizing, and the cheap platitude is expected to thrill the cuckoos. Editor Stovall refuses to be thrilled; on the contrary, he wants to know why Mr. Cleveland indulges in such talk at this time. Well, the ex-president, if compelled to answer, could only say that he had heard the statement made before, and thought it would be safe to repeat it.

But the statement is only a half-truth. All wars are not demoralizing. On the contrary, it sometimes happens that those who are engaged in war are ennobled by it. Our war for independence was not demoralizing. It caused bloodshed, misery and various forms of suffering, but it was not demoralizing if we are to give a broad meaning to the word. It was a war for human liberty, and it gave new hopes and new ambitions to men the world over. Demoralizing! It lifted man to a higher stature than he had ever before reached, and out of the smoke of the guns rose this grand republic—this marvelous edifice dedicated to the freedom of man.

The present war was undertaken for humane purposes. The Maine disaster merely served as a spur to the administration. It has proceeded thus far and has had some results not foreseen, but where is the demoralization which it has occasioned? Is there any demoralization in this country? Is there any demoralization in Cuba that did not exist there before the United States undertook to drive the Spaniards out.

"How can I be good if you look like that?" said the little girl at Sunday school to her teacher, whose face was marked by pretentious and solemn sanctimoniousness. This is the attitude of Editor Stovall, and of all thoughtful people, toward Mr. Cleveland's platitudes. A platitude is respectable when it is true; but it is insufferable when only half true. And it is not true that all wars are demoralizing.

Free Delivery in the Rural Districts.

The additional appropriation which congress has lately made for extending its test of the rural free mail delivery system will undoubtedly produce good results. Up to the present time experiments have been made from one hundred and forty different post-offices in the east and west, and in every case the results have been most satisfactory.

One of the chief objections heretofore urged against living in the rural districts has been grounded upon the lack of adequate postal facilities; but when the comparative isolation thus occasioned is overcome by the universal extension of the free mail delivery system there will be witnessed the spectacle of thousands flocking to the rural districts from the cities instead of the spectacle of thousands flocking to the cities from the rural districts.

This is what the country has long needed, and in justice to the farmers, it ought to have been put into effect years ago. As it is now, the farmers in order to get the mails are frequently compelled to neglect their crops and to go for miles over the country roads to the nearest postoffice. This subjects them to great inconvenience and naturally deters others from seeking homes in the rural districts. But when the free mail delivery system is put into effect the attractiveness of the rural districts will increase tenfold. Other improvements will rapidly follow suit, and in the course of time the rural districts will measure advantages with the cities in almost every respect. May the day soon come.

The Area of the War.

The present war with Spain is likely to be distinguished for the amplitude of its operations as well as for the character of its results.

When hostilities formally commenced in April last with the peaceful blockade of Havana by Admiral Sampson's fleet it was generally thought that the seat of war would be restricted chiefly to the immediate neighborhood of Cuba. This supposition grew naturally out of the logic of the situation at the time. Since the independence of Cuba was the object at which the United States aimed in its declaration of hostilities, it seemed that the first step in consequence of that action was to land troops in Cuba and to proceed at once to eliminate the power of Spain therefrom.

But the dimensions of the war have considerably outgrown this original conception; and instead of being restricted chiefly to the immediate neighborhood of Cuba, its area has projected itself into both hemispheres. Indeed, the first decisive stroke of the war occurred in Manila harbor, seven thousand miles distant from San Francisco, and more than ten thousand miles distant from Cuba. If anyone had predicted two weeks before the fight in Manila harbor occurred that the stars and stripes would be floating in that quarter as the result of the war for Cuba's independence, it is certain that he would have been looked upon as the wildest dreamer. But the fact, nevertheless, remains that the first effective blow of the war has been struck on the other side of the globe.

When the time arrived for the next strategic move, it was made at San Juan, on the island of Porto Rico, one thousand miles from Havana. This consisted in the bombardment of the fortifications at San Juan by Admiral Sampson with the results which are already well known.

While the battle of Santiago must be put down as the next decisive stroke of the war, bringing the scene of hostilities back to Cuba for the first time, it is, nevertheless, given out on what appears to be good authority, that the plan of the government is to carry the war into Spain and to checkmate the designs of Admiral Camara in leaving Cadiz for the Philippines. Thus it appears that the war with Spain has not only exceeded by far the estimates originally put upon its area, but that in fact it surpasses in this respect any former war ever waged upon the globe.

The Torpedo Boat.

The Chicago Times-Herald makes the point that the present war with Spain has served to conclusively demonstrate the inefficiency of the torpedo boat for defensive operations.

Two instances in point are cited. First, the attempt which was made by two Spanish torpedo boats in the battle of Manila to play havoc with Admiral Dewey's squadron. Rapid fire was opened upon them with the result that both were completely riddled. Second, the attempt which was lately made by the Spanish torpedo boat Terror to destroy the American auxiliary cruiser St. Paul. As the result of the brief engagement which occurred between these two vessels, the former was so completely disabled that it will probably never again be fit for use.

For defensive operations in stealing upon vessels unawares and in playing the part of the assassin, The Chicago Times-Herald is disposed to think that the torpedo boat may yet be of service in time of hostilities; but for other purposes it is strongly of the opinion that the torpedo boat has failed to fulfill the expectations of its projectors, and that revolutionary changes are destined to occur in this branch of naval construction as the outgrowth of the present war.

Health Reports from Cuba.

There is intense gratification in the reports which have lately come from the front stating that the American troops are in splendid condition despite the severe climate, and that only the merest handful of invalids are on the disabled list.

On account of the lateness of the season there was ample cause for entertaining grave fears in regard to the welfare of the troops. Exchanging the mild atmosphere of the temperate zone for the oppressive heat of the tropics, it seemed almost inevitable that large numbers of them would either succumb to malaria or else prove unable on account of exhaustion to endure the hardships of the field. Consequently, the reports from the front create some measure of surprise, while at the same time they carry unspeakable happiness to the hearts of anxious thousands.

Of course something is due to the robust physical strength of the individual soldiers themselves, and to the fact that the best of sanitary regulations have been observed in camp, but even more, perhaps, is due to the fact that the rigors of the climate in that quarter have been exaggerated. Even the protracted rains which the popular imagination has dwelt upon with such alarm for several weeks past have failed to materialize, except to the extent of several opportune showers which have been more acceptable than otherwise. Everything considered, there seems to be little ground for uneasiness in regard to the welfare of the troops on the score of sanitation or climate. Out of 20,000 troops in the close vicinity of Santiago de Cuba the reports state that barely more than one hundred are on the sick list. Better results could hardly be expected, even under the most favorable circumstances.

Perhaps it is true that the season is not sufficiently far advanced to really test the capacity of the troops for enduring the climate, but with the assurance that the heat is by no means so intolerable as represented, and that the best of medical skill is in attendance upon the hospitals to minister to the needs of disabled soldiers, it must be admitted that comparatively little cause for apprehension exists.

The suggestion to use Grosvenor as an airgun is received with great favor in Ohio, where his capacity is known.

Bland, of Missouri, is of the opinion that it will be time enough for the democrats to make a declaration on the proposed policy of expansion when the war is over.

The barbed wire fence is the newest problem of the war.

If the Spaniards propose to burn all the towns they evacuate in Cuba there'll be few houses left on the island.

A wounded Cuban—and a negro at that—died with the cry of "Live, free Cuba!"

Weyler wants to be sent back to Cuba. Let us hope his request will be granted.

CAUGHT AT RANDOM.

The battle of Manila has caused an advance of 80 to 100 per cent in the price of hemp.

The Philippines lie wholly within the tropics, reaching at the south to within four and a half degrees of the equator.

It is not generally known that Admiral Cervera, the commander of the Spanish fleet at Santiago de Cuba, was a naval attache in Washington about fifteen years ago.

Brigadier General Joseph K. Hudson, commander of the Kansas volunteer troops, was the founder of The Topeka Capital, now one of the leading republican papers of the state.

Brigadier General John I. Rodgers, who is mentioned as the next commanding officer of the department of the east, is said to be the best posted man in the army on the subject of heavy artillery.

A sheet containing war news, condensed from the newspapers each morning and printed at the printing office of the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., is passed into the cell of each prisoner at 2 o'clock every afternoon.

The condition under which British sailors and soldiers live are more sanitary now than in the past. In 1865 more than eleven deaths occurred in every 1,000 men afloat, while ten years later the number fell to 6.8, in 1885 to 5.4 and in 1895 to 4.4. In the army the figures are not quite so satisfactory.

Shot from Ambush.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 1.—(Special.)—About 11 o'clock last night John Young, a miner, was shot from ambush by unknown parties and instantly killed a short distance from here. Young was returning home at the time. He was shot several times in the head and neck. No clew to the guilty parties.

LAST CONFERENCE BEFORE THE LANDING.

Written by The Constitution's Staff Correspondent and Mailed from the Fleet off Santiago.—The plans for debarkation have been completed in such a rush that one is dazed in trying to crowd it all into one short newspaper dispatch, but that is just what must be done in order that the more portentious movements that are to follow may be understood. It has been a consolidation of more or less conflicting interests into one definite and positive plan of campaign, and nothing short of imperative orders from Washington will halt the progress of that campaign or turn it aside a hair's breadth. The conflicting interests conflicted only because each had a different idea as to the best method of accomplishing the same result. The navy took one view, the army another and the rag-tag representatives of the insurgents a third. Each wanted the credit of leading the invading forces or of taking the chief part in striking the first effective blow at the enemy on this side of the globe. The result of a long conference between these three active branches of the anti-Spanish belligerents is that honors are to be evenly divided at the start, and that individual prowess is to distribute further honors in the future, which seems to be entirely fair and satisfactory all round.

The conference of commanding officers which was assembled by order of General Shafter on the Seguranca was in session until nearly midnight. The navy was represented by Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley, the army by Major Generals Shafter and Wheeler and the insurgents by General Calixto Garcia and Juan Castillo. With them were all the brigadier generals and several of the regiment commanders, and the whole made a group that filled the flagship's main cabin. It was a picturesque and warlike group, too, the officers bending over the big, map-covered center table talking, gesticulating and moving about in an excitement that was contagious. The first news that leaked out into the eager crowd on the after deck was the authorized announcement that it had been determined to land the troops at the little Spanish port of Baiquiri, fifteen miles to the eastward of Santiago.

In an instant every man hustled into his stateroom for his map of the Cuban coast and every eye was turned upon the little dots upon them labeled Baiquiri. They were not much more than dots in actual fact, but there was room for hours of study in the stretch of hills that reached between them and Santiago city. The army draughtsmen were set to work enlarging the diagrams so as to show every road and stream in the territory mentioned and the ship which had been so quiet a half hour before became a line of effervescent energy. The score or more of diplomatic representatives on board brought out copying paper and pens and ink and set themselves to drawing the enlarged maps of the country to be invaded with an industry that one would not be likely to credit them with. They took possession of all the tables, and some sprawled out on the decks. It looked like a big school in negligee session, except that the scholars worked too hard to make the illusion perfect. It was somewhat odd to see a big and burly Norwegian sketching away as though his life depended on it by the side of a busy-fingered little Japanese, while a French count pushed his pencil vigorously over the paper near by.

Others on board fell over each other as they rushed about getting their belongings together preparatory to debarkation. Newspaper men and diplomats alike had ignored the fact that orders to land might come at any moment, and had scattered their things from one end of the ship to the other. I saw Colonel John Jacob Astor tear along the port side, picking up a book here, a pair of marine glasses there, and a camera somewhere else, dumping them all finally into a hammock which he had improvised into a sort of carry-all. Richard Harding Davis, no less excited, stood in the cabin with an unaddressed letter in his hand while the mail boat tossed and plunged in the troubled waters a few yards away.

"Hurry up, Dicky," called out the officer in charge of the postal affairs.

"I'm troubled," said Mr. Davis. "I've got a bully good newspaper story here, and I'm a correspondent for two papers. One is a weekly and one is a monthly. If the mail is quick enough I ought to send it to the weekly. If it is slow I can market it with the monthly. I wish I knew—."

But by that time the mail boat was steaming toward Jamaica, and Mr. Davis's story will probably not appear at all.

Not only on the flagship, but on every other vessel in the fleet final preparations for going on shore began as soon as the orders were signaled to them. They flashed back brief information as to the state of affairs on board, and the net result showed that thirteen men were sick enough to be in the hospital ship, that three were seriously ill, (of what complaint I do not know) and that eighteen horses had died. Every transport took occasion to advise General Shafter that if he wanted to disembark any live animals he would have to reach shore quick, but the advice was totally unnecessary. Thinking about horses has kept the general awake for the past three days. Toward dusk all the boats steamed up close to the flagship, and the cruisers belonging to Admiral Sampson's squadron formed a defensive and offensive fringe on the outskirts. Heavy clouds began to gather overhead, and at 6 o'clock the rain poured down in torrents. A water spout formed just off the port quarter of the Indiana, but that resourceful vessel shot a couple of shells into the unwelcome visitor and shattered its fighting qualities almost before we had an opportunity to photograph it. Then the wind increased in velocity until the awnings on the transports were blown to shreds, and the fleet rocked and rolled and pitched in the darkness of a real tropical storm. The Cuban coast disappeared behind the heavy veil of falling water.

It was midnight when the conference of the commanding officers closed, and the weary-eyed men came out of the cabin with hands full of maps and official papers. General Shafter, big and jolly, escorted General Garcia, attenuated and silent, and General Wheeler walked with Admiral Sampson. Shafter and Garcia are good friends. The former, with a number of newspaper correspondents, went on shore the day before at Aguadores, about fourteen miles west of Santiago, and had a long chat with the veteran insurgent commander. I understand that the latter gave assurance that Shafter could depend on the aid of 11,000 insurgents in Santiago province, and that he furnished satisfactory proof of the correctness of his statement.

ROBERT B. CRAMER.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Good Foundation Now.

Editor Constitution—I beg to inquire into the advisability and economy of using a concrete foundation for the proposed asphalt paving on Washington street, bids for which are invited and are to be opened July 4th.

In street paving the purpose of the concrete is to secure an artificial foundation where a natural one does not exist.

Washington street is underlaid by a formation that is an ideal one for a subfoundation when properly protected from surface water, as it will be when the asphalt is laid.

In addition to this excellent sub-foundation this street has already upon it a covering of from twelve to fifteen inches of granite macadam, which has been thoroughly compacted and bonded by from ten to fifteen years of traffic thereon.

Considering the good character of the sub-foundation and the thoroughness with which the present macadam is bonded together it seems that there is little, if anything at all, to be gained by removing the material now on the street and placing in its stead a concrete foundation six inches thick.

By removing two or three inches of the present covering, then dressing and rolling with a heavy roller a foundation will be obtained which will answer all purposes as well as if a concrete foundation were laid, resulting in a saving of from 75 to 80 cents per square yard to the city and property owners.

Other cities have adopted this method, where practicable, and have secured satisfactory results.

D. LEE WARDROPER.

The Flag and the Fourth.

Editor Constitution—The several concentric circumstances around patriotism impels me to give testimony as a student of science. It will be recalled that after our revolutionary war no American ever felt the necessity of defending the right of that war. It was so natural and free from doing injustice to any that the revolutionary cause commended itself to all.

Had the north in our last war been as well acquainted with southern character and institutions as it now is, all that useless loss of life would have been averted. Had some of the fanatics attempted to have a church where social equality should prevail before the war instead of after, they might have learned before it was too late. However, as man is what his surroundings make him, a southerner by the accident of training, might have done the same thing and two such changes might have changed the sides upon which Lee and Grant fought.

Captain Crider, of this city, formerly a scout under Stonewall Jackson, once said to a union officer: "It was under the stars and stripes that I wanted to fight you, and it was a mistake that we didn't do it." I have heard the same sentiment expressed by others.

I hold that the stars and bars more nearly represented the revolutionary spirit during the sixties than did the stars and stripes, and that at the present time old glory is nearer a successor, in the principles it represents, of the stars and bars than of itself during the time it was conquering American states.

On the occasion of the confederate parade in New York a union soldier in an article in one of the metropolitan papers laboriously endeavored to show how wrong it would be to admit the rebels to equal rights in the parade. The return of Fitzhugh Lee and Joe Wheeler from Cuba would show to all what the thoughtful have seen for years—that that writer's position was wholly untenable and was as much against nature as it would be for one Anglo-Saxon to force his opinions down the throat of another.

However patriotic may be the ex-confederates in their present efforts against Spain, they will never be higher than when they followed the stars and bars. And since the present soldier boys can be accounted successors to their fathers of thirty-five years ago, so should also the Daughters of the Confederacy be the leading spirits in supplying them comforts. As the two flags are blended in principle, so also let it be shown that all of the south is to be a part of the history of our great country.

Let the stars and stripes and the Fourth of July be reverenced in connection with confederate valor as well as symbols of our united country.

HENRY HARTWELL TARVER.

Senator Harris, of Kansas.

Editor Constitution—I enclose a clipping from The Washington Star as follows:

"A good deal has been said about the youth of some of the volunteer soldiers who responded to the calls of the president for troops for the war with Spain. Several of these volunteers have been referred to as the youngest of these 200,000 men, but the distinction of being the most youthful of this great army probably belong to Craig Harris, the son of Senator Harris, of Kansas. In volunteering his services at an early age Craig Harris has only followed in the footsteps of his father, Senator Harris having entered the union army during the civil war when eighteen years old."

Something of the true history of the junior senator from Kansas, is worth knowing just at this time. Colonel Harris was a valiant confederate soldier and a member of General Lee's official family. After the war he settled in Kansas, where, in 1892, at the populist convention held at Witchita, in that state, by the unanimous vote of all the old union soldiers who were delegates, he was made the standard bearer as congressman-at-large, who led the hosts from under 82,000 republican majority and took the state from the republican column in 1897. He was chosen United States senator by the same party. Bleeding Kansas first in war, first in peace and first to send a confederate soldier to represent her in the halls of congress. Will Georgia be second on the list to place a stringer across the chasm of which we hear so much? We hope so.

S. S. HITE.

Life in the Mountains.

From The Dahlonega, Ga., Nugget.

Last Monday John Shubird came to town pretty well loaded down both externally and internally with pure mountain dew. John went to several citizens trying to sell them some of it, which he had hid out somewhere close by. Among those he visited was Merchant McMuire, who is a strict member of the church and a prohibitionist. Doubtless the man believed that he would find a ready sale for a portion of his liquor here, but he missed it. The liquid seemed to be a dull sale. He didn't want to take it back and we suppose that he decided to drink it up himself, for it wasn't long until he was in a weaving way and a fit subject for the calaboose. Marshal Davis, who is not quite seven feet from top to bottom, grabbed him and started off to the 'boose like a cat carrying her kitten. The man was friendly and full of fun. He wanted to dance. The marshal let him down and he gave a free concert by cutting the pigeon's wing to the delight of all present. Then the journey to the lockup was resumed and it was not long before he was safe behind the big iron door. After the man looked around at the interior of the prison awhile his tune soon changed and he cared to shake his limber legs no more. While the marshal was gone to tell the mayor what he had done and to plead for the young man, telling him that he had learned that he was both fatherless and motherless and that his only brother—a twin—was dead, the prisoner began to pray, asking the Lord to send some one with water to cool his parched lips and to cause the door to swing wide open so that he might gain his freedom and enjoy a cool breeze once more.

Prayer Broke the Drought.

hFrom The Washington Post.

"It was awfully dry in Georgia once," remarked Mr. George Dallas. "There had been no rain for weeks, and the corn and cotton were burning up in the fields. The creeks had begun to dry up, and even springs that had never been known to fail gave signs that their supply of the aqueous fluid was running low. It began to look as though relief could never come from the heavens. Day after day a blazing sun shone down from a cloudless sky, blistering and withering all vegetation and oppressing the hard working sons and daughters of the land with a fear that distress would soon be their portion—distress that might take on starvation's form.

"About this time the religious people of the county began to hold prayer meetings to invoke assistance of the Deity. In every community the good old farmers and their families assembled to pray for rain. This was at an epoch when the scientific ideas about producing rain from explosives had not gained a foothold, and no fakirs went about, as they lately have done in Kansas and other parts of the west, offering to bring showers at so much per shower.

"No, indeed; these were the times of simple faith and belief in the efficacy of supplication to the Omnipotent. In one neighborhood in the county of Coweta, where the drought was particularly severe, a prayer meeting had been called for a certain day, and at the time appointed a congregation of several hundred sufferers met to beg that the drought be broken. It chanced that a new preacher, who had but lately come to that section, and who was, as I remember, an exponent of the 'hard shell' Baptist creed, was called upon to make the principal petition.'

"He prayed fervently and with all the fervor of an agonized spirit. 'O Lord,' said he, 'Thou knowest our distress. We beseech Thee, come to our rescue. Lord, we won't want any of your little drizzle-drozzles, but send us instead a gully-washer, a trash-mover and a pine knot floater. Amen.'

"I hope I may never gain pardon for my faults in the next world if there didn't come within the next thirty-six hours after the delivery of that prayer the biggest rain that had ever descended on Coweta county. The oldest inhabitant couldn't remember such another deluge. It rained about three days without stopping; washed two-thirds of the fences through a big region into the Chattahoochee river; swept away every bridge, and played havoc generally. And the worst of it was that those miserable countrymen who had incited the preacher to pray his best wanted to drum him out of the country because of the emphatic response to his entreaty for rain."

Hugging Governor Candler.

Mr. R. O. Howard, of Muscogee, a delegate to the state convention, says that one of the most unique instances ever witnessed in the convention hall was that which took place yesterday when Mr. Candler concluded his speech. An old gentleman from the country, presumably an old confederate veteran, listened intently to what the next governor had to say. The governor's speech was a very eloquent one, and when he concluded the rural gentleman walked slowly down the center isle of the convention hall, mounted the rostrum and threw his arms affectionately about the body of Georgia's next governor. Colonel Candler reciprocated his affections by returning the hug and the convention went wild over the incident. The old gentleman was not a member of the convention, simply a spectator who came to see the thing well done and decided himself to put the finishing touches upon it.

Inverted Patriotism.

From The Detroit Free Press.

Dudler is intensely patriotic. His friends have been aware of this for some time, so when he purchased a large flag and proceeded to raise it over his house they were not surprised.

It was dark before Dudler succeeded in getting everything ready and the flag hoisted, and with the remark that there would be a surprise in the neighborhood when the morning dawned, he went inside.

But it was Dudler who was surprised on the following morning. When he stepped out upon his porch he found that every window in the neighborhood had an angry occupant. Even the old maid who lived next door had drawn her lace curtains aside, and when Dudler appeared shook her fist at him.

"I'll move out of this neighborhood as soon as I can find another house," muttered Dudler to himself, "I won't live in such a nest of Spanish sympathizers."

Then a stranger came along, looked up at the flag and immediately pulled off his coat and wanted to fight Dudler.

What the outcome would have been is a matter of speculation, for at this point a policeman arrived on the scene, gave one look at the flag and ordered Dudler to haul it down.

"Wh-a-at?" gasped Dudler.

"Take it down," ordered the policeman, "or I'll run you in."

This was too much. Dudler was proceeding to pull off his coat, preparatory to fighting the whole police force, when he stopped long enough to take one look at the beloved flag he was about to defend. Then he wilted. Old Glory was upside down!

Dudler apologized, righted his beloved flag and peace reigned once more in the neighborhood.

Good Work of the Convention.

From The Griffin, Ga., News and Sun.

After nominating the candidates who had already been selected by the people at the primaries, the democratic state convention of Wednesday did some very important work in very short order, which may be succinctly stated as follows:

It reindorsed the uniform primary.

Committed itself to the blanket form of ballot.

Declared for the selection of future nominees for the United States senate by the primary vote of the people.

And ordered a consolidation hereafter of the primaries for statehouse officers and justices of the supreme court.

Rains in North Alabama.

Decatur Ala., July 1.—(Special.)—The condition of crops throughout this section is excellent since the fine rains during the latter half of the month. For seven weeks there was scarcely any rain. Bountiful rainfalls began, however, on the 15th inst., almost torrents in many parts of Tennessee valley, including Lawrence, Cullman, Morgan and Limestone counties, and going in all directions. As a consequence crops of all descriptions give promise of a more bounteous yield that for years past. Corn and cotton are advanced in growth, and wheat and oats are being harvested with phenomenal yield. Small crops and fruit and vegetables are yielding enormously.

RELEASED ON HABEAS CORPUS

Judge Reid Gives Henry Fleming, of 7th Massachusetts, His Freedom.

SENT TO CHAINGANG BY MAYOR

Burned a Hole in a Blanket While in the Calaboose—Became Disorderly in Oakland.

On a habeas corpus proceeding Judge Reid, of the city court, yesterday released Henry I. Fleming from the county chaingang, where he had been sentenced to serve a term of thirty days. Fleming is a member of the Seventh Massachusetts regiment United States volunteers, and for a trifling offense committed in the corporation of Oakland he had been tried and committed to the county chaingang.

On June 16th Fleming, it is alleged, although he denies it, became boisterous and disorderly in the town of Oakland and was arrested. He was tried an' fined $3 and costs. He was then stationed at the post and with others was passing through the little suburb. It is said that he had nearly reached the entrance to the post when arrested. He was out of money and was unable to pay the fine imposed upon him.

He was recommitted to the calaboose and held there. The next day he laid down on his cot and struck a match to light a cigar. Instead of putting the match entirely out before it left his fingers, he threw it into a corner where an old blanket lay and the blanket caught fire.

A hole was burned in it about a foot square, it is alleged. When this was learned Fleming was again carried before the mayor, Mr. E. C. Jones, and when the evidence was made known Mayor Jones imposed a fine of $15 or a term of thirty days in the county chaingang. Fleming was unable to pay this fine and was sent, upon the authority of the mayor, to the county chaingang, and, it is said, he remained there ten days before the habeas corpus proceedings were taken out.

Keeper Donelson kept the prisoner at the chaingang and released him upon the decision of Judge Reid yesterday. Last night Fleming left to join his regiment, which is now before the mountains around Santiago, as it was in the first expedition to go with General Shafter.

The mayors of the little towns are assuming the power that is vested in the city criminal court and the superior court, it is said. It is said that they have no lawful right to send an offender to the county chaingang, but have the power that is vested in the police court of Atlanta, namely, to place the guilty ones on the public works of the corporations in which the offense is committed.

A HERO OF YESTERDAY.

John Temple Graves Embalms the Living Hero of Chapultepec.

In his brief speech before the Georgia Woman's Press Club Hon. John Temple Graves told on the spur of the moment a beautiful and notable story—a true story, which embalms the heroism and surpassing chivalry of a gallant gray veteran now living in Atlanta.

In a happy and appropriate allusion to current affairs Mr. Graves said:

"This is an era of heroes. We are glorifying the prowess of Dewey and Hobson and Blue and crowning them with immortal memories. And this is right. The appreciation of heroes produces heroes. Men do not mind risking life for a country that will remember the daring. And the time to recognize heroes is while they live, not after they are dead. Let us remember our present heroes while they are with us, and let us not now or ever forget the heroes yet living whose prowess glorified an earlier day.

"There is a hero and a knight of chivalry in this hall tonight. Let me tell you the splendid story which his modest lips have never told:

"The war with Mexico is a part of our martial history. Taylor and Scott and Davis and Lee came out of it immortal. The epic of that great struggle was the storming of Chapultepec. That frowning fortress was the Gibraltar of Mexico. Its massive walls seemed impregnable. But American daring halted at no obstacles and an intrepid band of volunteers was chosen to scale and assault it.

"Among the first of the dauntless few who braved their way through shot and shell to the fortress on that dreadful day was a young Mississippian, handsome as Alcibiades, proud, confident and thrilling with patriotic fervor. He was among the first if not the first to scale the wall, and, sword in hand, dashed along that storm-swept rampart in advance of all his fellows to cut down the waving flag of the enemy and reap the immortality of the deed. He was the first to reach the flag; his sword was raised, when he heard swift footsteps behind him. He paused, turned and saw his commanding officer, to whom he was tenderly attached and deeply obligated.

"And then this gallant Mississippian, without a moment's hesitation, with the bow of a Chesterfield, halted, lowered his sword and with the point at rest, stood aside while his friend and commanding officer cut down the flag of Mexico and was bulletined for the laurels of that splendid day.

"In the history of battles there was never more gallant, more chivalric deed than that. And the real hero of Chapultepec, maimed and gray, but glorious, sits just before me here tonight in the person of my noble and beloved friend, General William S. Walker, of Atlanta."

Fort McHenry's Road.

From The Washington Star.

A Washington man who put in ten years of soldiering in the regular army of the United States, five of it on the frontier with the cavalry in Indian campaigning, and the other five in the heavy artillery, was recently appointed captain and assistant adjutant general in the volunteer service, and he is now attached to the staff of General Miles. He is a man of ability and great unpretentiousness. A few days before he donned his uniform he went over to Fort McHenry, Baltimore, an official business. A war department clerk went along with him. When the two men arrived at Fort McHenry the new captain pointed to a long shell road that runs through the post.

"Do you see that road?" asked the captain. "Yes."

"Well, I made that whole road myself. It was as tough a job as I ever performed, and as bitter a period, but it did me a heap of good. I was serving with an artillery regiment, part of which was stationed here, and one night when I was on guard the officer of the day crept upon me unawares and found me sitting down on a pile of gunny sacks, neglecting my post. I got a general courtmartial for neglect of duty on post, and was sentenced to six months in the guardhouse. My sentence tickled the old provost sergeant mightily, for he was in need of a steady prisoner to build that road. I built it, and crunched many a million oyster shells building it. I never find myself feeling chesty and high-and-mighty, and all that sort of thing, that I don't shut my eyes and think of this shell road over in Fort McHenry."

ATLANTA GETS A GOVERNMENT PLUM

Internal Revenue War Stamps Are To Be Imprinted Here.

AGENT DILLON HAS ARRIVED

He Reached Atlanta Yesterday Morning To Begin His Duties.

STAMP SUPPLY RAN SHORT YESTERDAY

Popular Stamps Were Gone by Noon and Many Men Were Turned Away from the Office.

ATLANTA is one of the ten places in the United States where internal revenue stamps will be imprinted upon bank checks and drafts. The letter announcing this was received yesterday morning by the internal revenue collector and he at once made the fact public. The letter is as follows:

"A list of the names and addresses of persons and firms to whom contracts have been awarded for the imprinting of internal revenue stamps upon bank checks and drafts is herewith submitted for your guidance in procuring such work for the public.

"The name of the stamp agent is also given and all orders for imprinting bank check stamps from your office should be addressed to him in care of the contractor:

Eclipse Printing Company, Atlanta, E. H. Dillon.

American Bank Note Company, Boston, Charles O. Fellows.

Clarke & Courts, Galveston, John D. Settle.

Cootey Lithographing and Printing Company, Minneapolis, William H. Farnham.

Pioneer Press Company, St. Paul, Frank M. Banard.

P. F. Pettibone, Chicago, Ira L. Gifford.

George D. Banard, St. Louis, John C. Brown.

Franklin-Lee Bank Note Company, New York city, Grantville G. Beers.

Union Lithograph Company, San Francisco, Fred A. Sprague.

Blatchley Lithographic Company, Tacoma, J. W. Cloes.

"N. B. SCOTT, Commissioner."

Mr. E. H. Dillon, the agent for the imprinting in this city, arrived yesterday and at once assumed charge of his duties. Members of the Eclipse Printing Company announced yesterday that they would be ready to begin the work at once. The plates for the stamps arrived from Washington yesterday.

The Eclipse company was required to make a bond of $25,000, which it did. The printing company is required to pay the salary of the agent in this city and is allowed $1 a thousand for all stamps imprinted.

Mr. G. W. Wilson, general manager of the company, last night said:

"We expect of course to have a good thing out of the contract or we would not have applied for it."

The stamps were all sold yesterday by the internal revenue department with the exception of a few that will never be in very great demand, it is thought. The only kind of war revenue stamps left at the custom house yesterday by 12 o'clock were 4-cent proprietary, the 50-cent documentary, the $5 documentary and the $10 documentary.

Hundreds of people were turned away from the office and they appeared greatly troubled because they could not be supplied. As soon as it was found that the stamps were giving out officials at Washington were notified and the new supply of stamps is expected to arrive early this morning.

The 1-cent and 2-cent documentary and the eighths in proprietary stamps were most in demand yesterday. It was impossible for Collector Rucker to tell yesterday afternoon what the receipts for the stamps had been, as the invoice from Washington had not arrived. A good deal of interest is centered in the revenue department at present and a constant stream of people is passing during office hours in and out of the office in this city.

Atlanta is one of the five cities wherein the government has established an office for the imprinting the internal revenue stamps required by the new law.

The Eclipse Printing Company having received the appointment at this point, the government officials are now in control and we are prepared to handle the work for our customers.

All checks, drafts, certificates of deposit not drawing interest, etc., must have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a 2-cent revenue stamp.

The authorized charge for imprinting the stamps is $1 per 1,000, which, together with the cost of stamps, amounts to $21 per 1,000. This amount must be prepaid to the government and must therefore be remitted with order.

Where rebinding or reblocking is necessary on checks, drafts, etc., a reasonable charge will be made to cover this work, ranging from 1 cent for pads and 5 cents per book for single checks, to 10 cents per book of three checks to page, wire stitched, and 40 to 50 cents for leather or half-bound work.

Our facilities for executing new orders promptly, either printed or lithographed, are unsurpassed.

Our customers can save considerable time by ordering through us, as we are not embarrassed in any department by the new law, and the government will execute all orders without prejudice in their consecutive turn.

Keep a temporary supply until imprinted checks or drafts can be returned to you. Yours very truly, Eclipse Printing Company, 24-28 South Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga.

No Stamps Used in Courthouse.

No revenue stamps were used on legal papers in the courthouse yesterday. The officials have not yet learned what papers are necessary to have attached to them the stamps and as the stamps are not to be had in the city the papers for the present will be filed without them.

A large number of them were used by Tax Collector Stewart in making out his checks and other officials used a number in this way, but otherwise there were none brought into service.

WESTERN UNION HAD STAMPS

Patrons of That Line Were Agreeably Surprised Yesterday—General Order on the Subject.

Although documentary 1-cent stamps were scarce yesterday, the Western Union Company had them at its headquarters and at the various Western Union branches in the city.

Major Courtney, realizing that the use of stamps would prove a worry to customers, decided yesterday to provide for all emergencies. His forethought found ample reward, for nearly all of the senders of telegrams this morning were unable to secure stamps at government headquarters.

The Western Union Telegraph Company has sent out the following general order dated New York, June 27, 1898:

"The war revenue law requires that on and after July 1, 1898, under a penalty of $10, no telegraph company, or its agent or employee, shall transmit to any person any dispatch or message without an adhesive 1-cent stamp being affixed to a copy thereof or stamped thereupon. Exception is made of government messages, service messages of the telegraph company and messages of the officials and employees of railroad companies, sent only over the wires on their respective railroads.

"On and after July 1, 1898, the following instructions are therefore to be observed, namely:

"A—Full paid messages, day and night.

"B—Collect messages.

"C—Messages sent under business or half-rate franks.

"D—All messages sent free, whether under complimentary franks or under special approval of any official of the company.

"E—Messages received by telephone from customers direct; the cost of the necessary stamps is to be added to the account rendered.

"F—Messages collected in answer to call bells: Messengers are to be instructed to require that stamps shall be placed on the messages by the customers, unless it has been previously arranged between the customers and the manager that the cost of the stamp shall be added to charged accounts.

"G—Press dispatches: When presented at Western Union counter a stamp must be required for each dispatch, irrespective of its number of words or number of addresses; on dispatches transmitted direct from newspaper offices, a stamp must be attached by the sender to each dispatch, irrespective of the number of words it contains or number of addresses before the dispatches are sent to the Western Union office to be booked.

"H—C. N. D. reports: These reports not being sent as single messages, but as periodical reports, and paid for in a lump sum per week or month, irrespective of the exact number of words transmitted, are not construed as messages under the law, and will therefore not require stamps.

"2. Superintendents and managers are to notify the officials of railroad companies, press associations, proprietors of newspapers and other large customers of these requirements of the law, so that they may have ample opportunity to provide themselves with stamps, as the telegraph company can only undertake to provide its offices with stamps sufficient for emergencies and not to cover the whole number of messages transmitted.

"3. In cases when the law goes first into effect, where it is impossible for the senders of messages or managers to procure the necessary stamps, managers are to collect from the senders the value of the stamps, and to attach the stamps to the messages as soon as they can be procured.

"4. Method of canceling stamps. The law provides that 'the person using or affixing the stamp shall write or stamp thereupon the initials of his name and the date upon which the same shall be attached or used, so that the same may not again be used,' and managers are to see that the stamps are so canceled. THOMAS T. ECKERT,

"General Manager."

CAPT. WILLCOXON CAN'T BE A MAJOR

His Promotion Stopped by the War Department.

WON'T ALLOW THREE MAJORS

Only Two Majors Can Serve in Each Georgia Regiment.

ANOTHER MAN LOSES A MAJORSHIP

Governor Atkinson Had Selected Three Majors for Both the First and Second Regiments.

MAJOR CLEVELAND WILLCOXON has been deprived of his majorship in the Second Georgia regiment before he has barely had time to taste the first fruits of his promotion. In a like manner the man who was to have been appointed the third major of the First Georgia regiment has lost his prospective advancement even before he had been commissioned to the place.

The war department at Washington has broken its promise to Governor Atkinson. A telegram was received from the Washington headquarters yesterday morning saying that the two Georgia regiments now in the field can have but the two majors already in the service; that the one additional major to each regiment cannot be allowed.

The disappointing news was quite a surprise here, as the war department had readily consented to Governor Atkinson's request, that three majors be allowed to each of the two Georgia regiments now in the field. The department also consented to the appointment of Lieutenant R. E. L. Spence, of the United States army, as major of Colonel Colonel Lawton's regiment.

Governor Atkinson immediately upon receiving permission to increase the number of majors, appointed Captain Willcoxon as major of the Second Georgia regiment, and Lieutenant Spence as major of the First. When the call came for the Third Georgia regiment there was some intimation that the third majors would not be approved, and Governor Atkinson, in order to assure the appointment of Lieutenant Spence, made him a major in the new regiment. Some effort has been made to have the war department rescind its decision, and stand on its first promise.

The telegram from the department yesterday states that the three majors are allowed only in those regiments of the volunteer army which were tendered as a whole organization, at the first call, or in other words, those regiments of state volunteers which being in actual existence when the first call was made, tendered themselves as a body and retained the officers in command while in the state service. Those regiments which were recruited and organized after the call, cannot have but two majors, which is the number allowed in the regular army. The restriction to two majors is regarded as a great hardship on the regimental officers. The lieutenant colonel is an officer who is intended to serve as a help and assistant to the colonel, but with three battalions and only two majors, it is necessary for the lieutenant colonel to command a battalion, and this forces the colonel to do all the work.

GORDON CAMP HAS A RALLY

Enthusiastic Meeting by Sons of Vets Last Night.

CAMP WALKER VETS PRESENT

Attended in Full Uniform and Made a Splendid Appearance—Business of the Reunion Acted Upon.

John B. Gordon camp of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans held an enthusiastic rally at the chamber of commerce last night and much interest was shown in the approaching reunion. A large number of the veterans from Camp W. H. T. Walker, United Confederate Veterans, attended the rally in gray uniforms. They marched from their hall on Decatur street to the place of meeting of the John B. Gordon camp, and entered the hall in a body. Loud cheers greeted them, and the sight was a very inspiring one.

This is the first time the veterans have worn the uniforms which will individualize them in the reunion, and they made a splendid appearance in the well-fitting gray that is synonymous with them as veterans. Commander Ozborne was given a seat by Commander Alston, of the John B. Gordon camp, and in a few choice words the latter welcomed the veterans who acted as a stimulus to the meeting and poured patriotic fire into the breasts of the sons present.

Besides the members of Camp Walker as visitors, there were a large number of the Jeff Davis camp of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans, and these received the welcome they were extended by Commander Alston. The Jeff Davis camp, which is the latest camp of the organization, made a good showing, and is said to be growing fast.

Short talks were made by a number of veterans, in which they told of the experiences they had during the war, and how much they cherished the idea of an organization like the sons of veterans, and said that now, for probably the first time, they felt assured that the history of the confederacy will be carried down into the annals of time correctly and the valorous deeds of the sires of the south will be recorded faithfully and truthfully in the pages of history.

Much business was attended to. Mr. Robert F. Maddox was elected lieutenant commander of the camp to succeed Mr. Mallard, who has become commander of the Jeff Davis camp. Dr. George W. Willet was elected surgeon for the camp.

A tender of a historic flag was made to the camp by Mrs. Robinson for its use during the reunion, and the flag was accepted. A committee of eight delegates, to represent the camp during the reunion, was appointed. This will be one of the largest delegations that will appear at the business meetings of the sons of veterans, and will have much to do to properly look after the interests of the Atlanta camps.

The following resolution was passed by a rising vote:

"Whereas, the John B. Gordon camp of the Sons of Confederate Veterans has heard with regret of the illness of our comrade, Thomas R. R. Cobb, who is now kept from his native state which he loved so well;

"Therefore, Be it resolved, That we tender to him our sincere regrets for his affliction and earnestly hope that he may soon be with us fully returned to the magnificent vigor of his own manhood."

A resolution was passed withdrawing The Ex-Confederate Messenger as the official organ of the camp. The appointment of a sponsor to represent the camp was left to the commander. The subject of uniforms and other matters relating to the reunion were referred to the proper committees.

GEN. PENNINGTON COMES TO COMMAND

He Will Be Commander of the Gulf Department.

SUCCEEDS GENERAL BROOKE

General Brooke Goes to the Front with His Corps.

NEW COMMANDER COMES AT ONCE

He Will Take Charge Immediately Upon Arriving in Atlanta.

BRIGADIER GENERAL A. C. M. Pennington has been appointed commander of the department of the gulf to succeed Major General John R. Brooke, who has been ordered to leave next week with his corps for the front. The fact that General Brooke would be sent to Cuba or Porto Rico with twenty-seven regiments has already been told, but it was not known until yesterday who his successor would be.

Notification has been given the department officials that General Pennington is to come here to command. The news from Washington states that General Pennington will proceed to Atlanta at once. The orders does not affect General Brooke's command of the First army corps at Chickamauga, and which is to proceed to Tampa, Fla., for embarkation to Santiago to re-enforce General Shafter's army or to co-operate with the army of invasion to Porto Rico.

General Pennington is expected to come here the early part of next week. He will take charge of General Graham's old offices here and will assume the command of the department immediately.

General Brooke will leave for Tampa as soon as his men are paid off and the new recruits armed and equipped. It is said here that the movement would have begun Wednesday of this week but for the fact that the soldiers had not been paid off. The paymasters are busy at Chickamauga now and will soon be through with the twenty-seven regiments to leave under General Shafter.

Colonel W. P. Hall will remain in the department of the gulf as adjutant general unless he is given a chance to fight. He is anxious to get into field service, but his familiarity with the work of the department operates to keep him here.

General Pennington, who is coming here, is an army officer of experience. He was recently relieved from duty at Camp Black, Hempstead, Long Island, where the volunteers were once encamped.

COLONEL COOK IS NOTIFIED

He Was Officially Informed Yesterday That He Had Been Retired from the United States Army.

Colonel H. C. Cook, who for several months has been trying to escape the verdict of a medical examining board, which reported for his retirement, has been officially notified that he is retired from the active service of the army.

No announcement of Colonel Cook's successor as commander of Fort McPherson has been made. It is supposed that Lieutenant Colonel Henry B. Freeman will continue in command of the fort and the Fifth regiment, as it is understood that the lieutenant colonels who outrank Colonel Freeman are all assigned. Inquiry at the fort last night failed to elicit any satisfactory information regarding the successor of Colonel Cook.

Colonel Cook is said to be in Washington. He left here saying that he was going away to arrange for a tour of Europe. It was then denied that he had been retired. The Constitution announced that the retiring board at Tampa had retired him, but this article was met with vigorous and indignant denials from Colonel Cook's friends. Colonel Cook himself said that he would not be retired; that he was in splendid health and possessed of great strength of body. On this point he failed to agree with the medical board, which stated that Colonel Cook was suffering from heart disease, and had various other dangerous and serious ailments.

It is thought by many of Colonel Cook's friends that he went to Washington to urge the president and his strong friends there to interfere and save him from retirement. It is known that he went to Washington some time ago to make this appeal, but he was retired after that time.

Twelve hundred recruits left Fort McPherson yesterday and last night for Tampa, Fla. The men were sent to the different regiments now stationed in the vicinity of Tampa. Some went to Port Tampa, some to Tampa, and some to Lakeland, Fla. All of the men who left were thoroughly equipped and ready to go in with the regulars of the army. They are all for the regular army.

There are still over 2,000 troops at the fort, and these will be sent away as fast as they can be equipped. The quartermaster's department is rushed in the work of distributing uniforms and supplies to the recruits. Lieutenant Normoyle, who runs this department, receives a large consignment of goods nearly every day.

RECRUITS MAY GO TO GRIFFIN TODAY

The First of the Third Georgia To Go in Camp.

WILL SEE EARLY SERVICE

The Government Has Equipped It Before It Is Organized.

THE LAST OFFICER HAS BEEN NAMED

W. P. Clarke, of Elberton, Appointed Second Lieutenant in Captain Davies's Company.

A MAN who is impatiently chafing for an opportunity to spill Spanish blood will do well to enlist in the new Third Georgia regiment, for it will be started to the front in short order. The war department wants more Georgia men and wants them quickly. In order to assure the speedy perfection of the Third Georgia the army officials have sent everything needed in the way of equipment and supplies to Camp Northen.

Complete equipment for over 1,300 men is waiting at Griffin for Colonel Candler's men and as soon as the volunteers reach the state camp they will get new clothing, uniforms and every necessary article of apparel. They will have an abundance of tentage and will not be jammed into little tents like they were when the first regiments were organized.

Camp Northen is at this time a complete army camp with commissary and quartermasters to furnish food and clothing to the men. All that is lacking is soldiers. These are being rapidly supplied and in two weeks Griffin will be alive with blue-coated patriots. The fact that a full supply of necessaries is on hand at Camp Northen insures the early movement of the new regiment. The supplies were sent there so that the men could be equipped as fast as mustered in.

The Third Georgia will be fully equipped and ready for active service before many of the regiments at Chickamauga, which were mustered in nearly two months ago. The only thing in which the new regiment will not be perfect will be the lack of drill practice. This unavoidable obstacle to an immediate removal to the front will rapidly be overcome, for the regiment is being recruited to a large extent from a class of men that have a good military training. Of course there are many in the regiment who have never shouldered a gun, but they will soon learn when placed side by side with men who have served in the state militia for years. The regiment is being made up of a better trained class of men than were in the first regiments. At that time many of the military boys refused to go because they could not go with their own officers. Now that Colonel Candler has been made colonel the militiamen of the state are readily responding to the call. All of the recruiting officers are making better progress than was expected. The recruits are pouring in from all parts of the state and are dividing among the various recruiting stations. Captain Amos Baker is making splendid progress with his company.

Last Officer Appointed.

Captain W. P. Clarke, of the Elberton company of state militia, has been appointed second lieutenant in Captain W. W. Davies's company. He was named for the place yesterday and will at once begin recruiting. Lieutenant Clarke will bring thirty-five men from Elberton and his quota will almost fill out Captain Davies's company. This company will probably be the first mustered in. About thirty-five men have been enlisted in Atlanta and with the thirty-five or forty brought by Lieutenant Clarke a nearly complete company will be made up. The office of Captain Davies's recruiting station in the Kimball house block at No. 17 Pryor street is well filled all the time by men who want to enlist, but many show an inclination to hang back and the enlistments are not so fast that they cannot be recorded. Several fine looking men were enlisted in this company yesterday. Captain Davies has issued the following letter:

"Atlanta, Ga., June 30, 1898.—To the Editor of The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Dear Sir: Under a commission from the governor as captain of the new regiment of Georgia volunteers, I am appealing to the Sons of Confederate Veterans in the state to join my company now organizing in Atlanta. I have held the honor of being the state commander of Sons of Veterans for the past year and in going to the front desire to appeal to these sons for enlistment in my company. We shall go as a company of stalwart and patriotic young men seeking to exemplify a truly loyal spirit to our flag and country.

"Kindly, sir, publish this appeal and greatly oblige me. Our recruiting office is 18 Kimball house, Atlanta. We solicit the enlistment of all Sons of Confederate Veterans. Yours very truly,

"W. W. DAVIES,

"Captain Third Georgia Regiment, United States Volunteers, and Commander Sons of Confederate Veterans for Georgia."

How to Recruit Men.

Captain Erwin, acting adjutant general, has sent out the following instructions to the recruiting officers of the Third regiment:

"State of Georgia, Adjutant General's Office, Atlanta, June 30, 1898.—Sir: The following instructions relative to recruiting of your company are, by direction of the governor, to be strictly observed:

"1. A company of infantry consists of (exclusive of the officers already appointed by the governor), one first sergeant, one quartermaster sergeant, four sergeants, twelve corporals, two musicians (buglers), one artificer, one wagoner and eighty-four privates maximum and seventy-eight minimum. When you have all the non-commissioned officers and the minimum number of privates enrolled and ready for physical examination notify by telegram, if outside this city: 'The Adjutant General of Georgia, Atlanta, Ga.,' and await instructions from him.

"2. It is intended that the place of residence of each officer appointed in the regiment by the governor become a recruiting station, and it may become a place for physical examinations of recruits there collected, provided they are in sufficient numbers. All officers who have secured recruits at their home stations will keep the adjutant general of the state properly informed by telegram.

"3. No expense will be borne either by state or United States in the way of transportation or subsistence of recruits until the arrival at the place designated for physical examination of recruits by a medical officer, and of whose arrival notification will be given from this office in due time. All expenses of transportation and subsistence of recruits from that time on will be borne by the state or the United States.

"4. Telegrams on official business relating to enrollment and muster of United States volunteers will be sent checked 'Government Rates,' collect if sent to this office. In other cases they will be prepaid at government rates by the sender, who will submit account for same to this office for reimbursement, accompanied by copies of messages in duplicate.

"5. All transportation must be obtained from this office. The officer needing it either for himself or recruits will state the circumstances by telegram to this office and await instructions.

"6. All captains will report at 6 p. m. daily to the adjutant general of Georgia by telegram the number of recruits on hand and such other information in connection with recruitment of company as is deemed necessary.

"7. In all cases involving expense not covered by these instructions authority for expenditure must be first obtained from the adjutant general of the state. Respectfully,

"JAMES B. ERWIN,

"Captain Fourth Cavalry, U. S. A., Acting Adjutant General of Georgia."

Only One Examination.

A point in which a great deal of interest centers is whether or not recruits will be compelled to stand two physical examinations. It has been thought that the examination now being held was merely a preliminary examination and that a final examination would be held at Camp Northen after the men are sent there. But this is not true. Colonel Candler stated yesterday that the first examination is final and the men will not be forced to go through another.

The surgeons of the regiment are already quite busy examining applicants. Instead of taking them by companies, as was done before, the men are examined as enlisted. By this plan the surgeons keep up with the enlisting officers and the long delay of the first call will not be experienced this time because of the fact that the examination of the entire regiment will not be made twice, after its organization and before its muster.

The men who are being passed now are all splendid specimens of manhood and will be a credit to any company. The officers are selecting men who will be able to fight, and they have so far chosen good men.

May Go to Griffin Today.

The first of the new regiment may go to Griffin today. Captain Davies expects to send down twenty or twenty-five men this morning, and if the war department consents, will do so. The other officers also have large squads to send down to camp. The only question is whether the war department will allow the men to be sent to camp before full companies are organized. Colonel Candler requested this and expected to have it arranged so that the men could go to camp as soon as enlisted. There was some hitch in the matter yesterday, but he and the governor again telegraphed the war department and they hope to get a favorable reply this morning.

Mr. Edgar Latham, the patriotic young Atlanta attorney who, failing to get a commission as captain, volunteered as a private, will be one of the first men to go to camp. Sergeant M. C. Snead, of Augusta, will have charge of the first detachment of Captain Davies's company.

Colonel John S. Candler is enthusiastic over the organization of his regiment. He never for one instant doubted that he would be the colonel and the decision of the war department in confirming his appointment and sending the commission did not surprise him. He hopes to have a regiment fully equipped in two weeks.

The Third Georgia will have some excellent military officers. Colonel Candler and his two majors are three of the best military men in the south perhaps. They have had long years of training and Colonel Candler especially has devoted his whole time since early manhood to the improvement of the Georgia military. There is not a company in the regiment which has not good military officers in command. Though some of the officers have not had any considerable military experience, there are good men with them.

HIS RESIGNATION PROMPTLY REFUSED

Chief Joyner Prevailed Upon To Remain at the Head of the League.

THE GAME TODAY WILL BE HOT

Commission Men and Southern Shops Meet on the Diamond at Brisbine.

PROTESTED GAME REFERRED TO NICK YOUNG

President of the National League Will Decide Who Gets the Game Between Firemen and City Hall.

The directors of the Atlanta City Baseball League held an important meeting yesterday afternoon. The prime object of the meeting was to consider the resignation of Chief Joyner as president of the league. The presidency was forced on Chief Joyner over his protest and it has been his desire for some time to resign the position. He felt that being president of the league and chief of the fire department had subjected him to unfair and unjust criticism, and it was his desire to step down and out from the presidency of the league in justice to himself and to the fire department team.

But the directors of the league very promptly refused to accept the resignation and it was laid on the table. At the request of all the directors and the desire of the managers, the chief was prevailed upon to keep the presidency. The managers and the players of the different teams were delighted with the action of the board and with the fact that Chief Joyner will still serve. Undoubtedly Chief Joyner is the man for president of the league. He was the prime mover in the movement to get up the league and he is one of the old enthusiastic baseball fans. There is not a man in Atlanta who would not stake his life on Cap Joyner's fairness.

While the firemen have a team in the league, Chief Joyner has nothing in the world to do with it and he has never in the slightest way shown it any preference. Some of those interested in baseball have an idea that the umpires are selected by the president of the lague. This is not so. The umpires are selected by the directors and agreed to by the captains of the clubs. President Joyner is not responsible for the umpires, but the directors are, and they have done their best to get good, honest men. They declare that they will have no other kind if they have to try every man in Atlanta.

It was a good thing for the league that Chief Joyner decided to retain the presidency, as he is the preference of the players. So far the baseball league has been the greatest success of anything of the kind ever attempted in the city and much of that success has been due to the fact that Chief Joyner was at the head of the league. The prospects are now that the league will continue to be even a greater success unless the feeling gets too strong between the clubs. The league has been such a great success this year that already the clubs are beginning to talk about next year, and the chances are that the league will hereafter be a regular institution.

The Protested Game.

Another important matter that came up before the directors was the game protested by the City Hall. The directors would not give out the full discussion of the matter, but stated that the decision had been deferred until they could hear from Nick Young, president of the National league. There seems to be no doubt, though, about the game going to the Firemen, as that was the decision of the umpire, and those who know say that Nick Young will so advise the league. The matter may never be brought up again.

The game at Brisbine park this afternoon will be between the Commission Men and the Southern Shops. The shop boys are in the lead and the commission men are going to do their best to win in this afternoon's game. If they are successful it will put them tied with the Southern Shops for first place. Since its reorganization the Commission Men's team is one of the strongest in the league. The game will be a hot one and if the Commission Men do win, it will complicate matters as to who will win the pennant, as four clubs will be tied for first place, the Firemen, Merchants, Southern Shops and Commission Men. The Press team is close behind them and the City Hall team is in the rear. The City Hall boys have a good team, but it is the general opinion that they are not as strong as the other teams in the league as they now stand. The race for the pennant is a pretty one and it would take a prophet to tell which one will win out in the end.

Every branch of education in Georgia from the university of the state to the lowest grades in the public schools are represented at the gathering and for three days the educators have been at work discussing the methods and principles of teaching.

Two of the most prominent addresses made before the convention this year, both of which created a strong impression among the delegates, were made by President Lyman Hall, of the Georgia School of Technology, who spoke on "Manual Training in a State Course of Study for the Common Schools," and Professor W. M. Slaton, principal of the Boys' High School.

More than 100 delegates went from Atlanta to attend the convention.

Next Tuesday afternoon a party of public school teachers in charge of Superintendent W. F. Slaton will leave for Washington, D. C., to attend the national convention of teachers which convenes in that city on July 5th.

PATROLMAN GOREE OUT AGAIN.

Will Report for Duty Tomorrow—A Small Scar on Face.

Patrolman Goree, who was cut by John R. Harris on the night of June 17th, was out yesterday. He will report for duty tomorrow.

Harris, while drinking, cut the officer on the left side of the face, making a long gash through the cheek to the teeth and chin bone. Dr. C. W. Stricklin, at the Grady hospital, took thirty-two stitches in the cut, some of them being inside the mouth. The work required over two hours. So carefully and nicely was the wound dressed, the scar on the policeman's face is scarcely discernible.

Harris is now out on a $1,000 bond on the charge of assault with intent to murder.

WILL OPEN BUREAU MONDAY MORNING

Veterans Will Establish a Complete Bureau of Information.

TO LOCATE ON WALL STREET

Mr. Hollis A. Boynton Is Chief of This Important Department.

YESTERDAY A BUSY DAY AT HEADQUARTERS

Everything Is Moving Along Nicely and Affairs of the Reunion Are in Good Shape.

The bureau of information of the Veterans' Reunion Association will be opened next Monday morning at 32 Wall street, in front of the main entrance to the union passenger depot, and Mr. Hollis A. Boynton will be chief of this important department of the association's work.

The appointment of Mr. Boynton was made yesterday morning, and he was instructed to prepare to open his bureau of information early Monday morning. He was at the reunion headquarters nearly all day yesterday in conference with Secretary Waddell, and when the office closed yesterday afternoon Mr. Boynton had secured a great deal of information which he will need when he assumes his new duties.

MR. HOLLIS A. BOYNTON,
He was Yesterday Morning Employed by the Veterans To Conduct Their Bureau of Information and Publicity.

"I fully realize the vast amount of work that lies before me," said Mr. Boynton yesterday, "but then I have determined, since I have been appointed, to do everything in my power to systematize my business and get the affairs of my office in good shape. The office of information will be opened Monday morning at 32 Wall street, in the building owned and at one time occupied by Mr. W. A. Russell. Mr. Russell has kindly donated the building to the use of the reunion and it is one of the most desirable places that could be secured in the city. Its location is perfect, for it is just opposite the main entrance to the union passenger depot and every veteran and every visitor to the city can't help but seeing the place as soon the they alight from the train and get out of the depot.

"The front of the building will display a large sign printed in letters which can be read as far as the sign can be seen. Then there will be flags and bunting and the colors and many decorations which will give the place an attractive and patriotic air. The interior of the office will be commodiously arranged and everything will be done that will add to the facilitation of business and the comfort of the visitors."

The association realizes that the bureau of information will be one of the most important features of the work from now on until the visitors leave and the big reunion is over. Everybody coming to the city will visit the bureau and here it will be that they will secure their information as to the location of hotels, boarding houses and private residences where they will be entertained. Every kind of information will be dispensed at the bureau and Mr. Boynton will need a corps of well trained assistants to aid him in his work.

Busy Day for Colonel Waddell.

Yesterday was a busy day for Colonel Waddell and the reunion headquarters presented a busy scene all day. The visitors began to drop in early in the morning and they came and went all day, many remaining until the late trains before leaving the city.

"I have not only had an office full of visitors all day," said Colonel Waddell yesterday, "but I have also had one of the largest mails I have yet had to answer. The postman was loaded down when he came into the office and he was empty handed when he left. My desk is now piled up with unanswered letters, and yet I am working almost day and night to catch up with my mail. I guess I will catch up before long.

"Everybody wants to know about headquarters, rooms, hotels, horses, saddles and everything else that pertains to the reunion and I have my hands full in trying to tell them what they wish to know."

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, overcomes that tired feeling, creates an appetite and gives refreshing sleep. What a delightful experience to enjoy at this season of the year.

HAS GONE TO CHAUTAUQUA.

Miss Anne Wallace Will Invite the Librarians To Come Here.

Miss Anne Wallace, librarian of the Young Men's Library, left last night for Chautauqua lake. She goes to attend the annual convention of the American Librarians' National Association, which meets at Chautauqua next week.

The librarians promised Miss Wallace last year that they would meet in Atlanta in 1899. The meeting in 1897 was held in Philadelphia. Chautauqua wanted the convention this year. Miss Wallace made a speech in behalf of Atlanta, and she stampeded the convention. The Chautauqua was about defeated when an appeal was made to her to withdraw the invitation, and she was promised the convention for 1899. With that understanding, she extended the invitation for next year, and there is very little doubt but that she will capture the prize this time. The attendance at these conventions runs up to 300 or 400.

Miss Wallace is on the programme, and will read a paper on training for library work.

One result of her visit to Philadelphia last year was a present of a handsome set of works by a wealthy Philadelphian who is very much interested in the Young Men's Library here.

Course of Market One of Aimless Drifting Until Near Close.

SUDDEN ANIMATION SHOWN

Prices Were Lifted to the Top Level and Made Gains Extending to a Point or Over.

New York, July 1.—The course of today's market was one of aimless drifting until near the close, when some appearance of animation and strength developed throughout the list. This was doubtless in large part due to the covering demand by belated shorts who did not care to leave their contracts open over the three days' holiday. The buying at the close lifted prices to the top level and made net gains extending to over a point in exceptional cases. During the earlier part of the day the market was almost entirely stagnant, many stocks showing not a single quotation. It looked very much as though even the closing up of contracts incident to the eve of a three days' suspension of trading had all been completed yesterday and there was no disposition to venture upon fresh commitments on account of the conflicting possibilities in the outlook. On the part of the bears there was to be feared the effect of the probable fall of Santiago or the occupation of Manila. The possibility of serious harm to the crops at this critical stage deterred operators from engagements on the long side. There is still some doubt felt as to how the money market will come through the taking up of the government loan. The announcement from Washington that subscriptions for small amounts already accepted foot up $40,000,000 indicates that the future strain on the money market will be eased by that time. It is confidently believed that the volume of small subscriptions by savings bank depositors who have held off to secure their half-yearly interest was largely augmented between now and July 14th. Among the special movements today are to be noted advances in all the local traction stocks in anticipation of good traffic returns for the approaching holiday. The price of Great Northern preferred shorn of its cash dividend and its new stocks privilege was fixed today at 125. This is the equivalent of about 5 points advance over yesterday's high record price of 180 with dividend and privileges on. The movement in Pullman, which was quite erratic within a range of 5 points, reflected hopes and fears over the expected surplus distribution.

The only feature of the bond market was an advance of 1¾ in Wisconsin Central first trust receipts. Total sales $1,400,000.

Money on call steady at 1@1½ per cent; last loan at 1¼ per cent; prime mercantile paper 3@4 per cent.

Sterling exchange easier with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.85½@4.85⅝ for demand and at $4.84¼@4.84½ for 60 days; posted rates $4.85 and $4.86½; commercial bills $4.83.

Southern Exchange Stock Letter.

Atlanta, July 1.—The market showed some strength at the opening and prices were as a rule over yesterday's close. Trade was dull on account of the long holidays from today until Tuesday, and there was but little activity in the market, attributable only to professional operation which for the moment was confined to Sugar, People's Gas, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Manhattan and Rock Island. These stocks may show trading expected to be featureless. Strong undercurrent of opinion in street. The new fiscal year, beginning today, will prove continuance of bull movement of past fiscal year. In Manhattan higher prices are looked for. Grangers being conservatively bought on admirable crop prospects and probability increased dividends in Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and St. Paul.

London did practically nothing, but the list was steady and prices showed but little changes.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Stock Letter.

Atlanta, July 1.—Realizing in Sugar by recent buyers started a sympathetic decline in the whole market during morning hours, but later there was good buying by those who believe in a certain victory at Santiago. The list rallied in the last hour under the lead of the specialties and grangers. We understand that Manhattan affairs will soon be arranged satisfactorily, and believe this stock a purchase.

As we write reports come that our fleet has silenced Morro castle and are now approaching the harbor. Indications point to the occupying of Santiago tomorrow by Shafter's army. If this proves true, the greatest glorious fourth will be celebrated by more fireworks throughout the country than the heathen Chinaman can furnish. Such results will mean higher prices Tuesday.

Atlanta Exchange Stock Letter.

New York, July 1.—The action of the market for the past week has offered further evidence of the general disinclination to sell. Professional traders have, brokers [illegible] offered stocks down in numerous instances, but were unsuccessful in their efforts to bring about liquidation to any extent, and when they turned to cover, stock being scarce, their purchases [illegible] caused an advance in prices. This [illegible] position to sell on the part of conservative traders who have studied the general situation indicates that the trend of values is upward.

Traders did not expect to do much in the market today, which in its dullness was rather sensitive to the news at hand. Sugar, Chicago Gas, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Rock Island commanded the most attention and a fair range of quotations was shown in these issues.

The consensus of opinion is that the new fiscal year which begins today will be marked by a continuance of the bull movements during the past fiscal year.

The grangers were conservatively purchased on the admirable crop prospects. Some of the interests are beginning to talk of increased dividends on Burlington and St. Paul.

The purchases of People's Gas were encouraged by the reported existence of a fair interest.

A new interest was reported to be making investment in Brooklyn Rapid Transit.

Sentiment on Atchison preferred continues bullish. When the war is over they anticipate no difficulty in disposing of their holdings to foreigners, who will undoubtedly be attracted by the price and the large earnings of the system.

Post's Financial Cable.

New York, July 1.—The Evening Post's London financial cablegram says: Cheap money has caused great firmness here in high-class investment securities, including consols, but Americans were very dull today, reflecting the holiday influence at New York, and also because of the flatness of Canadian securities, which have been further prejudiced by the smallness of net increase of 18,000 pounds in the Grand Trunk monthly statement.

Twelve month treasury bills were today allotted at an average of 1 9-16 per cent, and I believe the Japanese agent bought the bulk. The allotment has intensified the ease in money rates.

The Bank of Montreal announces the issue of 200,000 pounds sterling New Foundland 3½ per cent bonds at 96½, repayable in 1947.

Stocks at the seaboard and the 29 leading southern interior markets on June 30th were 460,805, against 252,206 the same date last year and 345,789 the year before.

Including stock at ports and interior towns left over from the previous season and the number of bales of the current crop brought into sight during the ten months the supply has been 11,044,890, against 8,826,440 last year and 7,266,607 the year before.

Up to June 30th last year 96.29 per cent of the cotton crop had been marketed, and for the same ten months in 1896 the percentage of the crop brought into sight was 97.20, and for the same time in 1895 the percentage marketed was 98.75.

Closed barely steady; sales 73,800 bales.

New York, July 1.—By Associated Press: Prices continued unmistakably downward in tendency in the cotton market today, due in a great measure to continued remarkably favorable cotton raising weather prevalent over the entire belt. The opening was easy at 1 to 4 points lower on weak cables from Liverpool, foreign and southern selling orders, local liquidation and crop news. By midday the shorts had scored a loss of 4 to 5 points on the more active portions, but showed signs of accepting the profits in sight. The more timid bears feared to take chances over holidays. Speculation fell off early in the afternoon, but picked up near the close. The market closed barely steady at a net loss of 4 to 6 points. Total sales of futures 73,800 bales.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, July 1.—While the liquidation in August here is gradually bringing the position of the immediate deliveries to such a point as to admit of purchases by spinners, there has been little increase in the demand for consumption. Moderate sales of cotton stored at distributing points are now likely to be reported and furnish the buyers for August here. The trade, however, is becoming more conservative each day notwithstanding the good crop advices, and the short interest is being reduced to small proportions. We doubt if for years there have been smaller engagements for forward delivery by the exporters. In short, while there is as yet no disposition to buy, the trade refuses to sell, considering it exceedingly dangerous at present prices. This temper at times gives the market an extremely weak appearance. In Liverpool the stock shows little decrease, as the shipments from America continue in excess of last season. Unless there is some change in crop conditions a lower market seems probable next week.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, July 1.—Liverpool advices were again disappointing today, futures there declining 1 to 2-64d, with continued dull spot demand; sales 8,000 bales. The New York market opened in full sympathy with the weakness abroad, first call reporting prices 4 to 5 points under yesterday's close. Renewed liquidation in August contracts caused a further decline of 2 to 3 points in that option. Talk of mills closing up and continued good crop reports were the discouraging features to the bulls, the final sales showing a net loss of 5 to 6 points from yesterday's close. A feeling of universal indifference with regard to conditions surrounding the cotton market appears to have prevailed in the markets both here and abroad and they are extremely dull and featureless. The feeling continued bearish. However, values are on a comparatively low basis and any unfavorable weather reports will quickly result in higher prices.

Atlanta Exchange Cotton Letter.

New York, July 1.—Comparatively little of general interest can be said of cotton. The bear faction is not inclined to attempt any concerted action with the view of depressing prices further. Although weather conditions apparently continue to favor the growing crop, and news from cloth markets is disturbing and unsatisfactory. On the other hand, there is practically nothing to encourage the bulls to come into the market for anything but a moderate turn. Reports told of grassy fields in some sections of Texas, Louisiana and South Carolina. However, the market as a whole is a waiting one.

Southern Exchange Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, July 4.—The market opened at 1 point decline from yesterday's close, and continued its downward course, and from opening prices, which were the highest of the day, sold off to 5 points.

Liverpool showed 1½ points decline in futures, with spots 1-32d off; sales 8,000 bales tone barely steady. The following are the weekly cotton statistics: Sales 44,000; American 42,000; trade takings 47,000; actual export 3,000; import 41,000; American 37,000; stock 1,107,000; American 1,017,000; afloat 59,000; American 49,000; sales for speculation 1,800; purchases for export 2,000. The market ruled weak throughout the session, and prospects for higher prices seem poor.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, July 1.—The dry goods market showed quiet trading. There is no spirited attempt to sell goods. There will be a pretty general closing of stores in many quarters tomorrow. Jobbing stores continue to cater to bargain hunting buyers, who are in town by liberal concessions, on lines which they desire to close out preparatory for inventory-taking. Reports of an increased demand for print cloths are coming forward. Sales of small caliber of extras were reported yesterday. The market is very firm, however, on the ground of the coming curtailment, and it is not probable that the buyers will be able to secure many contract regulars at 2c. Odd goods are in good demand at prices relatively as firm as those for extras.

World's Visible Supply of Cotton.

New Orleans, July 1.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, made up from special cable and telegraphic advices, compares the figures of this week with last week last year and in 1895, the latter the 9,901,000-crop year. It shows a decrease during the week just closed of 138,758 bales, against a decrease of 126,159 last year and a decrease of 99,614 in 1895.

The total visible is 2,436,274, against 2,575,032 last week, 1,897,743 last year and 3,247,240 in 1895. Of this the total American cotton is 2,177,274, against 2,265,032 last week, 1,553,543 last year and 2,834,040 in 1895, and of all other kinds including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 259,000, against 310,000 last week, 344,200 last year and 413,200 in 1895.

The total world's visible supply of cotton shows a decrease compared with last week of 138,758 bales, an increase compared with last year of 538,531 and a decrease compared with 1895 of 810,966.

WHEAT ON A BOOM

FIRM FROM START TO FINISH

Offerings of Corn Light and Demand Good—Oats Left Off a Fraction Higher—Provisions Lower.

Chicago, July 1.—Disastrous crop news, together with a great effort by shorts to cover pending the double holiday, boomed wheat today. July closed with an advance of 3½c and September gained 2½c. Corn shows a rise of ⅞c. Oats left off ½@⅝c higher. Pork and lard lost 2½c each. Ribs declined 5c.

Wheat started firm on crop damage reports. The latter were around on the sidewalk before regular trading commenced and crowded out of sight a decline with which Liverpool started. The opening for September was from 68¾@68⅞c as compared with 68¼c at the close last night, and after a slight reaction to 68½c it became difficult to buy much except by bidding up the price, sellers being scarce. Some of the crop reports were quite alarming, in many cases reporting a total loss. The latter, it was claimed, was true as to large sections of the crop in the best wheat lands of the southwest. The market was run by these reports, there being nothing else of a decidedly bullish or bearish character in the orders of the day. Prices continued to advance until July reached 77½c, a gain of 4½c, and September advanced 2c, selling at 70¾c. There were a good many reactions on the way up, and the trade at times became rather excited. One important reason for strength was the great desire of shorts to cover pending the three days' vacation, in connection with the uncertainty of crop conditions and the possibility of a wild bulge in the meantime. Speculation was noticeably curtailed by the working of the new war law. It makes it harder for commission men to execute orders, and wider fluctuations are the result. The following resolution in regard to war revenue provision, as it applies to the brokers, commission men and scalpers, was adopted by the board of directors of the board of trade:

"Resolved, That in regard to the provision of the revenue law of 1898, applicable to transactions at the exchange hall of the board of trade of the city of Chicago, it is the recommendation of the board of directors that a uniform memorandum of sale be used, to be delivered by the seller to the buyer, and that the secretary be authorized to suggst to the members of the board such form of memorandum of sale, to which the adhesive stamps according to law may be affixed."

Chicago received 5 cars. Minneapolis and Duluth together 52. Atlantic port exports of wheat and flour were equal to 698 bushels. July opened ½c higher at 73c, rose to 77½c, then reacted to 76½c at the close. September started ½@⅝c up to 68¾@68⅞c, sold off to 68⅝@68½c, then rallied to 70⅜c asked, the closing price.

Offerings in the corn pit were light and good demand from prominent professionals forced the advanced. Prices were also strengthened by the rally in wheat. July opened ⅛@¼c higher at 31⅜@31½c, advanced to 34¼c, then sold off to 32⅛c, the closing price.

Oats followed the other advances in grain. July began unchanged to ⅛c higher at 21⅜c, rose to 22c, then declined to 21⅞c bid, at the close.

Light deliveries and the advance in coarse grains strengthened provisions. July pork opened 2½c higher at $9.47½, rose to $9.50 at the close. The range in lard and ribs was narrow.

Estimated receipts: Wheat 12 cars, corn 380, oats 155, hogs 15,000.

All exchanges and the board of rade will be closed tomorrow and Monday.

Atlanta Exchange Grain Letter.

Chicago, July 1.—The lack of July deliveries and bad crop advices started wheat firm at a little advance. The damage reports came mainly from the southwest and represented the situation as growing worse with every new development. There was an ideal weather map for harvesting purposes today, although there were still scattered showers in some localities in the northwest. Delieveries were light—wheat none; corn 200,000 bushels; oats 25,000 bushels; pork 750 barrels; lard 7,000 tierces; ribs 250,000 pounds. Argentine shipments for the week 72,000 bushels, against 216,000 bushels last week, and none last year. On the bulge today there was some free selling by longs. Shorts also sold for a time. New York reported foreigners selling at the higher level to a moderate extent. St. Louis inclined to favor the buying side of the market. Receipts in the northwest were 52 cars, against 263 last year. Chicago arrivals 5 cars. Liverpool cables were rather indifferent, reflecting the prevalence of a degree of uncertainty abroad.

There was a moderate trade in corn and oats with prices of both governed by fluctuations in wheat.

Higher prices for hogs and general buying by packers sustained the market for provisions.

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Atlanta, July 1.—The sellers who broke prices in the closing hour yesterday were treated to a surprise by the strength of foreign cables, which closed fractionally above yesterday, despite our closing weakness. This covering started an advance in wheat which was soon augmented by Armour buying July and cash stuff. Later the Kansas official report showed great damage from too much rain and other causes since last report. All this had a bullish effect and both active options advanced 2c above yesterday's closing. After the noon hour there was some selling against call privileges that caused temporary weakness, but renewed buying, both to cover and for long account, caused firmness at the close, which was at the highest. The action of foreigners over our three days holiday is problematic, but if Liverpool continues strong until Tuesday, the probabilities favor further advances here.

Corn showed some sympathetic strength.

Provisions were dull and unchanged but firm.

On the curb September puts on wheat opened at 69, high 69, low 68⅝, close 68⅝. Call opened at 72½, high 73⅝, low 72½, close 73⅝.

Puts on September corn opened at 32⅜, high 32½, low 32⅜, close 32½. Calls opened at 33½, high 34⅛, low 33½, close 34.

THE TRADE SITUATION.

Second Quarter of Year Closes with Most Encouraging Returns.

New York, July 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say tomorrow:

"The second quarter of the year closes with most encouraging returns. Failures have been a little larger than in the first quarter of the year, whereas a decrease of 6.2 per cent might have been expected from experience of the past ten years, but with that allowance a difference of only $3,500,000 can be charged to war and fears of war, whereas solvent payments through clearing houses for the quarter were over $15,600,000,000. In the very best years defaults range from an eighth to a fifth of 1 per cent of such payments, and in bad times from a third to a half of 1 per cent, or more, but this year the proportion is less than a fifth. The quarterly statement given today shows an aggregate of $34,498,074, which is smaller than in the second quarter of any year since 1890, except one, and the average of liability, default to firms in business and to exchanges through clearing houses, is also smaller than in any year except one of the past seven years.

"The exports of wheat continue extraordinary. During the week they have been, flour included, over 4,000,000 bushels, against 2,000,000 bushels last year and 211,452,253 bushels of corn, against 76,602,285 bushels.

"It is alleged by experts that almost 90 per cent of the cotton spindles are now employed, and yet the demand for goods is strengthening. The heavy stocks carried abroad indicate less than the usual demand for goods there, as also the shipments.

"The demand for wool has been almost wholly confined to needs for orders in hand, and yet there is good reason to look for a better demand for goods as soon as the new season has opened, while with government contracts more than the usual proportion of machinery is employed, even at this dull season. Sales of wool at 10,000,000 pounds are only a quarter of those of last year.

"The iron industry shows some decline in prices, in Bessemer pig at Pittsburg to $10.25 and in gray forge to $9, with only $11 here and $11.25 at Philadelphia for No. 1 anthracite, while shipments during the week have been made from Birmingham to Hamburg, Rotterdam, Great Britain, Australia and Japan, though in the aggregate not large. But structural work is heavy and the demand for implement and car material is still beyond all precedent and in general it may be said that the markets west of Philadelphia are remarkably strong, with scarcely any indication of decline in the demand for finished products. Minor metals are quiet.

"Failures were 254, against 241 last year."

Bradstreet's Review.

New York, July 1.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"In a period as usual devoted largely to stock taking and with holiday and midsummer influences making for a narrow and restricted trade, there is little that is novel to be found regarding current distribution. The first half of the year closes with a very satisfactory showing possible in many lines of trade, as evidenced by the returns of bank clearings, railroad earnings, reports as to the consumptive and distributive demands, and last, but not least, by that infallible barometer of the mercantile world—business failures.

"Harbingers of the future are found in the generally favorable crop prospects, not only of cereals but of cotton, fruits and most products of agency, and a continued heavy foreign demand for American products.

"Few important events are chronicled this week in the business world. The semi-annual shutdown of many industrial concerns, particularly those in iron and steel and glass and some textile manufacturing concerns has been announced to occur in the first week of July, but this has been without much effect upon the prices of these staples. Advices from the west, indeed, lead to the belief that this shutdown in some cases may not occur at all this year, while in others the time devoted to repairs and stock-taking will be considerably abridged.

"The situation in iron is a rather mixed one, most complaints coming from the east. It is signficant, however, that the fall in ocean freight rates has been credited with improving demand for iron and steel for export, and considerable orders have been already booked.

"The tone of the wheat market continues bearish notwithstanding that the world's visible supplies have decreased 13,000,000 bushels in two weeks and that the probabilities are that visible stocks of old wheat on August 1st will be as low, if not lower, than last year's, which were the smallest on record for seven years. A heavy falling off in the condition of the Kansas wheat crop is indicated.

"Rather less steadiness in prices is observable, most cereals, pork, lard, cotton and several makes of pig iron being lower for the week, while the list of advances is exceedingly small.

"Steadiness has been a feature, however, of raw wool, hides and heavy leather, coffee, sugar and print cloths, copper and lead. A large distribution of bleached cottons at price concessions has been a feature and the demand for flags and fireworks this year is conceded to be heavily in advance of past years.

"Cereals still move abroad in quantities unprecedented for the time of year. Wheat shipments for the week aggregate 4,716,401 bushels as against 3,799,479 bushels last week and compared with 2,778,849 bushels in the week a year ago, 2,601,096 bushels in 1896, 2,007,031 bushels in 1895 and 1,850,200 bushels in 1894.

"Corn exports show a decrease from last week, aggegating 2,601,560 bushels, against 3,902,321 last week, 1,923,938 bushels a year ago, 1,598,631 bushels in 1896, 388,863 bushels in 1895 and 539,100 bushels in 1894.

"In spite of unfavorable features there were fewer failures, smaller liabilities and consequently smaller assets this year than in any previous year for four years past.

"Business failures number 6,429, 8 per cent fewer than a year ago, 15 per cent less than in 1896 and only 3 per cent larger than in 1893. Liabilities, too, are smaller, aggregating $72,120,341, 23 per cent smaller than last year, 31 per cent smaller than in 1896, 9 per cent smaller than in 1895 and 57 per cent below those of 1893.

"Business failures in the Dominion of Canada for the six months of the present year make a decidedly good showing. They number 813, involving $5,799,643, a decrease of 24 per cent in number and in liabilities as compared with last year and making still better comparisons with earlier periods."

Miss Powell To Present the Flag

At a meeting of the Atlanta Relief Association yesterday morning Miss Ella Powell, the president, was unanimously selected to present the flag which the young ladies will send the Second regiment, Georgia volunteers. In case Miss Powell does not go, accompanied by a party, she will authorize some one in Tampa to represent her in the presentation of the flag, which, if it can reach that point in time, will be presented the 4th of July.

An important matter discussed at the meeting was the investigating committee appointed, and consisting of Miss Mollie Connolly, Miss Dora Raine, Miss Hessie Broylston, Miss Kennon. The object of this committee was to insure the prompt and ready investigation of all families belonging to absent soldiers, and who are reported as ill or in a destitute condition. The party went on a tour of investigation yesterday, several cases having been reported, but fortunately these had been exaggerated, and the young ladies found no difficulty in covering the emergency of the case.

Captain Bradley's Men.

A gentleman returning from a visit to Chickamauga yesterday, spoke in most enthusiastic terms of the appearance presented by Captain Bradley's men in camp there. "They are among the best-looking, strongest and best equipped men there," he stated, and Captain Bradley spoke in most grateful acknowledgment of the assistance that had been given him in the matter of an emergency fund from the young ladies of the Atlanta Relief Association.

To Be a Part of the National War and Relief Association.

A very important meeting of the Army and Navy League occurred yesterday morning at the executive mansion, Mrs. W. Y. Atkinson, the president, presiding. The principal feature of the meeting was the decision of the stand the association should take in regard to the National War and Relief Association. After much discussion it was decided that there should be two distinct funds—one to be devoted exclusively to the Georgia soldier, and the other to go toward Georgia's quota in the National War and Relief Association. By this two-fold distribution of the funds. There will be no danger of the Georgia soldiers or sailors, wherever they may be, not receiving attention in case of illness or suffering, or the suffering of their families. It will be optional with the district auxiliaries whether they distribute their funds therefrom, or whether they send it to the general state treasury, that will be an auxiliary to the national fund.

This determination of the ladies to unite themselves with the National War Relief Association is one that will not only bring about mutual benefits, but will greatly broaden the scope of the state movement. The meeting yesterday morning was a large one, and its results were almost wholly embodied in the development of the plans suggested in the following address of Mrs. Atkinson, the president:

"The last meeting was called for the purpose of devising the best plans for promoting the health and comfort of the Georgia soldiers and sailors, and as far as in our power to have a care for the families of those Georgia troops which may be left in need. About two months ago I was appointed by Mrs. U. S. Grant, vice president of the Woman's National War Relief Association. My desire was to broaden the state organization into this patriotic and generous field, and since receiving the strong co-operation of such well-known and representative women as Mrs. Loulie M. Gordon, Mrs. A. B. Steele, Mrs. R. B. Ridley, Miss Mary Louise G. Huntley, Miss Junia McKinley, Mrs. Paul Romare and others I am more than ever strongly of the opinion that it is not practical to confine our help exclusively to our Georgia troops.

"There will be no hospital established where Georgians only will be kept.

"Our sick and wounded Georgia men will be sent, of course, to the general hospitals established wherever the need may arise.

"Men from any and all states will be placed side by side in these hospitals, under the care of the United States army surgeons, who will relieve the sufferings of all alike. They can make no distinction in the treatment of Georgia men or the men from Maine or Nebraska, for all are fighting under the same flag. The principal purpose of this league is to encourage and organize relief associations throughout the whole state. The organizations when formed will raise money, which I think should, in their discretion, be devoted to either of the following purposes:

"1. They may send their money direct to the company commander, to be used for company purposes, and especially for the benefit of the sick who may be in the regimental hospitals, or they may forward their funds to the treasurer of our Army and Navy League, leaving it to the discretion of this body as to how the funds shall be distributed, as we will be in close touch with the army and navy officials and will know where aid is needed.

"2. The money may be devoted by them to the aid of such families of soldiers and sailors of our state as may be in need of help.

"3. They may send their funds to this state organization to be transmitted through the national organization for use in the general army hospitals.

"These remarks I have made to suggest to the meeting the various purposes to which the funds raised can be devoted. It is now in the power of the members of this league to give such direction to these matters as in their opinion will be most effective in accomplishing the ends for which our organzation was created."

Mrs. A. B. Steele, Mrs. W. A. Hemphill and Mrs. Loulie Gordon were greatly in sympathy with the state movement becoming in touch with the national organization, and with the influence of the presiding officer in that direction, the sentiment of the meeting was soon inspired by the broader patriotic movement which makes the Georgia state movement a division of the National War and Relief Association.

The New Leader of the National Federation.

Mrs. W. B. Lowe, president of the National Federation of Clubs, returned home yesterday morning and was kept busy the entire day receiving the congratulations of her many friends.

The Atlanta Woman's Club will tender Mrs. Lowe a reception next Monday afternoon from 6 till 8 o'clock, in the clubrooms. To this reception all Mrs. Lowe's friends are cordially invited. The western papers have written many complimentary articles concerning Mrs. Lowe, and the following pen picture by a western journalist may prove interesting to her friends:

"Mrs. W. B. Lowe, of Georgia, sat with her own delegation in a box on the left of the theater. Behind her, framing her head as if she sat for a portrait, was the blue sky and the fringe of trees. She was cool—she looked cool; she was calm—she looked calm; she was pretty sure of the election and looked secure.

"She had the general trained inexpressive stare of the woman who has spent her married life in society and has learned as a girl to bare her arms and shoulders to the gaze of the people who stare at her carriage. She could look without seeing. She could stare all over the crowded theater and examine the bonnet of every woman in it with as little self-consciousness as if she were looking at a collection of bonnets in show cases.

"The noble attitude was expressive of social training. One felt all the little scruples that she had choked, buried and forgotten in the times when she wanted to be kind to people and had to cut them. One felt all the tact she had developed in being pleasant to people she had never liked. One felt the control she had gained and the restraint of her impulses she had acquired in her social progress.

MRS. ALICE IVES BREED,
Who Was Defeated by Mrs. W. B. Lowe for the Presidency of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

"She sat upright. Her attitude was that of the ladies seen in the park at New York, in the Rotten Row at London, in the Bois at Paris, in the Corso at Rome, the rather stiff uprightness of one who has a fine gown on, a parasol to hold firmly but easily, and the preservation of that necessary freedom and sweep to bow to the people one must see and never slight.

"The sense of infinite tact, of ability to talk ten hours and say nothing, the habit of saying kind things that mean nothing, the custom of repressing everything unseemly, the suavity, the smoothness, the trimness of one worn with twenty years of dinners, dances, gowns, flowers, candy, theater parties and chaperoning was toned into the club woman who rushes with streaming face into the hottest lecture hall, by the spectacles straddled gingerly across her nose. They connected her with three-quarters of the women in the theater.

"The incongruous signs of the club woman stuck through the surface of the society dame. One wondered whether Mrs. Lowe had not led a long life of placid acceptance as a social leader before she put lines about her mouth with thought on the 'sisterhood of all women,' and talk about 'Madame Chairman,' and 'the delegate from Texas.'

"The contrast was a little saddening—like seeing a building for nobler purposes debased to usage—like seeing a woman who should be charming a table full of diners sitting amid the jealousies of less charming women—like seeing a church made into a tamale factory."

Of her election another writer says:

"No queen ever received more homage than did she who is to lead the destiny of nearly 750,000 club women during the next two years, Mrs. W. B. Lowe, of Georgia. At the reception which followed last evening's session, thousands of women went upon the stage where Mrs. Lowe and the women of her staff stood in line to receive the handshake and expression of loyalty from the 1,022 delegates and twice as many other club women.

"Mrs. Lowe, graciousness itself, was gowned in a superb costume of heavy black satin, the sweeping skirt having a beautiful appliqued floral design in black velvet studded with cut jet. The corsage was sleeveless and cut decollete, with a covering of cut steel and a touch of point lace. Her wonderfully expressive face was aglow with pride and animation. Mrs. Lowe wears her hair brushed back in a smooth pompadour, a style most becoming to her.

"She had something to say to every one of the 3,000 women who came forward. There were four men, too, J. A. Thatcher, I. N. Stevens, Judge Decker and W. S. Ward, to whom she also said something: 'I am so glad to see a stray man's face. I promise to take care of you orphans before the end of my regime.'

"It was strange, listening behind Mrs. Lowe's back, how many women presented came from the south, or had relatives there, or loved its women, or wanted the south to have the office. But it was all meant and received in the spirit given.

"'It was solid for you, Mrs. Lowe.'

"'I was against you, but now that you are to lead the federation I am first to pledge my allegiance to you.'

"'I am glad I voted for you.'

"'God bless the south. I'm proud of it tonight.'"

Application Papers of Daughters of Confederacy

All parties having application papers to Daughters of the Confederacy are requested at once to fill out such papers and mail, carefully using sufficient postage, to Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Washington street, chairman of the credential committee. While these papers are requisite for membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy, they are also of great historic value to the applicants. Each applicant is furnished with two blanks on which she records the confederate service of the relative through whom she claims admission to the confederate daughters. One of these papers is preserved by the Atlanta chapter's chairman of credential committee. The other paper is sent to the state registrar, and as a safeguard against the possible loss of either, in my judgment, both papers should be preserved.

They are among the most valuable possessions of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and further this strong organization's historical aims by recording individual history which would otherwise be lost or only kept among individual family records.

In the distant future these papers, if safely kept by a solid organization, would be of wonderful value to those who intrust the history we are trying to make.

ALICE BAXTER,
Registrar of Atlanta Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy.

Clyatt-Pendergrass.

Valdosta, Ga., July 1.—(Special.)—The society event of the summer was the marriage of Miss Harvey Clyatt, of Valdosta, to Mr. S. L. Pendergrass, of Monroe, which occurred in the First Methodist church at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The church was tastefully decorated in pot plants, palms and ferns, the effect being very beautiful. Just as the party arrived at the church, Miss Ettie Martin, of Cuthbert, sang, "O, Promise Me." Her voice is very sweet and her rendition of this beautiful song delighted the audience. Then to the strain of the wedding march, beautifully played by Mrs. Keller, the party marched slowly to the altar, where the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Minor, pastor of the Baptist church. The attendants were: Misses Irby Shelton, of Valdosta; Nita Fender, of Valdosta; Mary Quarterman, of Quitman; Essie Thigpen, of Valdosta, and Eddie McCall, of Quitman. Messrs. John T. Robertson, of Monroe; J. B. Willis, A. T. Smith and Rufus Braswell, of Valdosta, and B. D. Watkins, of Monroe. The ushers were: Messrs R. B. Myddleton, S. S. Myddleton, W. B. Fender and W. A. Pardee.

Miss Irby Shelton was maid of honor and Mr. B. D. Watkins best man.

The bride was dressed in olive green trimmed with cerise silk ribbons and carried in her hand a bouquet of white carnation pinks. The maid of honor wore a beautiful white organdie. Miss Quarterman wore white made over cerise. Misses Fender and McCall, white made over turquoise blue. The maid of honor and brdiesmaids carried beautiful bouquets of bride's roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party hurried to the depot of the Georgia Southern and Florida, where Mr. and Mrs. Prendergrass boarded the train for Atlanta. They will spend a few days there, after which, they go to Monroe, their future home. The present were numerous and costly.

NEW OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Virginia Society Held an Enthusiastic Meeting Yesterday.

MAJOR COURTNEY IS PRESIDENT

The Meeting Was Harmonious and Many Enthusiastic Speeches Were Delivered by the Virginians.

The Virginia Society met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 104, Kimball house, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. This programme, however, was slightly changed by consent, and officers were elected to serve until January 19, 1899, instead of for one year.

A ballot resulted unanimously in the election of the following officers: President, J. C. Courtney; vice president, W. T. Chandler; secretary and treasurer, H. N. Randolph; executive committee, Charles S. Arnall, Charles A. Read, P. H. Snook and W. N. Mitchell.

A number of enthusiastic speeches concerning the coming reunion of confederate veterans to be held in this city were made. The members of the society all pledged their support to the reunion and promised to do everything possible to make the gathering of veterans a success.

No action, however, was taken as the members of the society are all members of the reunion association and will participate in the reunion. The Virginia Society is in a flourishing condition and the members all take an active interest in it.

The action of the society in electing officers to serve until January 19, 1899, was because that date is the anniversary of Lee's birthday and it was the opinion that better results would be obtained should the annual meeting be held on that day. It is the intention of the society to give a banquet in honor of Lee next January and to this all Virginians in the city will be invited. No action in regard to the banquet will be taken for some time because the date is so far off, but it will be an elegant affair.

THE PASSING THRONG.

Rev. Henry Quigg, a prominent minister of Conyers, was registered at the Kimball yesterday.

CAUGHT BETWEEN TWO CARS

Held Up by Two Citizens While the Train Moved.

IN A MOST PERILOUS POSITION

Charles B. Quick's Narrow Escape from Death—Police Commissioner Johnson to the Rescue.

An old man hanging between two cars of a moving train and two other men holding him up and running along beside the cars to save his life was the unusual and exciting scene which was witnessed at the Pryor street crossing day before yeterday.

The man whose life was in such imminent danger was Charles B. Quick, the proprietor of the Exposition hotel, and one of his saviors was Mr. George E. Johnson, the candy manufacturer and police commissioner.

A long line of freight cars had stopped across Pryor street, reaching from Whitehall to Loyd street. A number of persons became impatient at the delay and climbed between the cars, and among those who took this risk was Mr. Quick.

It chanced that just as Mr. Quick was on the bumper the train started with a jerk. His foot was caught in the bumper and held fast. The jolting of the cars at the same time suddenly threw him backwards. In another moment he would have fallen headforemost between the cars and would have been crushed to death.

Police Commissioner Johnson was standing close by and he sprang forward and caught Mr. Quick and held him up so as to prevent him from falling. Another gentleman, whose name could not be learned, went to Mr. Johnson's assistance.

The two rescuers had to run along with the train, as Mr. Quick's foot was still securely caught in the bumper.

Mr. Johnson cried out to some one to run to the engine and tell the engineer to stop. This was done, and Mr. Quick was removed from his perilous position. He was, of course, a trifle upset, but he did not forget to profusely thank his rescuers.

OLMSTED BILL TO BE PAID TODAY

Board of Health Decides To Pay the Yellow Fever Debt.

IS NOW NEARLY ONE YEAR OLD

Was Held Up Because the Figure Was Thought Too Much.

QUARANTINE REGULATIONS ARE ADOPTED

Board Accepts Rules Laid Down by Recent Atlanta Convention—The Session Yesterday Afternoon.

THE famous Olmsted yellow fever bill, which the board of health has been trying to pay for many months, was at last passed up at a regular meeting of the board yesterday afternoon, and the chief inspector was instructed to give Dr. Olmsted his check today.

This case has been before the public since the yellow fever epidemic throughout the south nearly a year ago. One refugee from New Orleans here contracted a case of fever and Dr. Olmsted was called in. The patient recovered, and Dr. Olmsted presented a bill for $500, or about $8 a visit.

There was a great howl on the ground the bill was entirely too much, and the board of health refused once to pay it, referring it to council. Council sent it back to the board of health. This body then determined to pay the amount as soon as it could get the money.

Judge Dorsey moved yesterday afternoon that the amount be paid, and Dr. Jones seconded the motion. Dr. Olmsted has been notified from time to time the bill would be paid as soon as possible, and that is probably why the case has never gone to the courts.

On motion of Dr. Jones the board unanimously adopted the quarantine regulations laid down for the southern states by the recent quarantine convention in Atlanta. In case of another epidemic over the south this year the local authorities will conform to these rules, which have been published in full in these columns.

This means that in case fever exists, a detention camp will be established somewhere on the outskirts of the city by the United States marine hospital authorities.

The board decided to have 500 copies of the new quarantine regulations printed for distribution at proper places. No provision was made for health certificates. If the regulations are strictly observed throughout the south it is probable no certificates will be needed.

Mayor Collier was requested to notify health authorities of other southern cities that the local board of health had adopted the regulations and will observe them. The board considered several minor petitions, but no other business of any importance was transacted. Owing to an inability to secure a quorum, this was the first session held in about three months.

THE STATE GETS $15,000 TAXES.

Insurance Companies Make Payments on Their Annual Business.

The state got $15,000 tax money from the insurance companies yesterday. All the insurance companies in the state except the fraternal and benevolent orders have to pay an annual tax by July 1st of 1 per cent on their premiums for the preceding year. The twelve months are from May 1st to April 30th.

The tax is on the gross premiums received in the state for one year. Failure to pay the tax by July 1st is punishable by a fine of $500.

Three of the life companies sent in handsome checks. The Mutual Life of New York, R. F. Shedden, southern manager, led the list with a check for $5,110. This represented premium receipts of $511,000 for the year.

The New York Life, Major Mims, manager, sent in a check for $5,049. The Equitable Life, Perdue & Egleston, managers, sent a check for $3,290.

Subscriptions to the Y. M. C. A. Army Work Coming in Fast—State Committee Meets This Morning.

STATE Y. M. C. A. Secretary McGill arrived in the city yesterday from Chickamauga, where he has been busily engaged in aiding in the work of the association being carried on among the troops stationed there.

He reports the greatest success for the work, and states that every one in Camp Thomas, from the officers in charge to the privates in the rear ranks, are in thorough sympathy with the Christian movement, and are giving their aid whenever it is necessary.

Fifty-five Young Men's Christian Association secretaries and their assistants are stationed at Chickamauga among the various regiments and brigades of General Brooke's army, and not a day passes but that religious exercises of some kind are held in the camp.

Forty-five regiments in all have arrived at the park, and of that number thirty-two are being cared for by the agents of the association, all of them being provided with tents by the state they come from, or else are under the wing of the international committee.

To carry on this vast undertaking, which looks both to the spiritual and physical welfare of the men, money is required, and a great deal of it, to be judiciously spent by those in charge. So far the public, both in this state and all of those from which the various regiments hail, have contributed liberally to its maintenance, but subscriptions of all kinds are solicited and will be gladly accepted by the state committee.

Last Wednesday, at the camp, a grand concert was given by the talent of the First army corps for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. work, at which hundreds of the soldiers were present. The First Georgia regimental band took a prominent part in the entertainment, and it was declared to be one of the most enjoyable ever given anywhere. A large amount was realized for the cause, and it is probable that more benefits of the kind will be arranged in the near future.

Writing Material Furnished Free.

One of the most useful advantages offered to the men by the Y. M. C. A. tent is the free use of the tables and writing materials, which is hard to find in an ordinary army outside the tents of the commanding officers. Fifty-five thousand sheets of paper have been used by the soldiers in the various tents up to date, and the headquarters are usually crowded with men during the afternoon and evening, waiting for an opportunity to write to their people at home. In this way probably more than any other the usefulness of the tent in camp has been impressed upon the men, and everywhere nothing but kind words are spoken for the secretaries and the work they are undertaking.

Religious song books and papers, testaments, tracts and other reading material are furnished in every tent, and the men are glad of the opportunity when off duty to keep up with the times by looking over the papers kept for their use.

The system of free ice water has been partly introduced in the camp, and this undertaking has been greatly appreciated by all the soldiers.

In speaking of the religious meeting being held at Chickamauga by the association, State Secretary McGill said yesterday:

"In that respect we have accomplished a great deal, and when the men in charge become better acquainted with the soldiers and officers, as they are doing daily, the scope of our work will be widely increased. Last week, Sunday, for instance, sixteen meetings, at which talks were made and sermons preached, were held at the camp, and I am convinced that on that day alone a great work was done for the cause in which we are fighting. The audiences were composed, of course, almost entirely of soldiers, who paid the closest attention throughout."

A meeting of the state Y. M. C. A. committee will be held in the office of State Secretary McGill this morning at 10 o'clock, at which steps will be taken to carry on the work in the field among the two Georgia regiments.

MANY CITY STREETS HAVE SAME NAME

Street Committee of Council Has a Hard Problem To Solve.

WILL HAVE TO BE RENAMED

Twenty-six Streets in the City Have Duplicate Names.

MATTER MAY COME BEFORE THE COUNCIL

A Surprising Negligence Shown in Naming Some of the Thoroughfares—List of the Streets.

THE street committee will have a hard problem to solve at its next meeting. It has been discovered that no less than twenty-six streets in the city have duplicate names, and as many as three thoroughfares bear the same name. Councilman Burns will call the attention of the committee to this fact, and it is probable some steps will be at once taken to correct the mistakes. These names have been in force for years.

Following is a list of duplicated streets that will have to be changed:

Poplar streets, from Spring to Peachtree; also near the end of Peachtree street; and in Bellwood.

Powell streets, Fair to Decatur; in Bellwood.

South streets, near Ormond; right of Marietta.

Jones avenues, crosses Marietta; near Elliott.

Madison avenues, near Grant park.

Pearl streets, near Pine and Angier; rear Elsas, May & Co.'s mills; West End.

Pine streets, Marietta to Jackson; near Hemphill avenue; rear Elsas, May Company.

Elizabeth streets, near Inman Park; near Clarke university.

Ella streets, near Elsas, May Company's mills; near old United States barracks, West End.

Hampton streets, near Grant park; near Exposition mills.

Henry streets, near West End; near Simpson street.

Jackson streets, crosses Edgewood avenue; near Bellwood.

James streets, near Forsyth; near West End.

Davis streets, West Atlanta; East Atlanta.

It is probable the matter will be brought before council at the next regular session Monday afternoon. In this case it will be referred to the street committee for a full investigation and report. The city officials were surprised when they learned there were so many repetitions, and state the names of streets should be changed as quickly as possible. Some of the above duplications are not in the city limits, but it is thought no two streets within a radius of ten miles of the center of the city should bear the same name.

A LULL IN STATE POLITICS.

Colonel Candler and Messrs. duBignon and Brown Leave for Home.

Colonel Allen D. Candler has gone to his home at Gainesville, where he will take a good long rest. He had hardly caught up when the convention came on.

Mr. duBignon left last night for Savannah. He has some important cases to try in the next week or two. When they are over he expects to take a week off, and then he will come back and take hold of the state campaign about August 1st.

Chairman E. T. Brown, of the Candler Central Campaign Club, left yesterday afternoon for Norwalk, O., to join his family. He will be away three weeks.

Mr. George Napier, who was secretary of the Candler central club, went home yesterday.

Speaking of the platform, Governor Atkinson said yesterday that he thought it was excellent. The governor will go on the stump when the campaign opens and will speak for Colonel Candler and the rest of the statehouse ticket. He expects to make a number of speeches in the campaign.
